WILL FIGHT LONG LIGHT CONTRACT

Mayor-Elect Guthrie Is Ready to Go Into the Courts.

HITS POLITICIANS

Says Outsiders Must Not Interfere in the Organization of Pittsburgh Councils.

GREATER CITY HEARING TODAY

"The light contract has been delayed so long, it should not be forced through now in any shape. New councils should be allowed to deal with the proposition. While the people might be powerless to prevent a one-year contract, any attempt to saddle a four-year contract on the city would be an admission of graft on its face. Such action would cause me to speak plainly, and an appeal would be made to the people. They would be asked to interfere, and if no other citizen would volunteer to interpose with a bill of equity, I would institute the proceedings."

The above statement was made yesterday by Mayor-Elect Guthrie when told the present administration is credited with the intention of endeavoring to make a four-year contract before it passes out of existence.

The new mayor will not announce his cabinet at once so that scheming politicians can make deals to secure the control of councils. The heads of departments will not be known until on or about April 2, the day on which the executive is inducted into office. He strikes this blow at the Democratic and Citizens leaders, who have been endeavoring to organize councils by giving the impression they are the representatives of the mayor-elect:

"Any effort of individuals or organizations outside of councils to control them will be considered a flagrant violation of the express wish of the people, who at the election spoke in unmistakable terms that they do not want outside interference. They then demonstrated a disposition and ability to punish such offenders. I have nothing to ask from councils and I will certainly not request them to do anything wrong. I am also confident they will make no improper request of me."

Mr. Guthrie returned to Pittsburgh yesterday morning from Atlantic City, where he has been resting for two weeks. He reached the city a day in advance of scheduled time because his presence was desired by D. T. Watson and City Solicitor Rodgers. The hearing on the exceptions to the Greater Pittsburgh proceedings is arranged for this morning, and a consultation with Mr. Guthrie was necessary. The three lawyers met with W. H. Stevenson, W. L. Jones, Oliver McClintock and Col. A. J. Logan, representing the municipal affairs committee of the chamber of commerce. What occurred at the conference was not made public.

Messrs. Guthrie, Watson and Rodgers are prepared to argue the case today. Mr. Rodgers says Judge McClung, who is sitting in the quarter sessions court, may pass on the constitutionality of the act or tell the attorneys representing the opposition to file a bill in the common pleas court. If this latter plan is followed there will be delay. The opposition declines to discuss its plans.

ALTHOUGH SUFFERING, SHE KEEPS ENGAGEMENT

Mrs. John A. Logan Lectures at Normal School With Broken Arm in a Sling.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

WEST CHESTER, PA., March 9.—(Special.)—With as much braveness as characterized the battle exploits of her famous husband, the general, Mrs. John A. Logan, tonight lectured before a large audience at the State Normal school despite the fact that she was suffering excruciating pain from a broken arm, which reposed helplessly by her side in a sling.

Late last night Mrs. Logan was descending a stairway at the residence of George M. Phillips, whose guest she has been in this town, when she slipped and fell. When picked up it was found that her left arm was broken above the elbow.

The fracture was reduced and Mrs. Logan was put to bed. No one expected that, under the circumstance, she would think about appearing in public and delivering quite a lengthy address. But he would not hear of a postponement.

KILLED BY SNOWSTORM.

Falling Wires in Massachusetts Blizzard Fatal to Three—All Traffic Is Tied Up.

BOSTON, March 9.—(Special.)—In the most destructive New England snowstorm in many years this afternoon and evening three men were killed in Chelsea and Salem and two seriously injured by falling wires. Miles of telegraph and telephone wires were put out of commission and many towns throughout New England were darkened tonight because of disabled electric light wires.

Street car service in many places was suspended, trains to Boston were delayed from two to seven hours and shipping is cooped up in the harbors. The northeast gale reached a velocity of 60 miles an hour. No serious marine disaster has been reported. About three inches of snow fell in Boston.

Bandit Raisuli Attacks Tribe.

PARIS, March 10.—The Petit Journal's correspondent at Tangier reports the bandit, Raisuli, fought the Anjera tribe outside the town Friday morning, and that 10 were killed and 40 wounded.

BANQUET IS OF RED HOT TOBASCO SORT

Graduates of W. and J. Have a Night of Frolic—Satires on Notable Brethern.

Members of the alumni association of Washington and Jefferson college to the number of 150 gathered last night at the Union club, Frick building, to observe the thirty-third annual banquet. The affair was full of fun and novelty. Wit and comedy prevailed and formality was prohibited. There were present representatives of classes whose dates of graduation ranged from 1905 back to 1841. Only one of the latter was there. Dr. J. S. Van Voorhis of Belle Vernon, was the lone member of the class, and is one of the four surviving members of 25 of that class. Dr. Van Voorhis is 83 years of age, is still active and is practicing medicine.

The Rev. Dr. C. W. Chalfant of the class of '56, and Marcus A. Acheson of '65, sat close together and rallied loyally when the class yells were going around.

The room was decorated with red and black, the college colors. All present wore red carnations against their black coats.

One of the startling events of the evening was the catapult entrance of five newsboys, very grimy and disheveled, crying, "Paper extra, all about the horrible murder." Everyone sat rigid, wondering at the meaning of it. The papers were the product of those who had charge of the arrangements for the banquet, and took the place of programs. The extra was called the "Washington-Jeffersonian." Under a cut of Dr. James D. Moffat, president of the college, is a head reading:

Fun With Dr. Moffat.

"Dr. Moffat's Speech on Athletics—Giving Facts and Figures." The remainder of the column is blank except for a small black-bordered notice reading:

"The printers refused to set up Dr. Moffat's speech, except the last paragraph."

This paragraph follows:

"There are many spots about the college campus where we can spend $5,000 or more."

In another column it is told that Dr. Moffat has made application for a liquor license for the "College Inn," to be opened and conducted on the campus. A number of members of the clergy are named as testifying to Dr. Moffat's ability to conduct such an establishment.

A fake cablegram from John Inglis, one of the alumnae now at Nantung, China, conveys the following information:

"Must have aid at once. Now chained up in a village fattening for a new dish

CHASE NEGRO BANDIT WITH GUNS AND DOGS

Hot Exchange of Bullets Gives Maryland Bad Man a Chance and Dogs Pull Up at River.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

BALTIMORE, MD., March 9.—Isaac Winder, a negro murderer, who escaped from the Towson jail, has been run into the Gunpowder river, on the banks of which a mob and a sheriff's posse, with bloodhounds, are halted by the uncertainty whether Winder has been drowned or has escaped.

This afternoon Deputy Sheriff Shanklin saw Winder near Cockeysville, when he fled into an abandoned mill. Shanklin telephoned to Baltimore and 50 policemen were sent out on a special train. Winder ran at top speed out of a back door of the mill, and as the posse raced after him turned and poured into them a volley that made them take to cover. Winder took to his heels and was soon hidden in the dense woods.

Hurricane Branch, a man-hunter from Suffolk with two bloodhounds, was put to work.

BOY GETS VERDICT AGAINST WESTERN UNION FOR $1.55

WORCESTER, MASS., March 9.—(Special.)—Hyman Sandman, a 13-year-old messenger boy, who sued the Western Union Telegraph company for lunches and overtime amounting to $1.25, was awarded judgment in the sum of $1.55 in a decision handed down by Judge Utley today. The costs, which amount to a larger sum, will have to be borne by the Western Union.

BROKE FURNITURE WHILE PUMMELING A HUSBAND

MARION, O., March 9.—(Special.)—Mrs. Philipina Fatzler, aged 65, and her daughter, Mrs. Christian Benzler, aged 40, the latter recently granted alimony from her husband, one of the wealthiest men in the county, were arrested today on complaint of Mrs. Lena Gorenflo, who charged them with destroying a part of her household furniture while they were pummeling Mrs. Benzler's husband.

TWO-CENT-A-MILE TICKETS BOUGHT AFTER MIDNIGHT

Pittsburghers Promptly Take Advantage of the New Rate Fixed by Legislature.

Exactly at last midnight the two-cent mileage law of Ohio went into operation and many Pittsburghers and other travelers took advantage of its provisions, although it proved slightly awkward to them at first. While a large percentage of transients went according to the old-fashioned but slightly more expensive method of a straight ticket through the Buckeye state, no inconsiderable number were able to profit by the Ohio law.

At Union station they purchased their tickets at regular rates to Steubenville, O., which is the nearest important point to the Pennsylvania line. Reaching there, they paid the conductor the new rate of two cents a mile until the train touched the other boundary of Ohio. Whereupon they purchased transportation at the regular price to their destinations.

COLD RAISES THE "DEAD."

Woman Laid Out for Burial Rises and Scatters Mourners With Very Earthly Shriek.

LA CROSSE, WIS., March 9.—(Special.)—Mrs. W. R. Sherwood, aged 25, of Mabel, Minn., had pneumonia and early in the day doctors pronounced her dead. The undertaker was away and friends laid her out in a front room, leaving the windows open so the cold would keep off decomposition. At 3 a. m. the watchers heard sounds in the dead room and ran in just in time to see the woman arise with a shriek.

The watchers fled in terror.

Mrs. Sherwood may recover. She says she was conscious of all that was going on around her, but did not seem to care or realize the danger of being killed by embalming fluid or buried alive until she regained her senses in the early morning.

GIRL'S THRILLING RIDE.

Crawls Into Wood Chute and Is Whirled 500 Feet Down Mountain Side, Feet First.

WINSTED, CONN., March 9.—(Special.)—Marie Rosier, six-year-old Italian girl, whose father is employed as woodchopper on Canaan mountain, West Norfolk, yesterday had a thrilling ride down the mountain side in a 500 foot trough used by the Garfield Lime company for sliding wood.

The girl crawled into the trough and was soon shooting down the narrow pathway, feet first. Men at work on the big wood pile at the base of the mountain heard her screams and looking saw a human rush down the mountain. Like a shot out of a cannon the girl left the trough and dropped 20 feet into the arms of Foreman Michael Tierney, badly frightened, but uninjured.

AGED MAN IS PLACED ON TRIAL FOR MURDER

HAGERSTOWN, MD., March 9.—John Slifer, who is now in his 71st year, was put on trial in the circuit court here for the murder of his neighbor, Jacob B. Poffenberger, last June. A dispute arose over the ownership of a small strip of land, less than an eighth of an acre. Poffenberger ordered Slifer not to cross the land and when Mrs. Slifer walked over the land Poffenberger attempted to put her off. Slifer shot Poffenberger with an old musket.

The Message Came Too Late.

BELLEFONTAINE, O., March 9.—(Special.)—"You are five minutes too late; your daughter has just been married," was the message that came back over the telephone to Henry Smith of Palestine from Justice Burkhold of Rosewood, who performed the ceremony joining Florence Smith, aged 16, and Edward Speece, a widower. The father called up the justice to have his daughter arrested.

Americanizing Panama Hospital.

PHILADELPHIA, March 9.—(Special.)—In order to Americanize the Roman Catholic hospital of St. Thomas at Panama City, Sisters of Charity are being sent to the isthmus from the St. Joseph hospital, this city. The hospital at Panama has been in charge of French siste.

FIRE IS CAUSE OF PANIC AMONG MANY PATIENTS

Flames Leap Out of Hoemopathic Medical College Building.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

CLEVELAND, O., March 9.—Several hundred patients in the Cleveland Homeopathic Hospital Medical college were given a severe fright tonight when fire broke out in the college building. When the flames leaped out of the building a semi-panic reigned in the hospital wards for a time and the physicians and nurses had considerable trouble in restraining patients from leaving their beds.

While firemen fought the flames, the hospital attendants made preparations to remove the patients to places of safety if necessary. The firemen soon had the fire under control.

The college is a four-story brick building. The damage was not severe.

SPECTRAL FIGURE ASKS FOR SHAVE

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

LOGANSPORT, IND., March 9.—Condi-

The affair was being discussed by vicinity where Frank Pottmeyer, a saloonkeeper, was murdered 10 years ago. Hermann Hurdman, who occupied rooms over the saloon where the murder was committed, makes affidavit that while he slumbered a ghostly hand was passed over his face, awakening him.

"Get up and I'll shake you a game of dice," said a sepulchral voice. Hermann arose but fled to the home of James Moody, a drayman, begging the latter to remove Hurdmann's effects from the Pottmeyer premises. Moody refused to act until daylight. , tions verging on panic prevail in the Plummer Brooks, a barber, in his shop across the street. Brooks was shaving a customer. Suddenly Brooks dropped his razor and rushed from the shop. Brooks makes affidavit that when he looked up Pottmeyer's ghost was looking in the window. The apparition was solemnly stroking a spectral beard and motioning Brooks to come and remove it.

DESTROY FOUR HOUSES.

Saloon Faction Alleged to Have Revenge on Member of Opponent Forces.

BRIDGEPORT, O., March 9.—(Special).—Fire tonight destroyed the residences of Washington Lisle, Thomas Hill, John Robinson and Mrs. Williams, on the road between Brookside and Wheeling Creek. It originated in the Lisle home, and the occupants lost all their household goods. Williams' house was partly destroyed to check the spread of the flames.

It is rumored the fire was of incendiary origin and the outgrowth of the recent anti-saloon agitation at Wheeling Creek. Lisle circulated the petition of the anti-license forces. The loss is about $10,000 with light insurance.

MUCH ADO ABOUT A DOG.

All the Honors of Mortals Paid to Deceased Pet of New Hampshire Woman.

NASHUA, N. H., March 9.—(Special.)—A pet dog owned by Mrs. Walter A. Abare was buried with much splendor following his death after an illness during which he was attended by noted surgeons. An undertaker embalmed the corpse. There was a costly casket trimmed with white satin and a robe of white wool and silk.

Numerous bouquets of cut flowers adorned the casket. The tax and license, due had the dog lived another month, was presented to the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.

Y. M. C. A. Interstate Convention.

PARKERSBURG, W. VA., March 9.—(Special.)—The second biennial interstate convention of the Y. M. C. A. of Virginia, West Virginia, Maryland and the District of Columbia, organized by selecting President D. B. Purinton of the West Virginia university as president.

FIRST DEGREE VERDICT FOR DR. O. C. HAUGH

Jury Declares Dayton Physician Guilty of Murder of His Father, Mother and Brother.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

DAYTON, O., March 9.—The jury in the case of Dr. Oliver C. Haugh, accused of the murder of his father, mother and brother and the destruction of their home by fire to conceal the crime, this evening found him guilty of murder in the first degree. The case was given to the jury in the afternoon after a day given to argument by the attorneys.

Counsel for the defense simply held for acquittal on the ground of insufficiency of the evidence, ignoring the plea of insanity which it was thought would be made. In fact, Judge Brown made an especial point of this remiseness of counsel in his charge, telling the jury that they were not to permit the question of the mental competency of the defendant to enter into their deliberations.

Counsel for Haugh announced tonight that they will move for an appeal. The case has been in progress 10 days.

LAWS OF STATE PREVAIL.

Are Stronger Than Laws of Cupid With the Aid of Father Brown, Who Wins.

PHILADELPHIA, March 9.—(Special.)—For the second time today pretty Edna Brown of West Philadelphia was parted from her sweetheart, Roland Redding, and their marriage again prevented. Roland is nearly 30 years of age and Edna is sweet 16. Several months ago they tried to elope. Father Brown went after them with a club and took Edna home.

Tonight Roland, his mother and a friend went to the Brown home and took Edna away by main force. Father Brown again turned up on top. He haled them before a magistrate, who held the lover under bail and sent the girl home after the pair made a vain effort to prove that the laws of Cupid made thelaws of the state null and void.

WRAPS BODY IN LACE.

Woman Charged With Smuggling Employs Unique Method to Evade Custom Duty.

NEW YORK, March 9.—(Special.)—Mrs. Marjorie Mulhall, a dressmaker, was arrested on the White Star line pier, today, upon the arrival of the steamship Baltic, on which she was a passenger. She was charged by custom officials with smuggling.

Laces to the value of $1,800, which were not declared, were said to have been found concealed on the person of Mrs. Mulhall. The laces were wound neatly around her limbs under her stockings and around her waist, sewed in her petticoat, and even in her hat.

MAKES AUSPICIOUS START.

Stuyvesant Fish, Jr., Who Will Take $2 a Day Job in Chicago, Arrives in Private Car.

CHICAGO, March 9.—(Special.)—President Stuyvesant Fish of the Illinois Central railroad, and Stuyvesant Fish, Jr., who is expected soon to start earning his own living in Chicago on a $2 a day job, arrived in Chicago in a private car over the Michigan Central early today and are stopping at the Auditorium Annex.

President Fish refused to discuss his resignation from the Mutual Life Insurance Company, or his rumored approaching retirement from the New York Central. "I am in the west purely on Illinois Central business," said Mr. Fish, Sr.

TO INSTALL GREAT SYSTEM.

Harriman Roads Will Equip 2,342 Miles With Automatic Signals at a Cost of $3,000,000.

OMAHA, NEB., March 9.—E. H. Harriman has authorized J. Kruttschnitt, director of maintenance and operation of the Union Pacific and the Southern Pacific railroads to install immediately automatic electric block signals of the most advanced type from Omaha to San Francisco, 1,800 miles, and from San Francisco to Colton, through Los Angeles, 542 miles, the route of the Overland limited.

These 2,342 miles will be the longest piece of continuous automatic electric block signals in the world. The cost will aggregate $3,000,000.

LATEST AIRSHIP SCHEME.

New Yorker Says He Will Propel His Ship to Washington by Dynamite Explosions.

NEW YORK, March 9.—(Special.)—Dillon Hoffman, an airship builder, today, announced that he will build an airship to be operated with dynamite. He said his craft would be equipped with belts filled with cartridges of seven grains each, and that the explosions which would occur every second would furnish the driving power.

He says he will be able to reverse and stop his machine at will. His first trip, he asserts, will be to Washington, D. C.

COUNTY IS WILLING TO MAKE DEAL

Pittsburgh Can Buy the Court House for a New City Hall.

COST IS $6,000,000

With This Money a Site Can Be Purchased and a $4,000,000 Temple Erected.

SOLDIERS' MEMORIAL PLANS

Pittsburgh can secure an ideal City hall by the purchase of the court house. The county commissioners are willing to sell and with the proceeds the block bounded by Grant, Diamond and Ross streets and Fourth avenue will be bought and a $4,000,000 temple of justice erected. This can all be done without increasing the tax burden.

Commissioners Price and Campbell approve of the plan and have the support of many of the large business interests. Conferences between the commissioners and others interested in this great public improvement have been held on several occasions during the last 10 days. It is now up to the city to make a move.

"The proposition concerns Allegheny county less than it does Pittsburgh," said Mr. Price last night. "While the county has outgrown the court house, it has provided a means for remedying the crowded condition of the court house. We now own a plot of ground 200x115 feet at Ross and Diamond streets. On this we can erect an eight or 10-story building which will accommodate all of the officials who do not have direct business with the courts. In this way the needed space in the court house would be secured.

Pittsburgh Needs a Home.

"Pittsburgh has outgrown her municipal home and has to house two important departments outside of City hall. There is no room to grow on the Smithfield street site. With the coming of a greater city, the old place will have to be abandoned. By purchasing the court house, the needs of Pittsburgh would be supplied for all time. The sale would also make certain the preservation of Richardson's masterpiece. In no other way could possible acts of vandalism be certainly prevented.

"It would be easy to alter the court house to meet the requirements of a city hall. A couple of the court rooms could be used for council chambers and others might be converted into appartments for the departments. The law library would make an excellent reception room for the mayor. The treasury and other offices could be accommodated on the first floor. The grouping of city hall, court house, jail and morgue would also be a great convenience.

"While I would not want to fix a price on the court house, I believe it and the ground should bring at least $6,000,000. This would be sufficient to care for the new court house. The balance of the block south of the court house can be purchased for about $2,000,000. This would leave $4,000,000 for the erection of a new temple of justice and the sum should be sufficient to build an imposing structure.

Financing the Scheme.

"An arrangement could probably be made for the city to pay the county in annual installments. In order to accommodate it the county could issue five to 10-year bonds to cover the cost of the court house. By this plan the financial end of the proposition could be handled with practically no increase in the rate of taxation. I would suppose the price of the property would be decided by a board of viewers appointed by the courts. In the purchase of the ground for the new court house, the county could exercise its right of condemnation."

Mr. Price was asked about a downtown site for the Soldiers' memorial and he said:

"If Pittsburgh would agree to sell the Old City hall site for a nominal sum, the commissioners will erect the memorial there. We would build an auditorium large enough to house a national convention. Pittsburgh is badly in need of such a structure. We are limited in the amount of money to be expended, and if a big price has to be paid for a site, there will not be much money left for the memorial. Even if we go to the East End, property will be expensive and if we are to have a national convention hall, it should be down town."

THROUGH A BRICK WALL

Lad Opens Wide Throttle of Locomotive and Crashes Through 14-inch Obstruction.

ST. LOUIS, March 9.—(Special.)—Charles Guenther, 17 years old, until Tuesday morning employed as a fireman at the American Steel Foundry plant in East St. Louis, entered a locomotive belonging to the company which was standing unoccupied today, and, opening the throttle wide, ran the engine down the siding and through a 14-inch brick wall.

Guenther then drew a large revolver and defied the workmen to touch him. A riot call was turned in for the police. While awaiting their arrival the crowd attracted his attention; a workman slipped up behind the boy and knocked the revolver from his hand. There was a momentary struggle and the lad was bound.

POLICEMAN PUTS WIFE IN CELL AFTER QUARREL

WHEELING, W. VA., March 9.—(Special.)—After a quarrel with his wife, Presley Matthews, a Benwood policeman, placed her under arrest and locked her up in a cell in the town jail, where she will remain until morning. She fought desperately with her husband, and a large crowd gathered while the woman was being escorted to the lockup.

SIX HUNDRED DIE IN FIERCE FIGHT WITH THE MOROS

Americans Lose 15 Killed and About 50 Are Wounded.

BATTLE IN CRATER

Naval Forces Assist by Raising Guns Up Mountain Side With Ropes.

ISLAND IS NOW PACIFIED

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

MANILA, March 9.—An important action between American forces and hostile Moros has taken place near Jolo.

Fifteen enlisted men were killed, four commissioned officers wounded and 32 enlisted men wounded.

The Moros lost 600 men killed.

Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood, commander of the division of the Philippines, reports from Jolo, the capital of the Sulu islands:

"A severe action between troops, naval detachment, constabulary and hostile Moros has taken place at Mount Dajo, near Jolo. The engagement opened during the afternoon of March 6 and ended in the morning of March 8. The action involved the capture of Mount Dajo, a lava cone 2,100 feet high, with a crater at its summit and extremely steep.

"The last 400 feet were at an angle of 60 degrees and there were fifty perpendicular ridges covered with a growth of timber and strongly fortified and defended by an invisible force of Moros.

"Ensign H. D. Cooke, Jr., commanding the Pampanga fort, was severely wounded and Coxswain Gilmore was severely wounded in the elbow. The constabulary casualties were: Capt. John R. White, wounded in the thigh, severely; three enlisted men killed and 13 wounded. Capt. Tyree Rivers sustained a slight flesh wound in the thigh. Lieut. Gordon was slightly wounded in the right hand; Lieut. Wylie T. Conway of the Sixth infantry was slightly wounded in the left eye. All of the wounded are doing well.

Was Outlaw Band.

"Col. Joseph W. Duncan of the Sixth infantry directed the operations. All the defenders of the Moro stronghold were killed. Six hundred bodies were found on the field.

"The action resulted in the extinction of a band of outlaws who, recognizing no chief, had been raiding friendly Moros and, owing to their defiance of the American authorities, had stirred up a dangerous condition of affairs."

The artillery was lifted by block and tackle, a distance of 300 feet, into a position on the lip of the crater.

Brigadier-General Bliss and myself were present throughout the action.

The attacking columns were commanded by Maj. Omar Bundy, Capt. K. P. Lawton, Capt. Rivers, Capt. L. M. Koehler, Capt. McGlachlin and Lieut. Johnson.

The officers and men engaged highly commend the Moro constabulary who did excellent work, their casualties numbering 17 out of a force of 44 engaged.

It is impossible to conceive a stronger natural position than that attacked.

Another account of the fight near Jolo states that 600 outlaw Moros were killed in the crater of the precipitous volcano, five miles from Jolo. The Americans lost 18 killed and 52 men wounded, including Capt. Rivers of the Fourteenth calvary, Lieut. Agnews of the Sixth infantry, Lieut. Gordon Johnson of the signal corps, Ensign Cooke, commanding the Pampanga, and Capt. White of the constabulary.

Hand-to-Hand Battle.

The cable between Jolo and Mindanao is broken. Further details are not available. Apparently there will be no more fighting on the island of Jolo. On Mindanao, federal troops and constabulary are pursuing hostile Moros, and probably some unimportant engagements will follow.

Maj.-Gen. Wood directed Col. James W. Duncan to attack the Moros in the crater and capture or kill them. This was accomplished after repeated demands to surrender. Six hundred Moros were killed. It is believed that no prisoners were taken. The attack was made under the most hazardous circumstances. Starting early in the afternoon of March 6, the assailants climbed for a distance of 2,100 feet up a lava cone, the thickly wooded ridges of which furnished the only foothold. The last 500 feet of the ascent was at an average angle of 60 degrees, and the last 50 feet almost perpendicular.

At the top were 600 fanatical Moros, armed with rifles and knives and supported by native artillery. The fortified crater was almost invisible and seemingly inaccessible.

At the word of command, the troops rushed into the crater and a hand-to-hand encounter followed.

GEN. LEONARD A. WOOD.
Military governor of the Philippines.

Taft Gives Pointers.

WASHINGTON, March 9.—Not because of the casualities among the American forces engaged, though they were more numerous than in any battle in the Philippines for several years, but rather because of the extraordinary large number of the natives killed, the news of the battle of Mount Dajo was received with intense interest.

Secretary Taft was at the cabinet meeting when the official cablegram was deciphered, and a copy was sent to the executive offices and the President and members of the cabinet listened with keenest interest. Secretary Taft, commenting upon the engagement, said:

> Gen. Wood appears to have been there by accident, or rather without any idea of what was going to happen. I had a cablegram from him, saying there were some matters calling him into the southern islands. I suppose when he got there he found the trouble on.

Refreshing his recollection by some of the official figures at hand, he said:

> The island of Jolo is 336 miles in area, with a population of 44,718, and a density of 187 per square mile. In the whole commandancia of Jolo there were only 1,270 civilized, as compared with 50,118 wild inhabitants. Jolo is the most important island of the archipelago of that name. The surface is covered with hills, which, in a few cases, rise to the dignity of mountains. Mount Dajo, referred to in the dispatch, was probably not mentioned in the same connection with these mountains because it was only 2,000 feet high.

Plenty of Trouble.

> Two or three dattos have always resisted the sultan's claims, and there has always been a state of war between them. I suppose one of the factions thought it had gotten together men enough and that they were absolutely immune, so they were just cleaned out. By the way, it is worth noting that the constabulary, which is highly praised in Gen. Wood's dispatch for its work, was in that section made up of Moros themselves.
>
> Probably the loss in this case was caused by the fire of the soldiers' artillery. The bluejackets were probably called upon to assist in getting this artillery up the steep heights of the mountain, because of their knowledge of blocks and tackle.

The Sixth infantry, which seems to have borne the brunt of the fighting, was from Fort Leavenworth and has been in the Philippines about a year.

The officers of the general staff say they have not the slightest fear that the Moros will try to retaliate. These officers judge from the dispatch from Manila that there were really two actions, the first probably a surprise and serving to locate the position of the Moro defenders. This having been done, the second day seems to have been occupied in hoisting the artillery and ammunition to positions from which to operate upon the Moro fortress in the crater, and the second action, fought on the slope of the mountain at an angle of 60 degrees, undoubtedly broke the Moro strength.

CORPORATION TO CONTROL.

New York Expert Says Competitors in Steel Business Will Be Frozen Out on Ore.

NEW YORK, March 9.—(Special.)—Dr. Henry Raymond Mussey, in an address before the New York University school of commerce on the steel corporation, predicted that the United States Steel Corporation will, within a few years, absolutely control the steel and pig iron output of the country. This result is to be achieved, according to Dr. Mussey, not through buying up competitive plants, but by utilizing its grasp on all the known sources of ore supply.

"The Steel Corporation at the present time," said the speaker, "lays down its old range iron ore in Pittsburgh at a cost of about $2 66 per ton, and its Mesaba iron ore at about $2 30, as against a cost of probably $3 70 and $3 30 respectively to its ablest competitors, the Jones & Laughlin Company. With such an advantage the Steel Corporation could make prices, if it chose, that would wipe out most of its rivals. The only thing that saves the smaller companies now is the necessity resting on the corporation to maintain dividend rates."

Springfield Rioters Found Guilty.

SPRINGFIELD, O., March 9.—(Special.)—The jury in the riot cases found eight young men guilty of rioting this afternoon as follows: Harry Garber, John Piepont, George Epprecht, Carl Kloefer, Glen Johnson, Frank Young, Carl Wise and Kemp Reeder. Leniency was recommended and the court was asked not to impose a workhouse sentence. None of these found guilty is over 25 years old.

PLANNING TO KILL JEWS AT EASTER

Officials Winking at Horrible Campaign and Premier Witte Is Called Upon.

FOUR HUNDRED EXECUTIONS

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

ST. PETERSBURG, March 9.—The fears of a renewal of Jewish massacres at Easter, to which a deputation recently called Premier Witte's attention, appear upon investigation to have real foundation. The "Black Hundred" organizations in the "Pale" and elsewhere in European Russia, are conducting an agitation to slaughter the "enemies of Russia." Circulars have been prepared in St. Petersburg, calling for the extermination of the Jews.

At Minsk the Society of Old Believers has addressed a request to the premier for permission to crush the "nation's foes." The premier immediately notified the governor general to take measures to prevent any outbreak. In many places reactionary officials and police who regard the Jews as the inciters of the late revolution are doing nothing. Hundreds of thousands of pamphlets are being circulated among the ignorant classes who are accustomed to regard printed words as gospel.

The Jewish population is threatened with more dreadful outrages than those of last fall.

The Gapon labor organization has expelled Father Gregori Petroff as a traitor.

KIEFF, March 9.—A cordon of troops today surrounded a secret meeting of social revolutionists and captured seven men, two women and 15 soldiers, among them an officer. The soldiers were conveyed to the citadel and the others to prison.

MINSK, March 9.—The sentence of death imposed on Anna Izmailovich, the daughter of Gen. Izmailobich, who attempted to assassinate Governor Kourloff, has been commuted to imprisonment for life.

RIGA, March 9.—Four hundred military executions have occurred in Livonia as a result of the government's repressive measures.

BANQUET IS RED HOT

called 'Spare Ribs a la Christian,' to be served as missionary dinner during Lent."

Before leaving the room the five newsies gathered in a small knot near the door and sang: "Don't Think I'm Irish Because My Tie Is Green."

Judge Samuel A. McClung acted as toastmaster and introduced Dr. Moffat. The latter spoke of the coming centennial celebration of the chartering of Washington academy, and said that although for years Washington academy and Jefferson college were separate schools they were always so closely allied that they really constituted one educational institution.

In talking of the changes in the past 25 years he said the most striking transition was in the character of the students. Their manner of expression and their enjoyments were vastly different today from those of 25 years ago, but in the main the change, he said, was only superficial.

Parody on College Faculty.

Dr. Moffat urged absolute honesty in all college sports and declared that the combined faculties of the colleges could not stamp out football if they wished. Modification and regulation of the game is needed, he said. Above all trickery and sham in college athletics must be forbidden and abolished.

"There is room for improvement in our college sports," said Dr. Moffat, "and young men who will be perfectly honest during the heat of a football season can be trusted to manage our big insurance companies when they graduate."

The funniest part of the evening's program was the parody on the college faculty. Dr. Moffat and Professors McClelland, McAdams, Wray, Simonton, Schmitz and Woods were impersonated by the following: Park Alexander, George E. Flaccus, Malcolm Hayes, Mr. McAdams, Dr. T. G. Simonton, S. J. Snee and William Ralston.

Judge John D. Shafer was hauled before the faculty and charged with falsely appropriating the jokes of Dr. McClelland. Judge Shafer pleaded not guilty, and hoped he would never inflict any such pain upon his friends or the criminals who face him at the bench. When Park Alexander, as Dr. Moffat, addressed Judge Shafer, saying, "Well, Johnnie, what have you to say for yourself?" the proceedings were stopped while the crowd laughed uproariously.

Chancellor McCormick Is Accused.

Chancellor Samuel B. McCormick, called "Sammy" by the presiding faculty members, was accused of going "To Hell and Back," and could find no words to make denial. He was instructed to leave W and J, and go to W. U. P., where, if he got on the football team, "it would help some," in the eyes of the old faculty. Maurice Sherrard, principal of the Nineteenth ward school, was charged with visiting a girls' seminary in Washington. An alibi was proved by showing that he had been at a brewery at the time and the faculty decided he had chosen the lesser of two questionable resorts. Harry Nesbit was accused of smoking cubeb cigarets. This is a habit of one of the college faculty who suffers from asthma, and the actor in this part convulsed the assemblage with his mimicry. Dr. Moffat of the temporary faculty conferred honorary degrees upon several of the alumni who are known as wealthy men and the faculty meeting adjourned.

Judge McIlvaine of Washington was awarded "A Three Star and Silver Top" degree, and Representative Andrew Thompson of Uniontown, the youngest member of the national congress, a "P. D. Q." degree in politics.

Attorney Richard B. Scandrett spoke on the practical training of young men after they leave college. District Attorney Owen C. Underwood of Washington made a humorous address, and Coach Frank A. Piekarski talked upon college athletics.

King and Queen Honor Dead Princess.

ROME, March 9.—The body of the Marchioness Corsini, formerly Princess Barberini, killed by the overturning of her automobile last night, was transferred today from the quirinal to the San Felice palace, adjoining. The large hall was transformed into a mortuary chapel. The king and queen and many members of the aristocracy visited the chapel. Many noble families are thrown into mourning.

ANNAPOLIS, MD., March 9.—Midshipman Benard Colon of Brooklyn, N. Y., a member of the fourth class, having sent in his resignation, has been reappointed to the naval academy and will be sworn in tomorrow.

FIVE HUNDRED STUDENTS BLOW CLOUDS AT SMOKER

Night Students of the Carnegie Technical Schools Hold Their First Social Entertainment—Lots of Sweet Music and Fragant Tobacco.

The night students of the Carnegie Technical schools held their first "smoker" last night and were entertained by the initial efforts of the student mandolin club, as well as by the Glee club and other students, who gave readings, impersonations and character sketches.

The "smoker" was a brilliant—or rather a smoky—success, 500 cigars and pipes burning at full blast, and operated at high pressure by 500 strong-lunged technical students, created an effect that was a decided credit to even the "Smoky City."

This smoker was the first of a series to be given for the benefit of the athletic association of the school. The students are quite enthusiastic over the continuation of these affairs, although one of the professors was heard to remark, "That this was the initial smoker and he hoped that it would be the memorial one."

The following are the members of the mandolin club: Director, J. H. Taxis; mandolins, W. H. Conrad, J. M. Drum, F. W. Rensland and D. W. Thomas; pianist, L. J. Shaedle. The student glee club, an older organization of 20 members, rendered a number of selections. A violin solo by Philip Adler, a reading by F. C. Grote and impersonations and character sketches by Messrs. Hindman and Harris and Max Cohen, respectively, all students, completed the program.

The night students, who all work at some trade during the day, are greatly excited over the coming election of class officers. Inasmuch as many of these students are members of some union, whether or not the candidate is a union man will have much to do with his success at the election.

Chancellor McCormick of the Western University of Pennsylvania will deliver a lecture to the students at 8:30 a. m. Tuesday.

GERMANY YIELDS IN MOROCCAN CASE

Gives France a Concession and Result Is in View—Cabinet Still Unformed.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

ALGECIRAS, SPAIN, March 9.—Expressions by the French and German delegates to the conference on Moroccan reforms this evening give the impression that a compromise on the points hitherto deadlocked may be reached at tomorrow's sitting. The German delegates have now moved from the hitherto rigid standpoint which they have maintained relative to the Moroccan bank, declaring their readiness to grant to French subscribers to the existing loan two shares of the capital of the bank instead of one share, as originally insisted on.

The French delegates, though outwardly determined not to reduce their demand for four shares, appear inclined to accept the German offer, but in return expect the Germans to meet them with concessions in the matter of the police. France will not agree to the scheme of allotting certain ports to France and Spain nor to the appointment of a commander who is not French, but is willing to consent to the appointment of an inspector from a neutral nation.

The bank question will come up first tomorrow. The indications point to mutual concessions, and in the event of their realization a discussion of the police question will proceed with great chances of success.

PARIS, March 9.—President Fallieres received Jean Sarrian, former minister of justice, this afternoon and offered him the task of forming a cabinet. M. Sarrien said he would not give the president his final answer until he had consulted his friends. If M. Sarrien secures the cooperation of MM. Bourgeois and Poincare he will accept the task.

EXCESS CHARGE WILL CONTINUE IN FORCE

Pennsylvania Railroad Refuses to Abolish It and Travelers Will Fight for Law.

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau,
Press Building.
PHILADELPHIA, March 9.

The Pennsylvania railroad refuses absolutely to abolish the $10 excess charge on interchangeable mileage books or to make any other concession. A movement will be started all over the state to secure legislation at the next session of the legislature for a flat rate of 2 cents a mile.

J. R. Wood, passenger traffic manager of the Pennsylvania, sent a communication to the joint committee of the Travelers' Protective association and the Merchants' and Travelers' association, in which he declares that the $10 excess charge will not be removed, and also rejecting the proposition of this committee at the conference at Broad street station last week that a mileage book be issued for $20, good only over the Pennsylvania lines.

Members of the committee now declare that petitions will be prepared and presented at the coming state conventions of the Republican, Democratic and Lincoln parties asking them to incorporate a plank in their party platform for a 2-cent flat rate on all railroads in Pennsylvania, and that this will be followed up by enlisting every organized trade and social body and the state grange in a movement that will pledge every nominee for the next Pennsylvania legislature for or against the issue.

STORM PREMIER'S HOUSE.

Over Zealous Women Suffragists Are Dispersed by Police After Fight, "C. B." Refusing Audience.

LONDON, March 9.—A band of 30 zealous woman suffragists attempted to storm Premier Campbell-Bannerman's official residence in Downing street today. They used the knocker vigorously and attempted to force an entrance. The women clung tenaciously to the railings when the police tried to disperse them and only succumbed after a determined resistance. Three ringleaders were taken to the police station, struggling and screaming and followed by 27 of their companions shouting "Down with 'C.-B.'" and other war cries. "C.-B." was presiding at a cabinet council.

RUSSIA NEEDS THE MONEY, BUT CANNOT PROCURE IT

Wants to Borrow $350,000,000, but France Shuts Down and Other Financial Centers Are Demanding Usurious Interest.

[Special Cable to The Gazette.]

ST. PETERSBURG, March 9.—In order to liquidate the account incurred in connection with the war, Russia must obtain within the next two years a sum approximating $350,000,000. This amount is not required at once, but must be forthcoming within the period mentioned.

Owing to the disturbed state of the country itself and to the fear of complications arising out of the conference at Algeciras, it is recognized that the foreign money market is closed to Russia, save upon usurious terms, and to these Russia will not agree.

In official circles, however, it is hoped that comparative quiet will have been established in the country within a short time.

Outlined in general, the idea is to issue shortly a fourth lottery loan of about $100,000,000. That would suffice for immediate requirements. Thereafter, as occasion demands, two successive foreign loans of $150,000,000 and $100,000,000, respectively, would be placed by the Paris stock market.

In the meantime I am able to state upon the highest authority that all negotiations with Paris for further advances have been stopped for the time being.

The head of the Berlin house of Mendelssohn has arrived here. What his arrival portends is unknown. I only know that his visit is being made upon his own initiative and not upon invitation from any quarter.

COAL OPERATORS MEET BUT DO NOTHING DEFINITE

Will Attend Joint Conference at Indianapolis, Leaving Members Free to Act.

Beyond the passing of a resolution to meet in joint conference with the operators from Indiana, Illinois and Ohio at Indianapolis on March 15, the operators of the Pittsburgh district, who met yesterday, took no action. It was stated after the meeting that the matter of the mining rate or the question of a strike was not discussed. Frank L. Robbins of the Pittsburgh Coal Company, who acted as chairman, said the operators from this district did not desire to bind themselves to any special line of action at the coming conference, and they will go to it free to do as they see fit. It is known that the operators are divided in their attitude toward granting the men any advance. The Pittsburgh Coal Company interests, it is understood, will offer a proposition to give a 6¼ per cent increase, provided a two or three-year scale is agreed upon. The Pittsburgh-Buffalo Coal Company is said to be a strong ally of the Pittsburgh company. Many independents, however, have taken a strong stand against granting any increase.

A. Cunningham of the Luhrig Coal Company, Cincinnati, O., who was present at the meeting of the Ohio operators at Cleveland Thursday, was a visitor at the miners' headquarters yesterday. He stated that the Ohio operators are a unit in standing out against any advance, because, he said, the conditions will not warrant it.

In the pending election for officers of the Pittsburgh district miners there is every indication that the conservative element will elect a ticket, including Edward McKay of Scott Haven as president; G. R. Fisher of Bellevernon, vice president, and John Hurley of Fayette City as secretary-treasurer. McKay is in the confidence of President Mitchell and Vice President Lewis, and is the oldest leader in point of years of service in the Pittsburgh district. Fisher is popular with the miners, and Hurley, who is president of the school board of Fayette City.

James Watchorn, who was a floor leader at the last district convention, was defeated by the Vesta local at California, Pa., as a delegate to the national convention of miners March 15, at Indianapolis. Watchorn has written to National Board Member William Little, asking the latter to secure for him credentials from some other local.

COAL OPERATORS OPEN PUBLICITY BUREAU

Anthracite Committee Will Issue Information on Progress of the Negotiations.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, March 9.—A publicity bureau covering negotiations from the anthracite coal dispute was today established in this city by the committee of seven anthracite coal operators now engaged in considering the miners' demands. Announcement of the establishment of this bureau followed a conference today between George F. Baer, chairman of the committee of seven, and Davis Wilcox, one of the committee.

SHAMOKIN, PA., March 9.—Miners' delegates were elected in this section of the Ninth United Mine Workers district today to the Indianapolis convention. So far as could be learned the majority were uninstructed.

IRWIN, PA., March 9.—(Special.)—The striking miners at Penn today made a statement that President John Mitchell has advised them that they would have the support of the national organization, also that he would take charge in the Irwin field personally after the Indianapolis convention. He asked the men to remain firm until then, and unless the operators receded from their position he would order a general strike throughout the entire Irwin field.

The operators declare that they do not fear a sympathetic strike.

COLUMBUS, O., March 9.—According to a statement made today by E. H. Winder of Columbus, who was chairman of the Ohio coal operators' conference held at Cleveland yesterday, the Ohio operators are going to the Indianapolis joint meeting of miners and operators to make a settlement if possible. They will ask that this settlement be made on broad grounds applicable to the entire competitive field.

SCHWAB ON WAY EAST.

He Was Asleep When His Car Arrived at Kansas City and Could Not Be Seen.

ST. LOUIS, March 9.—Charles M. Schwab arrived at 7 o'clock this morning in his special car attached to the Chicago & Alton train from Kansas City, and departed on the Big Four for New York at 8:17.

He could not be seen during his brief stop.

The porter of his car stated that Mr. Schwab was sleeping when the train arrived at Union station.

Wants to Cut Telephone Poles.

NEW CASTLE, PA., March 9.—(Special.)—City Electrician Devlin this afternoon issued notices to the Bell Telephone Company and all others operating overhead wires in this city to respond officially within 30 days, stating whether or not they will place their wires in city conduit. If they do not respond Devlin announced that he will cut down the poles.

Ohio Senate Committee Probes.

CINCINNATI, March 9.—The Drake committee of the senate resumed investigation of Hamilton county offices today, taking up the purchase of turnpikes. It is charged that Attorney Dolle was paid $95,237 by the county for half a dozen turnpikes and that the stockholders only received $93,966. Inquiry was directed to learning why the commissioners did not buy the turnpikes for the smaller figure and thereby save $1,271 for the county.

Government Rests in Packers' Case.

CHICAGO, March 9.—The government today rested its case in the packers' hearing on their pleas for immunity. No announcement was made by the attorneys for the packers as to whether they will introduce any evidence in rebuttal, but it is believed by the government that they will not. Arguments are expected to commence when court convenes on Monday.

THE MAN IN BLACK FOOLS THE POLICE

Although Surrounded in a House He Had Entered, He Escapes Under Heavy Fire.

HE IS VERY BUSY ALL THE TIME

"The Man in Black" has returned to his vocation as a burglar, and is working in a long black Prince Albert coat. He was shot at twice in the East End yesterday morning, but escaped the bullets, as he has heretofore escaped the police.

Shortly before 3 o'clock yesterday morning "The Man in Black" entered the residence of Attorney A. Leo Weil, 5831 Howe street. Mr. Weil had not yet gone to bed, and hearing a noise in the hall, investigated. In the dim light he saw a white man, dressed in black clothes, with black gloves on his hands. The man started down the stairs leading to the cellar when Mr. Weil fired two shots after him. The police at the Frankstown avenue station house were notified that "The Man in Black" had been captured and four officers, in charge of a lieutenant, was sent to bring him in. When the lieutenant and the officers arrived they surrounded the house, but "The Man in Black" jumped through a window and made his escape, followed by a fusilade of bullets from the detail of police.

Before entering the home of Mr. Weil the burglar had attempted to enter several houses in Walnut street. He gained an entrance to the rooming house at 5928 Walnut street, but was scared away. In several other houses in Walnut street he attempted to enter, but the people were prepared for him.

On last Friday night he held up two women near the Howe spring, in Fifth avenue. He shoved a revolver in their faces and took from them their chatelaine bags, containing about $5 in money.

On Saturday evening "The Man in Black" saw Dr. J. Clark Logan returning from a visit to a patient, and while walking down Kentucky avenue was held up by the same man. The highwayman stepped from behind a tree and grabbing his victom by the shoulder, said:

"If you move I will kill you." After robbing him, the highwayman said, "Go home, or I will kill you."

DEAD WILL TRAVEL FAST IN MORGUE AUTOMOBILE

Coroner Armstrong Is Considering the Purchase of an Up-to-Date Dead Wagon.

Coroner Armstrong is considering a plan to secure an automobile ambulance for the purpose of moving bodies to the morgue. He has taken the matter up with the county commissioners, and it is thought an automobile ambulance will be bought. The horse ambulance is to be abolished. Coroner Armstrong contends that an automobile ambulance will be much faster than the present system of getting bodies to the morgue. Often the deputies are summoned to East End and it takes over two hours to drive there and back. With an automobile the trip could be made both ways in less than an hour.

A number of automobile firms are now preparing plans for an ambulance, which will be submitted to Coroner Armstrong and the commissioners sometime next week. The plans of the most practical machine will be selected by the commissioners, should they decide to adopt an automobile ambulance.

AUTOMOBILES COLLIDE.

Police Sergeant's Wife Killed and He Is Fatally Hurt—Offending Car Speeds Away.

NEW YORK, March 9.—(Special.)—Trying to pass between another automobile and a dirt wagon at high speed, in Jerome avenue, near One Hundred and Seventy-first street, this afternoon, a big Welch tourist car struck and overturned the first machine, hurling Police Sergt. Robert Craig, his wife, three small children and the chauffeur to the ground. Sergt. Craig and Mrs. Craig were taken to Fordham hospital, where Mrs. Craig died. The man's chances are slight. The others are not seriously hurt.

The driver of the big car threw on all his power and sped up the avenue. Craig is a sergeant at the West One Hundred street station.

UNLUCKY THIEF CATCHER.

Gives Chase After Horse Thief and Is Shot by Another Pursuer.

MEADVILLE, PA., March 9.—(Special.)—Two horses and a buggy near Conneaut Lake were stolen this evening. By telephone it was learned that the rig had been seen eight miles away, and a posse was soon on the track. The pursuers came up with the fugitive a mile from Espyville, and shots were exchanged. The thief got away.

Col. Blakely and a companion in a rig continued the search, and a mile up the road William Brown, who was lying in the bushes watching for the thief, jumped out and ordered Col. Blakely's rig to stop. In the exchange of shots which followed Brown got a bullet in the leg and is now at Henry Shellitoe's, where he was taken when the mistake was discovered.

MAGEE IN WASHINGTON.

Former Senator Arranges for Hearing on Lake Erie and Ohio Ship Canal Next Week.

WASHINGTON, March 9.—(Special.)—John A. Shaw, E. J. Lloyd and Senator W. A. Magee were here today to arrange for a hearing before the senate committee on commerce on the Dalzell bill providing for a national charter for the Lake Erie and Ohio river ship canal. They saw Senators Knox and Penrose and it was arranged that the committee would hear the arguments next Thursday.

The bill has passed the house. The question now is whether with the stress of public business it will be able to get through the senate at this session. The senators are friendly to it.

Butler Saves Children from Fire.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., March 9.—(Special.)—With a loss of $50,000 the large country mansion occupied by John R. Livermore at Bedford, in the northern section of West Chester county, was burned early this morning. Through the bravery of J. Graham, a butler, three children were saved. He was badly burned.

SCRATCHED UNTIL BLOOD RAN
Scales on Face and Head—Threw off Little Watery Substance—Scratching Caused Very Bad Sores to Form—Other Remedies Did No Good.
COMPLETE CURE BY CUTICURA REMEDIES
"I will be glad to give anybody suffering from eczema any information regarding Cuticura Remedies. When my little girl was about a year and a half old there developed small pimples on her face which went into a scale which threw off a little watery substance. Her head was also affected with it. She used to scratch until it bled, making very bad sores. We tried two or three salves, including borax. They did not do any good, so I got some Cuticura Soap first, and then used the Cuticura Soap, Ointment, and Pills. They completely cured her and we have had no more bother with it. Anything you want to publish regarding this will be O. K. Yours respectfully, Wm. F. Knox, 1216 So. 35th St., Philadelphia, Pa., June 10, 1905."
ANOTHER CURE
"I suffered from falling hair and dandruff, and also pimples on the face for about one year, and have been using medical treatment during that period without any satisfaction, until advised by friends of the Cuticura Remedies. I began using them, and in a short time they proved successful. I recommend the Cuticura Remedies to all who suffer from troubles of the skin, scalp, and hair. I remain, yours truly, Ben. I. Kastner, 1824 Ashland Ave., Baltimore, Md., June 19, 1905."
Instant relief and refreshing sleep for skin-tortured babies, and rest for tired, fretted mothers, in warm baths with Cuticura Soap, and gentle anointings with Cuticura Ointment, the great Skin Cure, and purest of emollients.
Sold throughout the world. Cuticura Soap, 25c., Ointment, 50c., Resolvent, 50c. (in form of Chocolate Coated Pills, 25c. per vial of 60), may be had of all druggists. Potter Drug and Chem. Corp., Sole Props., Boston, Mass. Mailed Free, "How to Cure Itching Humors."

COMMERCIAL CLUB NOW PROPOSED

Scheme to Add Social Feature to Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce.

CONVENTION CITY PLANNED

A commercial club, as an adjunct to the Pittsburgh chamber of commerce, where members may meet in social intercourse, as well as to hold formal discussions of a civic or business nature, is a project growing out of the recent injection of new blood into that organization. The project, while a new one in Pittsburgh, is common in many other leading cities and is being warmly advocated by members of the chamber of commerce, particularly among those of the younger, progressive element.

A chamber of commerce, with the present business features of that body, combined with the social features of some such social organization as the Duquesne club, with additional facilities to broaden its sphere of usefulness and to make it more attractive to the general business and professional public, is contained in the local project of a commercial club. It is yet only in the embryonic stage, but is bound to receive serious consideration in the near future.

It is proposed to have club apartments equipped and furnished in modern style, a cafe attached where business members may take their luncheon each day and attend immediately afterwards sessions of the chamber of commerce, whenever a meeting is called.

It is pointed out that Pittsburgh has long needed a place where prominent men of the nation and distinguished bodies of men from other cities could be properly entertained and meet the professional and business men of the community. The visit of the Chinese commission a few months ago which was entertained on board a train; the rivers and harbors committee of congress last year and the recent visit of the congressional committee to investigate local postal needs, are cited as examples. The advocates of the commercial club claim it will advertise the Greater Pittsburgh, bring trade and visitors to the city and infuse a spirit of progress and enthusiasm in the chamber of commerce.

Concerted action toward having Pittsburgh become a convention city, by the retention of the Memorial hall down town, and a campaign against the railroads to secure a 2-cent rate in Pennsylvania, are said to be the two things which will be foremost in the policy of the chamber of commerce after the organization of the new forces next Monday.

The proposition to have the Memorial hall erected in Schenley park will be strongly opposed. The new element in the chamber will do the utmost in its power to have the building in the downtown district, as Pittsburgh does not now possess any building in which a big convention might be held. It is considered that nothing does so much to bring a city before the public notice as its selection for the great national party conventions, but until a suitable hall is provided, there is no hope of Pittsburgh having this honor.

HUSBAND MUST ANSWER FOR SHOOTING BARNHART

Gives Bail for Court—Mrs. Smale Says Her Married Life Has Been Most Unhappy.

The small office of Justice of the Peace Creelman of Wilkinsburg was crowded to its capacity yesterday morning when the case of Frederick T. Smale of 712 Mill street, charged with felonious shooting, was called. Information was made against Smale by Chief of Police Doran, to whom Smale gave himself up on Thursday night, after shooting Claude W. Barnhart, whom he caught in a room of his own home.

Barnhardt refused to appear against the prisoner, as did Mrs. Smale. The hearing was short, and Smale was held in $500 bail for court. The bail was furnished by a personal friend. Mrs. Smale was in the court room at the time of the hearing, as was Barnhart. After the hearing Smale and his wife returned home, but went separately. Smale returned to his work as foreman at the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company at its East Pittsburgh branch.

The Smales have been married for 12 years, and in that time, Mrs. Smales says, her husband has often beaten her, and time and again threatened her life. She claims he was jealous from the first day of their marriage. She seems heartbroken over the affair, but says she is willing to marry Barnhart if she secures a divorce from her husband. Smale is threatening to bring suit for divorce. Barnhart was not seriously wounded. The bullet grazed the side of his head and took a piece from his ear. He appeared in court with his head bandaged.

TRACKS WILL BE REMOVED.

Director Bigelow Says They Will Be Taken from Liberty Avenue in Few Months.

Director Bigelow said yesterday that the Pennsylvania railroad would, within a few months, comply with the law requiring it to remove its tracks from Liberty avenue.

"The Pennsylvania railroad has made arrangements to remove the tracks and has set aside an appropriation for that purpose," said the director. "The work could not be done at this season of the year. Plans are being prepared in my office for repaving Liberty avenue and putting down 16-foot sidewalks. The company pays for the repaving and the new sidewalks." Mayor Hays also said there was no doubt the tracks would be removed from Liberty avenue.

"The Man on the Box."

Henry E. Dixey, who scored such a triumph in "Adonis" some seasons ago in New York, and scored the greatest run of any play in the metropolis, will be seen at the Belasco next week in a dramatization of Harold MacGrath's famous novel, "The Man on the Box." The play is said to be a veritable triumph for Mr. Dixey and is one of the few real successes of Broadway the present season.

Presbyterian Minister Changes Faith.

Unusual interest was attached to the ordination service in Calvary Protestant Episcopal church yesterday morning when the Rev. Joseph Speer, for years pastor of a Presbyterian church in Wheeling, was ordained into the priesthood of the Episcopal church. The services were conducted by Bishop Cortlandt Whitehead, assisted by the Rev. J. H. McIlvaine of Calvary church, and the Rev. Jacob Brittingham of St. Luke's church, Wheeling.

NOTE OF MOURNING AT OPENING OF PARLIAMENT

As the English Court is in mourning owing to the death of King Christian IX. of Denmark, black was worn by all the Peeresses at the opening of Parliament. This was also the case at the first Parliament the King opened immediately after Queen Victoria's death. The general effect of the dark robes is said to be far finer than it is when colors are worn.

FAMOUS ENGLISH TENOR SINGS WITH ORCHESTRA

By CHARLES N. BOYD.

From Dohnanyi to Auber is musically a long step, but it was accomplished at the Pittsburgh orchestra concert at Carnegie music hall last evening. Dohnanyi's D minor symphony was heard for the first time in this city. It is very long, very complicated, and to offer a final judgment upon it after one hearing would be an impertinence. There is an abundance of interesting material, and the treatment is usually free and fluent.

The slow movement, with its Hungarian melodies, and the intermezzo, which gave Mr. De Backer an opportunity to be heard in a graceful viola solo, seemed to afford the most pleasure last evening. The captivating rhythm of the scherzo, and the elaborate development of the first and last movements, interested, if they were not fully appreciated at once. The performance was unusually good, and the care taken by Mr. Paur and the orchestra to present the work to best advantage was thoroughly apparent.

BEN DAVIES,

The celebrated English tenor, who is this week's soloist with the Pittsburgh Orchestra.

The other orchestral numbers, Svendsen's "Carnival of Paris," Volkmann's D minor serenata for strings, and Auber's overture "Le Domino Noir," all made more than the usual appeal to the audience, and raised considerable enthusiasm. The 'cello obligato to the Volkmann number was excellently played by Mr. Bramsen.

The soloist of the evening was Ben Davies, the celebrated tenor. His first aria was "Durch die Waelder," from "Der Frieschuetz;" the second was to have been "Lohengrin's" narration, but through an error in sending the orchestral parts he had to sing "Lohengrin's" farewell song in its stead. If Mr. Davies occasionally fails to realize all the dramatic possibilities of his selections, he cannot be charged with any discrepancies in the lyric portions, and his singing last night was a fine example of his capabilities. His voice has gained rather than lost in effectiveness in the several years since he last sang here, and it is no wonder that he holds the foremost place among English tenors of today.

The same program will be repeated this afternoon, and it is well to remember that after today there remains but one Saturday matinee in the present orchestral season.

MISS BARR RESIGNS AND TROUBLE OCCURS

The filling of a vacancy in the teaching staff of the Thirty-fifth ward schools, caused by the resignation of Miss Eliza Barr, has caused a commotion in the ward, and an indignation meeting is threatened to denounce the action of the school board, in appointing a teacher from Charleroi and rejecting home talent.

The school board elected Miss Florence Mitchell, and it claimed the selection was made upon the recommendation of the principal, Prof. Snodgrass, who is himself from Charleroi. Prof. Snodgrass was, last year, elected to succeed Prof. A. C. McLean, defeated candidate for city controller. In selecting Miss Mitchell the Thirty-fifth ward board turned down four or five teachers who were acting as substitutes. One of the unsuccessful applicants for the position is said to be a teacher of experience, and a graduate of a state normal school.

Adam Forster, a member of the school board, said yesterday the substitutes did not have the required experience for the position and harm to the school would have resulted from making changes in the middle of the term by advancing another teacher to the position. The friends of the unsuccessful applicants and of the teachers who were expecting promotion, are up in arms at the action of the school board. Miss Mitchell enters upon her new position on Monday.

PASTOR RUSSELL HAS NEW SUBJECT

While He Preaches on It, Local Clergymen Will Criticise Last Sunday's Topic.

SPECIAL LENTEN SERVICES

"The Resurrection of Damnation," will be the subject of the sermon by Pastor Russell in Carnegie hall tomorrow evening at 7:30 o'clock. The sermon preached by Pastor Russell last Sunday evening on "To Hell and Back," has occasioned considerable argument in the city, and several local ministers will preach sermons reviewing and criticising it tomorrow.

Tomorrow will be the second Sunday in Lent, and will inaugurate a week of activity in the churches that observe the Lenten season. The noonday services being held in Trinity church, will be addressed by the Rev. G. C. Cox of Cincinnati each day next week. On Wednesday evening a lecture will be delivered in the parish house auditorium of Trinity church by the Rev. Dr. McLure of Oakmont, on "The Call to the Church of the Twentieth Century. The Rev. Dr. E. M. Paddock of Emmanuel church, Allegheny, will deliver an address at the special service of the St. Stephen's chapter of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew, at Sewickley on Thursday evening.

In the Trinity Lutheran church, Stockton avenue, Allegheny, a Lenten cantata, "The Lamb of God," will be given tomorrow evening. This was composed by Johann M. Blose, organist and choir director of Trinity. The Rev. Austin W. Mann, of the deaf mute clergy of the Episcopal church, will officiate at the deaf mute services in Trinity parish house tomorrow. At 11 a. m. communion will be administered and children baptized.

The Trinity Methodist Protestant congregation, Bidwell street, Allegheny, will hold special services tomorrow commemorating the twelfth anniversary of the dedication of their church building. At 10:45 a. m. the Rev. Fred Klein, who was the first pastor of the church, will preach, and in the evening the Rev. David Jones, who was the last pastor of the old church in Fifth avenue, will occupy the pulpit. In the afternoon a neighborhood service will be held, when addresses will be made by a number of prominent clergymen and laymen. The seventh anniversary of the Herron Hill Methodist Episcopal Sunday school will be held tomorrow at 2:30 p. m. The addresses will be made by the R. L. Smith, J. J. McIlyar, S. W. McCorkle and W. H. McBride. At 7:45 p. m. the pulpit will be occupied by the Rev. Dr. McBride.

POLICE MAKE TWO RAIDS.

Capture 16 Italians in One Place and 18 Men and Boys in Another.

John Grish of 37 Clay alley was arrested last night on a charge of keeping a gambling place, including two women. All the prisoners are Italians.

Police raided 807 Fifth avenue yesterday afternoon and arrested 18 men and boys as visitors, but the alleged proprietor was not there and has not yet been arrested. The place is a restaurant and nearby residents complained that men and boys went there to drink and gamble.

WOULD ESTABLISH HOME FOR DECREPIT FIREMEN

The indigent committee of the State Firemen's association of Pennsylvania held their fourth meeting yesterday at the Water Tower station, Smithfield street, to formulate plans for the proposed establishment of a home for aged and decrepit firemen of the association. The committee will reach some definite conclusion at their meeting today. The committee consists of Daniel Dooley of Philadelphia, ex-Mayor Joseph C. Greenwald, Bradford; S. G. Smith, Norristown; Robert B. Keller, Stroudsburg, and Chief Miles S. Humphreys of this city.

Odd Fellows Dedicate Hall.

The new hall of Sewickley Valley lodge No. 692, Independent Order of Odd Fellows, in Broad street, Sewickley, was dedicated yesterday afternoon. The opening address was given by E. R. Silver. Other addresses were made by Lewis K. White, G. W. Richards, W. B. McNaughton and M. D. Wiley.

A Good Day to Drop in for a Look.

Take Today for Seeing New Things for Spring.

On the Menu This Day, 50c.

Orchestra, 11:45—2:15.

Among the other 50c dinners today this one is referred to as very special:

Roast Blue Bill Duck.
Currant Jelly.
Fried Hominy.
Rolls and Butter.
Coffee.

Saturday is an excellent day for looking into the Mirror of Fashion, and we invite everyone who is interested in New Spring Clothes to drop in today and see what we have gathered together for the men and the women and the boys and girls of Pittsburg.

McCall's for April.

All of the McCall publications are in and can be had at the Pattern Counter near main entrance, West Store.

McCall Patterns, simplest and easiest of all patterns put together, 10c and 15c.
McCall's Magazine, 5c a copy.
McCall's Fashion Sheet, free.

The latter can be had at various places throughout the store.

To the men we say that such as Rogers-Peet Clothing and Horne's Totally Different Clothing are of sufficient merit to warrant an examination. We are sole agents for the R. & P. clothes in Pittsburg. Pretty nearly every man in the city knows the high character of Rogers-Peet goods.

To women we have to confide that our exhibit of new Suits for Spring, also new Coats, is one of the most pretentious we have ever gathered together. Every good grade is represented, every new style is represented, and there is the greatest range of prices, this in order to meet all ideas.

To the mothers of children, notice is given that our Spring lines of boys' clothing and girls' clothing are exceptionally complete. There is not a style, that we know of, missing. As most people judge stores by the prices quoted, we ask all who have to buy for children to come in and note the exceedingly small prices with which we mark our children's clothes.

Women's Fleece Lined Union Suits, 75c.

They Are the Grades That Usually Retail for $1.25.

This is the remarkable offer for today emanating from our Women's Woven Underwear Department, second floor, East.

These Union Suits are pure white and they are fleece lined.

They are a lot that came to us too late, and rather than have them returned, the owners let down the price so that we are enabled to say for them 75c a suit.

This matter should be looked into today, if possible.

A Famous Englishman's Black Dress Stuffs.

We Refer to Priestly, the Noted Bradford, England, Weaver.

Priestly weaves no colored goods. His specially is black There is not one in the whole list but what can be counted best among textures.

Not alone does this noted Englishman's reputation center around black goods, but he has an enviable reputation for having first invented the cravenetting of cloths so as to make them waterproof.

We have a pride in having handled Priestley's Black Dress Goods for many years; we have a pride in selling them, and we have a pride in knowing that they give absolute satisfaction. We ask women to look over this list of Priestley's dress stuffs, all to be had at the counter for black dress goods. As a postscript we might add that it is so well known as to be hardly worth mentioning that every weave of Priestley's is an all-wool weave.

Priestley's All Wool Cravenetted Serges, $1.50 and up to $2.00.
Priestley's Cravenetted Cheviots, $1.00 a yard and up to $2.50.
Priestley's All Wool London Voiles, $1.25 and up to $2.00.
Priestley's All Wool Gypsy Cloth, $1.00 a yard.
Priestley's All Wool Taffeta Cloth, $1.00 a yard and up to $2.50.
Priestley's All Wool Crepe de Chine $1.25 a yard to $1.50.
Priestley's All Wool Megnonetta Suiting, $1.00 a yard.
Priestley's All Wool Panama Suitings, $1.25 to $1.50 a yard.
Priestley's Silk-and-Wool Henrietta Cloth, $1.50 to $2.00.
Priestley's Silk-and-Wool Melrose Cloth, $1.50 a yard to $2.00.
Priestley's Silk-and-Wool Crepe Cloth, $1.50 a yard to $2.00.
Priestley's Silk-and-Wool Tamise Cloth, $1.25 a yard to $1.50.
Priestley's Silk-and-Wool Cloisette, $1.50 a yard to $2.00.
Priestley's Mohair Roxana, $1.25 a yard to $1.50.
Priestley's Chiffon Mohair, 50c a yard to $2.00.
Priestley's Mohair Sicilian, 75c a yard to $2.00.

Some Girls' Coats at $5.00 Each.

They Are From Groups That Sold for $12, $15 and $18.

The director of this department says she wants to close these coats out today. She ought to, at the price.

The materials are tweeds and cheviots. The colors are blue, brown and gray.

All are nice fine goods and $5.00 wouldn't nearly pay for the cloth in some of them.

The sizes are for girls 14, 16 and 18 years of age.

Then we will have, for the same price of $5.00, another lot of Winter Coats for girls. Plain and mixed cloths—blue, brown, gray. The size range is from 6 to 14 years. This lot of coats is from groups that sold for $10.00, $12.50 and $15.00. Choice today, $5.00.

Evening Dresses That We Don't Want.

And We're Going to Sell Them for Little Enough.

Our space is limited for our showing of evening gowns. With the new dresses for Spring coming in fast we find these must be sold to give place to those things that have the freshness of Spring upon them.

The material of which these gowns are made include crepe, veiling, net and messaline, all prettily made up into the most fashionable models for evening wear. All are made over silk drop. The colors are blue, cream and ecru.

The underprices are $30 from $60.
The underprices are $50 from $90.

There are some shirtwaist gowns of white veiling and brown or blue china silk, for which we'll take $7.50 for those from groups that sold for $16.50 to $25.00

50c to $1.00 Veils at 25c Each.

One and One-Half Yards Long.

Today we place on sale 1,200 Fancy Veils and the price will be a quarter-of-a-dollar each.

These veils have chenille borders.

There are two different meshes, one plain, the other tuxedo mesh, with spots.

Four different colors, black, navy, brown, white.

Silk Waists for $3.75.

From Groups That Sold for $5.00 to $8.50.

These waists comprise a sample line of the well-known silk waistmaker of New York.

There are many different styles, in some of which there are 4 and 5 of a kind, others not so many.

The waists made of such silk as Taffeta, china, crepe de chine.

The color range is white, black, blue and brown and reseda green, gray also.

Some of the waists are pleated full, some are tucked, some made with pretty yokes, some just plainly tailored.

All are in good styles for Spring. This is an offer which does not come very often, especially so early in the season.

Mourning Millinery.

We wish especially to call to the attention of women in mourning our new collection of Paris and New York models.

The materials in these models vary, some are of crepe, others of nuns' veiling, some of chiffon and others of Brussels net. Each and all are very rich.

Crepe is being worn more this season than for many seasons past. It is used for hats, for toques and for veils.

Our collection of Mourning Millinery was selected with a view to meeting all ages.

NOTE—We are always prepared to give immediate attention to all mourning orders.

Handsome Lingerie Waists.

Surprising Daintiness for $10.00 and up to $65.00.

The French people are jealous of their fine needlework and their fabrics, and they let them out, as it were, in a sort of installment plan.

Every day a precious handful comes from the customs house. These were in the last installment:

New China Silk Waists, every stitch set in by hand, and with quantities of the finest fagoting; little medallions are made of the fagoting and bands of silk, both novel and attractive, and there are crowds of the tiniest tucks and pleats.

A $35.00 Blouse is a very cobweb of handiwork, fairy Val. and real Irish; short pretty sleeves.

But it's hardly safe to specify such bewitching things—they go so fast. However, you may be certain others equally charming will take their places.

The Man on the Box.

By Harold McGrath.

The play, dramatized from this book, is to be presented to Pittsburgers next week. That is will be ably presented no one will deny, knowing that Mr. Henry E. Dixey is the star, and the Belaso Theater the place.

Every person interested is notified that our Book Store, Aisle No. 5, has the book for sale and, as everyone who is acquainted with the argument can enjoy a play much better, it does not need any special invitation to come and buy.

Books are handsomely bound in cloth, illustrated by several scenes from Laurence's beautiful production of the play, as given 123 nights at the Madison Square Theater, New York.

Our special price is 45c, instead of the regular price, $1.08.

Saturday, March 10, 1906.

Ambassador White sent an encouraging message to Washington yesterday on the Moroccan situation. The opinion also prevailed in Paris that an agreement may be looked for soon. The German proposal that a third power police one port of Morocco will occasion some discussion, but it interposes no insuperable obstacle. Collapse of the Rouvier ministry has had no effect, apparently, upon the negotiations at Algeciras. War clouds seem to be disappearing from the European horizon.

Activity of British women suffragists continues to take the form of athletic hostility to the powers that be. Another violent demonstration yesterday necessitated the interference of the police to prevent the invasion of a cabinet meeting at the official residence of the premier. We have often been told of the wholesome influence of the Englishwomen in politics, but the present object lesson is not calculated to inspire a high regard for the methods employed in her endeavor to secure what she terms her "rights."

Highwaymen continue their nightly depredations in the East End district, quite after the Chicago style. The theory that they are recent arrivals from the Windy City, whose authorities are making extraordinary efforts to rid the town of such gentry, is plausible. Chicago citizens were obliged to adopt unusual measures for their own protection before the police exhibited any activity in getting after the robbers. This should not be necessary in Pittsburgh. The police are able to make the residence streets safe at night and they should do so without delay.

The Republican party by its financial achievements alone has well earned the designation of being "safe and sane." In spite of the fact that the government has paid out to the Panama canal account and for public works more than $12,000,000, the treasury books show that for the fiscal year which began July 1 there is a balance of over $1,000,000 in the treasury. Furthermore, since the Republican party returned to power in 1897 the government has conducted two costly wars and paid to Spain large sums for her former possessions. The Republican is the party of prosperity.

Regarding the encounter between American troops and hostile Moros near Jolo, in which 600 natives were killed, Maj.-Gen. H. C. Corbin, who has just returned from the Philippines, makes an illuminative comment. The frenzied acts of the Moros, he declares, have no more relation to the conduct of Filipinos in general than had the Apache outbreaks in the early days of Arizona to the situation in other states and territories. The slain Moros were outlaws, belonging to a band which had attacked peaceable natives and defied the authorities. Extinction of the band was imperative for the public safety.

Testimony elicited in a Central police station case yesterday, which would seem to indicate the existence of a branch of the notorious Black Hand society in this city, has set the detectives to work. A second letter bearing the insignia of the society and demanding money under penalty of death has also been received by Former Mayor R. J. Black of McKeesport. As an Italian official recently stated, nine out of ten Black Hand threats may be hoaxes, but the tenth sometimes is fulfilled in a serious manner. The authorities do well to exert special efforts to apprehend these dangerous cowards.

County Commissioner Price expressed his approval yesterday of the scheme to sell the court house to the city of Pittsburgh, using the funds received to erect a new building on the property now owned by the county and additional land to be obtained to include the entire block bounded by Diamond, Ross, Grant and Fourth avenue. Not only is the present structure excellently adapted for municipal purposes, but the county would be enabled to erect a building with ample facilities for its business. Richardson's masterpiece would make a handsome and dignified city hall and Pittsburgh would be the gainer, by an additional magnificent public building, in the new court house.

An Idea for Pittsburgh.

What may prove a valuable contribution to the current discussion on how local organizations of business men may increase their usefulness in advancing the interests of the community is contained in the suggestion for a Commercial club, such as flourishes in many western cities. Such an organization would conflict in no wise with the chamber of commerce, the Merchants and Manufacturers' association or the other commercial bodies which are doing so much for Pittsburgh, but rather would furnish a common rallying ground where they might co-operate to mutual benefit. A special advantage of such a club is to be found in its social features, as conducted in some of the large western cities. Daily at noon the club rooms are thronged with the progressive business men of the community, gathered for luncheon. Meetings called at brief notice to consider important matters are sure to be largely attended and valuable time is economized. The conveniently located club rooms afford a suitable place in which to entertain distinguished guests and enable them to meet a large number of the city's business and professional men. Wherever the experiment has been made, the combination of social features and civic activities has proved highly beneficial. In one city, through the influence of the Commercial club, the street car service has been improved to a remarkable degree. Another Commercial club has so advertised its city as to make it the favorite meeting place for conventions, bringing many thousands of additional visitors, who spend money, every year.

The Commercial club idea involves co-operation rather than consolidation of business organizations. While its social and gastronomic features would play no small part in the success of its important mission, the main purpose would be to afford a meeting place for exchange of views and decisive action, when necessary, by the business men of the city, constituting a body representing the many interests which make for Pittsburgh's progress and prosperity.

Dark Days.

Dark days have no terrors for Pittsburghers, so it is impossible to repress a smile at the uneasiness of Chicago and St. Louis people over their recent experience. Winds of the Windy City were unable, for once, to blow away the dense clouds of smoke of which Chicago, contrary to popular supposition, produces even more than Pittsburgh. Chicago's location by the lake is all that saves it from being dubbed the Smoky City. Clairvoyants, working upon the fears of superstitious clients, reaped a harvest in fees while the darkness lasted, but their boom in business was comparatively brief.

The experience of the western cities is reminiscent of historical dark days in this country before the explanation for the condition was generally known. May 19, 1780, October 21, 1716, and October 19, 1762, were all days fraught with terror for the inhabitants of New England. In the Stygian darkness which prevailed, birds and domestic fowl acted as they are accustomed to during an eclipse. Preachers summoned the people to prayer in the churches and many believed the last day had come. August and September, 1881, were remarkable for the number of days which necessitated the use of artificial light at noontime. A special bulletin issued by the weather bureau ascribed the condition to a combination of ordinary cloudiness with smoke from forest and prairie fire. It is presumed similar conditions prevailed during the historical dark days of the preceding century. Pittsburgh has an occasional dark day due to smoke and weather, but never a metaphorical dark day of business depression to hide the sun of her permanent prosperity.

Chinese Boycott and Trade.

A special agent of the government furnishes timely information regarding trade conditions of southern China, in view of the boycott on American goods which still prevails. This discrimination must be given serious consideration. We are warned against believing that the reports of the effects of the Chinese trade reprisal are exaggerated. However, the boycott has not everything to do with the status of our Chinese trade. The same indifference and delinquencies exhibited by American merchants in other parts of the Orient are observed there. Added to this indifference is the active competition of Great Britain and Germany. It is further noted that the success thus far of German firms in closing remunerative contracts with government officials has placed them advantageously in the commercial race in southern China.

Complaint has been made before of the indifference displayed by our merchants and manufacturers in seeking Chinese trade, as well as their carelessness in packing and failure to study the needs of the market. They may have enough to do in supplying the home market, but this can scarcely apply to the manufacturers of cotton fabrics. We enjoy a large exporting trade in flour, oil, sewing machines, tobacco and canned goods, but American cotton piece goods have a discouragingly small representation in the markets of southern China. The reason for this is peculiar. The Chinese prefer English goods which are adulterated, rejecting the American stuffs which are pure. The Chinese of the south, we are told, demand sizing, and the government's correspondent remarks if they are content to buy starch instead of pure goods, why not cater to them? If the trade of China is worth having it must be studied more carefully. In spite of the handicap of the boycott, our merchants and manufacturers could make a better showing then at present if a little more aggressiveness and push were infused into their efforts.

The Business Situation.

The most striking feature of the news of the week bearing upon the general business situation was the report of railroad earnings. For the fourth week in February, the latest period covered by the returns, 29 roads reported an increase of 20.55 per cent over the corresponding week last year. Some of the gains were extraordinary, and they came from widely separated zones of distribution. Thus the Canadian Pacific reported an increase for the week of $366,000, and the Southern Railway for the same seven days reported an increase of $282,000. The published returns of 72 roads for the month of January show an increase of 22.38 per cent in gross earnings and an increase of 47.03 per cent in net. The inference to be drawn from these figures, but more particularly from those for the last week in February, is that the railroad transportation industry, which ranks second only to agriculture, is handling a larger volume of business than ever before and that it is handling it at a profit.

The week's developments rather increase the uncertainty regarding the outlook for a coal strike. In the bituminous field the opposition of producers toward any agreement that will increase the cost of mining has apparently strengthened, while in the anthracite field the large accumulation of coal makes the operators indifferent. At least that is the way it looks on the surface. As a consequence of the prevailing uncertainty large consumers of coal continue to stock up, and a slight hesitation is perceptible in lines of trade which would be affected by a strike.

Wheat declined yesterday to the lowest price on the crop, and in the Chicago market the May option at one time showed a decline of 37 cents a bushel as compared with the corresponding date last year and 20 cents as compared with two years ago. The absence of damage to the winter wheat crop, and the demoralization reported in the flour trade, are responsible for the decline. At the same time it was not without one favorable effect. Accompanying the fall in wheat was a sharp decline in sterling exchange, and there is every indication that the foreign demand for our wheat will be stimulated. Any considerable increase in exports of breadstuffs would have an immediate effect upon the money market and probably lead to gold imports.

The stock market underwent a further period of liquidation and average market values touched the lowest of the year. The action of Secretary Shaw in announcing his readiness to increase by $10,000,000 the amount of government deposits in national banks had a sentimental effect upon the money market, but as yet there has been no actual decline in loaning rates. Stock market speculation cannot thrive for any length of time with call loan rates averaging 5 per cent or above. It is also likely to languish when there is a dearth of deals or rumors of deals. The course of events in Wall street during the past few weeks has been, therefore, entirely natural.

THE ORCHARD MAIDEN.

Give me a maiden with her hair a-blowing,
Clean heart and cherry lip;
Give me a maiden 'mongst green orchards growing
For sweet companionship.

Scented, ah, yes; but with the breath of roses
Wafted across the fells,
Past where the bee at noontide drinks and dozes,
Amongst the cowslip bells.

Dainty her home, for not in all your searches
Beneath the city mist
Can you find aught to match the silver birches
Or mountain amethyst.

Or the gazelle, which grows in nature's keeping,
Responsive to each sound.
What is more graceful than the squirrel leaping
Within the forest bound?

Better green glens and sounds of running waters
Than all your town-taught rules;
Better round limbs and health and bounding daughters
Than all the airs of schools.

Give me a maiden with her hair a-blowing,
With the strong wind of the downs;
Rather a love that's like her, great and glowing,
Than the hothouse plants of towns.

Quiet Observations on Ways of the World

Mark Twain Deserves What Is Coming to Him.

By ERASMUS WILSON.

Very few literary men are getting as much advertising as Mark Twain and hardly any are so selfish as to begrudge it to him.

Here in New York he is exceedingly popular. Indeed his popularity tends to make his life miserable at times, but he has enough philosophy in his makeup to enable him to endure the misery complacently, and to enjoy to the fullest the pleasures that come his way.

The papers have been making a great hullabaloo over a little thing that occurred at the Majestic theater last Sunday afternoon.

The West Side Young Men's Christian Association had invited Mark to address a public meeting at 3 o'clock. For some reason the doors had not been opened before the hour named and the crowd, numbering aobut 300, became clamorous for admittance.

An officious policeman called in a bunch of reserves and began maneuvering as if he were trying to suppress a riot. The Young Men's Christian association officials suggested that all that was necessary was to open the doors and allow the people to go in. The officer gave the aforesaid officials to understand that he was handling that mob, and the best they could do would be to go away back and lean up against the wall.

After a lot of fussing, and a great display of authority, the crowd was permitted to enter, and the officer made his headquarters in the lobby so as to be handy in case the orderly Y. M. C. A. crowd should become ugly and try to break up the meeting.

⁂

Some of those present say it was a most ludicrous affair, and all on account of the doors not having been opened in time, followed by the extra officiousness on the part of the officer.

The yellow journals magnified it into a mob fighting, crushing and jamming to get in to hear Mark's address. The topic for discussion was "Citizenship," and there were other speakers heard besides Twain.

The master of ceremonies, who was a good deal wrought up over the police affair, introduced the star speaker as a man "well worth being clubbed to hear."

In his address Mark contended that what this country needs at present is more gentlemen, not gentlemen in appearance, but gentlemen in fact, men who are merciful, faithful in good deeds, and just toward their fellowmen.

⁂

The address was not humorous—not in the sense of being funny—nor was it intended to be, but a good many people laugh when Mark Twain speaks, no matter how serious his utterances.

He referred to a recent trip to Hartford to attend the funeral of his old coachman. Holding a letter from William Dean Howells in his hand he said:

"Howells writes that he is just 69, but I have known him longer that that. He says he was born to be afraid of dying, not of getting old. Well, I am the other way. It's terrible getting old. You gradually lose things, and become troublesome. People try to make you think you are not. But I know I'm troublesome.

"Then he says no part of life is so enjoyable as the eighth decade. That's true. I've just turned into it, and I enjoy it very much. 'If old men were not so ridiculous'—why didn't he speak for himself? 'But,' he goes on, 'they are ridiculous, and they are ugly.' I never saw a letter with so many errors in it. Ugly! I was never ugly in my life! Forty years ago I was not so good looking. A looking glass then lasted me three months. Now I can wear it out in two days.

"'You've been up in Hartford burying poor old Patrick. I suppose he was old too,' says Mr. Howells. No, he was not old. Patrick came to us 36 years ago —a brisk, lithe young Irishman. He was as beautiful in his graces as he was in his spirit, and he was as honest a man as ever lived. For 25 years he was our coachman, and if I were going to describe a gentleman in detail I would describe Patrick.

"At my own request I was a pallbearer with our old gardner. He drove me and my bride so long ago. As the little children came along he drove them, too. He was all the world to them, and for all in my house he had the same feeling of honor, honesty, and affection.

"He was 60 years old, ten years younger than I. Howells suggests he was old. He was not so old. He had the same gracious and winning ways to the end. Patrick was a gentleman, and to him I would apply the lines:

"So may I be courteous to men, faithful to friends, True to my God, a fragrance to the path I trod."

⁂

There is a lot more of seriousness in Mark Twain's discourses, and in his writings, than of levity, which leads some to conclude that he is playing out, as a humorist. On the contrary, he is all the more a genuine humorist, because he can be serious and is inclined to look for the good, the true and the beautiful rather than for mere fun and frolic.

Mark Twain is not a funny man, nor is he a motley jester, much less a smart Aleck or a punster. He is a preacher of truth, great and important truths, a wholesome critic and philosopher.

Instead of going uptown after the manner of millionaires, and others, he moved downtown just as far as he could. His house, No. 29 Fifth avenue, is old style, but mansion-like, light and cheerful and with room to spare, or at least to share with choice friends.

Some Palatable Breakfast Food Served Hot

By PETER PRY SHEVLIN.

Formidable Weapons.

[News note: In a Jersey town they aim to introduce women as policemen.]

The riot raged on the copper's beat
With many a broken head;
A brick pile changed to down the street
So fast the brickbats sped!
Ten sturdy cops began to "fan"
The crowd with might and main:
But hoodlums knocked out every man
And laughed in wild disdain.
Then came from where a picket stood:
"Boys, beat it while your shoes are good!"

It was a lady cop
That nothing e'er could stop!
No mace or pistol backed her firm command!
And the fighters homeward streamed
When the lady cop just screamed:
"You see I have a batpin in each hand!"

The gang then almost fainted though
They tried to stand their ground
Against the lady cop, but no!
Their bad mistakes they found.
In alleyways they tried to pop
To make escape they tried;
But round then swished the lady cop
And very sweetly said:
"You'd calm down if you just commenced
To find out what you're against!"

"Oh, I'm the lady cop
And you'll soon hear something drop
Unless you all surrender and march in!"
And you bet that gang obeyed
When fierce weapons she displayed:
A hatpin backed up by a rolling pin!

A Necessary Contrivance.

Blinker—Yes, Mr. Schemer has an invention that Pittsburghers will pay well for.

Clinker—What is it?

"A typhoid germ strainer for water meters!"

Tit for Tat.

(By Thoughtless Telepathy to Peter Pry.)

PEKIN, CHINA, March 9.—There is great excitement in the Imperial city over news of riots in and disturbances in Springfield, O., and labor riots among American Boxers in the west. A Pittsburgher refused to pay his laundry check to one of our prominent citizens on Grant street and the Chinese government is massing troops and preparing the navy to back up a demand for an indemnity.

No Chinese have been attacked by the foreign devils; no Buddhist or Shinto missionaries killed simply because there are none in that heathen country.

Murders are occurring in every principal city of the United States daily. Judging by this feeling of unrest your correspondent thinks that the senate tongs led by Viceroy Cannon and the congress tongs led by Taotai Tillman are going to tear up the railroads. The Chinese government must prepare to punish these white heathens at the first outbreak.

Sartorial Suggestion.

Jim—Yes, Ethel scorned my suit.

Jack—Why not try a new tailor?

Signs About Town.

The fact that railroads have entirely cut out free passes to legislators and others has had a far-reaching effect. Yesterday a salesman hung out in the window of a large leather goods store not far from Fifth avenue and Wood street, this legend over leather wallets: "Pass cases now at half cost!"

Certainly the sign painter employed on a large building in course of construction of Penn avenue is a very, very conservative individual. A large sign on the building reads: "Admission Possibly Prohibited!"

The price distinction between "pantaloons" and "trousers" was never more aply illustrated than by a sign in a show window on a small tailor shop in upper Fifth avenue: "Pants $2, Trousers $6 50," was the way the sartorial sage expressed the difference in terms.

A Scarce Article.

Diogenes with his lantern was hunting for that scarce specimen—an honest man. Disappointed in his hunt, he grabbled up a stuffed club.

"Going to look for anything scarcer?" was asked.

"Yes, I'm going after the citizens who oppose Greater Pittsburgh!"

The Reason Why.

Maude—I consider Miss Woodby very vain.

Claude—Naturally she's "stuck up;" her diamonds are "paste."

Concerning Long Hair.

"Some men wear long hair with a purpose," declared the Cynical Codger. "This chrysanthemum thatch makes all of them think they are fools and they thereby create a genuine sensation by proving that they have some sense!"

A Humane Hope.

Goofer—I read that deaths by heart disease are becoming more numerous in this country.

Shoofer—Well, if I run over any one in my auto it will be great consolation to know that the warning "honk!" scared him to death before the wheels touch him!

The Main Thing.

"Then you think that modern colleges hand out education in too much of a hurry?"

"I do," replied the college boy. "Why, they graduated me before I could get my meerchaum pipe properly colored or win back some of the money my classmates won from me at poker!"

Peter Pry's Philosophy.

Life is too brief to ever contain a long weary day.

Lent is a good time to climb back on the water wagon. The seltzer sprinkler isn't crowded and there's lots of room up front.

You can't make a silk purse out of a sow's ear, but I notice that porkpackers are making fat bank accounts out of hogshead cheese.

Fact of the Matter.

Gawker—Do you think that cigarets injure the brain?

Tawker—Decidedly not. No one with any brains smokes cigarets!

Blooms.

The poet writes of gentle spring,
Of blooms in woodlands cool;
He should write up himself, by jing!
For he's a blooming fool!

Make Your Own Weather.

Happy days 'r' bringin'
Sap up on its way;
Robins will be singin'
March and jus' like May!

Hands aroun', my honey!
Sky 's the smallest part;
Days are always sunny—
Sunshine in the heart!

The Poor Poet.

Beryl—Yes, I'm engaged to that genius, Bardley. He's written a poem "To My Betrothed," and it fairly sparkles.

Sibyl—I'll bet his engagement ring doesn't sparkle a little bit!

Climbing to Heaven.

"Say, Billy, de circus is a-comin'. Goin'?"

"My dad, he says Sunday school is fun enough."

"Shucks! At de circus yer kin learn ter be a trapese acrobat an' climb ter heaven anyhow!"

Marriage Arithmetic.

"You can't add one to one and leave one," said the polemical person.

"Oh, yes," said the clergyman. "During a wedding I often add one to one and then find out that I'm the one that is left—for the marriage fee!"

LENTEN LEVITY.

Retired Publican (explaining details of his new mansion)—I'd like to 'ave two statues at the foot of the stairs.

Architect—What kind of statues would you like?

Retired Publican—I'd like Apollo on one side and Apollinaris on the other.—London Tatler.

Salesman—Don't you want to look over some of our prepared babies' food?

Young Mother—But I haven't a prepared baby.—Life.

"Marie, if James asks you to marry him tonight, tell him to speak to me."

"And if he doesn't, mamma?"

"Tell him I want to speak to him."—Woman's Home Companion.

Judge—What is your age?

Fair Witness—Twenty-nine, your honor.

Judge—That's exactly what you said two years ago.

Fair Witness—Well, I'm not going to say one thing today and another thing tomorrow.—Fliegende Blaetter.

Maud—I suppose Charlie will kiss you under the mistletoe.

Ethel—Alas, no; he met papa last night and got the dismissal toe.—Boston Transcript.

Why He Got Off.

Pat, who had recently "come over," met his old friend Dennis. Pat, who was enthusiastic over all the wanderful things he had seen and heard, lost no time in telling Dennis some of his adventures.

"An' what fome smart men they have on them strate cars," he said. "I got on wan of them and purty soon the man said 'Kearny,' and Mr. Kearny he gets up and got off. At the next corner he said 'Powell,' and Mr. Powell he gets off, and he kept right on doing that. Says I to mesself: 'He is purty smart, begorra, if he can find out me own name; but, would you belave me, at the next corner he said 'McAllister,' so there was nothing for me to do but get off, too."—San Francisco Chronicle.

Just Like His Father.

At the Grant family dinner last week Maj.-Gen. Frederick D. Grant told this story on himself:

"I was booked to speak at a large dinner in town and the toastmaster felt it incumbent upon him to make my path as smooth as possible. He therefore spoke of my father and said that I strongly resembled him. This had the desired effect on the people present and they gave me their best attention.

"Although I spoke as well as I could I felt that every one was disappointed in me and I sat down with relief that it was over.

"The toastmaster rose and smiled at me. Then he said to the guests:

"'Didn't I tell you he was just like his father? He can't speak worth a cent.'"—New York Sun.

Shove Versus Advice.

Senator Burrows was asked for advice recently by a newspaper correspondent. He gave the notice, but afterward, smiling and shaking his head, he said:

"Advice is a thing I am always chary about extending. It is, you know, so cheap, so easy.

"A boy, the other day, was pushing a heavy pushcart up a hill. The hill was steep, the boy thin. He bent forward at the work till he was almost horizontal.

"'Hi! boy,' called an old man, 'push the cart up the hill zigzag, from side to side, and you'll find it will go easier.'

"The boy snarled back:

"'Not so much o' yer darn advice. Give us a shove.'"—Cleveland Leader.

Cruelty to a Congregation.

The minister of a Scottish congregation mentioned in Sir Archibald Geikie's "Reminiscences" neglected to bring the manuscript of his sermon to church one Sunday, and had to make time to go home, a mile away, and fetch it.

Greatly agitated, he gave out the one hundred and nineteenth Psalm, and as soon as the congregation began to sing the first of the one hundred and seventy-six verses the minister rushed away to the names, from which he by-and-by returned to the church breathless, and found the clerk waiting nervous and uneasy.

"How are you getting on?" gasped the minister.

"Oh, sir," said the clerk, "they've got to the end of the eighty-fourth verse, an' they're cheepin' like wee mice!"

The situation was saved, but clerical remissness had nearly done for the pious congregation.—Manchester (Eng.) Times.

Where a Laugh Came In.

The Washington correspondent of the New York Times relates the following good story: "I have the highest respect for the present occupant of the chair," said Judge Shackleford.

He was bending over his books and papers and speaking as he did so.

"His fairness, his sagacity, his wisdom—"

At that point the Missouri representative looked up and found that while he had been passing out his encomium on "Uncle Joe" Cannon the speaker had called Curtis of Kansas to the chair. Shackleford stopped with a jog.

"Oh, I beg your pardon." And he interrupted himself with the thought that this might not be so pleasing to Curtis. "I—ah—well—I thought—"

Whatever he thought was forever drowned in the roar of laughter that kept the house happy for the next five minutes. No one seemed to enjoy the incident more than Curtis himself.

Pastor Jimboy's Ambition.

William Jimboy, a full-blood Creek and an ordained minister of the Gospel, was in the city Friday visiting the departments. It is said that when Jimboy holds forth under the brush arbor at Springfield, the vilest sinner seeks repentance in sackcloth and ashes at the split-log mourning bench. Physically Jimboy is small, but spiritually he is large. He has a big family, which consists of 15 children, besides himself and wife, probably the largest full-blood family in the country. He says this goes to show he is carrying out the Scriptures. His chief ambition now is to be the possessor of a swell barouche, capable of holding most of the members of his family, such vehicle to be equipped with two rows of shining lights. "This will carry out that portion of Scripture which says, 'Let your light shine,'" says Jimboy.—Muskogee Phoenix.

CASUAL GLIMPSES AROUND THE CITY

Notes About Persons and Events in Which Pittsburghers Are Interested.

The Pittsburgh Alumni chapter of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon Greek letter fraternity celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of "Founders Day" by a banquet at the Fort Pitt hotel last night. About 50 diners were present from Pittsburgh and vicinity, graduates of over 30 colleges from Maine to California. During March every year the Pittsburgh chapter makes merry.

Last night's celebration was marked by an election of officers. In every large city in the country a banquet was held last night by this, the largest Greek letter fraternity, which was organized in 1856 at the University of Alabama.

Dr. R. E. Brenneman, president of the chapter, was unable to officiate as toastmaster, being taken suddenly ill.

Students at a Banquet.

The second annual dinner of the '05 class of the Western University of Pennsylvania banqueted at the Hotel Henry last night. About 20 members were present. The toastmaster, Sylvester R. Willock, proposed the following toasts: "Filtration," which was responded to by J. N. McIntyre; "College Life," R. O. Rall; "Manufacture of Iron and Steel," A. G. Davis; "Art of Housekeeping," Miss B. E. Marshall; "Knockers," C. R. Crow; "Do Class Reunions Pay?" J. H. Thompson. At a business meeting following the banquet William L. Rogaliner, president; Joseph A. Thompson, vice president; John M. Duff, secretary, and Frank F. Cramer, treasurer, were elected for this year.

May Copy Richardson's Work.

Milwaukee, the city of beer, is thinking of erecting a new court house and jail. Henry Wettenweiler and William Kunkle of that city, and friends of Register R. E. Stone, visited him at the court house yesterday and were shown through the building and the new jail. They were much pleased with their inspection and said the jail resembled a penitentiary. Milwaukee has a two-story affair that will not accommodate many more prisoners than the Central station, and its court house could be erected in the yard of Allegheny county's building. It is possible Milwaukee will copy after Richardson's masterpiece.

Former Judge Elliott Rodgers, now general counsel of the Pittsburgh Coal Company, left last night for Atlantic City.

Col. J. M. Schoonmaker, vice president of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad, left early this morning on his private car for New York. He will then journey by easy stages south and will probably visit Jamaica and the West Indies.

Will Pay for the Hall.

To the Editor of The Gazette:

Permit me to tresspass upon a small portion of your valuable space. For some time I have noticed the very interesting discussions in the public prints between Pastor C. T. Russell of Allegheny and others, among them "A Student," "Agnostic," "Ackerman," "Rev. D. Newell," "Mr. [illegible]," "Rev. Dr. Henderson," "Some[illegible]," "All-Truth," etc, etc. Now, the matter is of great importance to many in the city of Pittsburgh, Allegheny and the surrounding county. In fact, I have noticed articles from all over the United States. The principal theme involved is the doctrine of "eternal torment." Now, this question is of interest to evry human being. We all agree to that. I noticed a communication from the United Presbyterian Ministers' association at their weekly meeting Monday morning last. I especially note the words of the Rev. Dr. Henderson, but with all these discussions nothing has been accomplished. No later than this morning in your paper I noticed several more communications and among them one from Pastor C. T. Russell. In this communication Mr. Russell has thrown down the gauntlet and has offered to meet others on the public platform for the discussion of these differences for the public benefit. A special invitation, I note, is given to the United Presbyterian ministers to select their ablest man, and also a special invitation is extended to Rev. D. Newell. This looks to me like a very fair proposition. Surely this would seem to be a good way to get the matter thoroughly before the public. Of course, there is no hall in the two cities that would hold all the people who would like to hear this topic discussed, but those who could not attend could read it in the public prints. Now, the matter of a hall is the next question. In order to make arrangements easier, I will make the following proposition: that the largest hall available may be procured either in Pittsburgh or Allegheny, for a course of three, four, five or six debates, either in the day or evening, to suit parties concerned, for which I will agree to pay the rental.

I hope this will meet the approval of all parties concerned, and especially the public. I hope you will publish this promptly, so that whatever arrangements need be made can be accomplished without delay. Now, the matter of hall rent being settled, I see no good excuse for backing out on either side. Let us have the public debates on these vital subjects as soon as possible.

JOHN G. MESSNER.

ALBANY BATTLE A TAME AFFAIR

Great Crowd Attends Hearing to Hear Prominent Men Argue Against New Laws.

DISCUSS HAMILTON'S RETURN

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

ALBANY, N. Y., March 9.—The joint special legislative insurance investigating committee listened to arguments of insurance presidents, actuaries and agents against some of the most far-reaching provisions of the bills amending the state insurance law and embodying the recommendations of that committee as the results of its investigation of the condition of the life insurance business in this state until near midnight tonight.

The hearing was a disappointment to those who had expected either a bitter onslaught upon the bills or an occasion of sensational utterances. With few exceptions the speeches were of a technical character. The audience which packed the floor and galleries of the assembly was made up of the large delegations of insurance agents from all over the state, of members of the legislature and of newspaper men.

An interesting feature of the hearing was the presence of the three new presidents of the "Big Three" life companies of New York city, Paul Morton, head of the Equitable; Alexander E. Orr, president of the New York Life, and Charles A. Peabody, president of the Mutual Life. All three spoke briefly, President Morton filing a written communication, one of the principal subjects, which was the proposed restrictions upon the investments of life insurance companies. Former Lieutenant Governor Timothy L. Woodruff, president of the Provident Savings Life, marshalled the forces in opposition to the main provisions of the bills and introduced the speakers.

The bulk of the time was taken up by the actuaries, who endeavored by liberal quotations of intricate figures, to show the committee that the acturial deductions on which some of its conclusions were based, were erroneous. All agreed in the assertion that the adoption of the main proposed restrictions upon business investments, commissions and cost of new and renewal business, would work great damage to the companies and probably drive many foreign companies out of the state.

There was little reference to the more sensational disclosures of the insurance business and no opposition to the recommendations designed to stop and prevent corrupt practices, campaign contributions and the like.

President Morton opened the attacks on the bills and W. B. Hornblower of New York summed up at a late hour tonight.

NEW YORK, March 9.—The investigating committee of the New York Life Insurance Company met today. The return of Andrew Hamilton and the proposed suit to be brought against him, was the principal subject of discussion, but no definite plan of procedure looking to the recovery of the moneys expended by Hamilton has yet been formulated. At the conclusion of the meeting the following official statement was issued:

"In view of the fact that the special committee has reported upon the Hamilton matter and the board of trustees of the New York Life Insurance Company has directed a suit to be begun against him, the committee does not feel that it can ask him to come before them, but it has written him a letter saying that if he desires to be heard it would be glad to give him a hearing."

AFTER OHIO SENATORS.

Scrap for Delegates in Weems District Started to Administer Rebuke to Opponents of President.

STEUBENVILLE, O., March 9.—(Special.)—A contest started in the Sixteenth congressional district in advance of the primaries to select delegates to renominate Congressman C. L. Weems, who will have no opposition. The contest is between the administration forces and friends of United States Senators Foraker and Dick. An attempt is on foot to ignore the two senators in the convention resolutions.

Foreseeing that such a contest was probable, Congressman Weems insisted on the people selecting the delegates and thus relieving him. There is a feeling that the senators are not supporting Roosevelt properly. A victory for the administration forces is predicted.

WORKMAN FALLS 40 FEET.

Harry M. Miller, Electrician, Drops from Third Story Window in Penn Avenue.

While erecting an electric sign Harry M. Miller, of Miller & Craig, electricians, 426 Fourth avenue, fell from the third floor of the Groetzinger Carpet Company at 629 Penn avenue at 10:30 o'clock last night and was injured internally. Miller was taken to the Homeopathic hospital.

Miller, with some workmen, was erecting a large electric sign. He was standing on the window ledge of the third floor when he lost his balance and fell to the pavement. He landed on his right side. He was not rendered unconscious by the fall, and said he suffered no physical pain. His right side was paralyzed and it is remarkable he was not killed.

New Castle Plant Sold.

NEW CASTLE, March 9.—The $1,200,000 deal for the purchase of the New Castle Portland Cement plant was completed late this afternoon and announced by Edwin F. Norris, secretary and treasurer. The new purchaser is the Lehigh Portland Cement Company of Allentown, Pa. It will duplicate the local plant with another here. The local plant cost $800,000 and sells at 50 per cent advance.

Grand Jury Has Col. Mann Case.

NEW YORK, March 9.—Consideration of the charge of perjury against Col. William D. Mann, editor of Town Topics, was begun by the grand jury today. The charge grew out of the trial of Norman Hapgood for criminal libel and was based on testimony given by Col. Mann at that trial denying that he was the writer of initials which appeared on a certain letter.

Warren Thomas Not a Candidate.

GIRARD, O., March 9.—(Special.)—Following a report that State Representative Warren Thomas is a candidate against W. Aubrey Thomas for representative from the Nineteenth district, Thomas wired from Columbus today a denial and declares he is for the renomination of Congressman W. Aubrey Thomas.

Pittsburgh Academy Contest.

The sixteenth annual contest of the Emanon and Knickerbocker Literary societies of the Pittsburgh academy, will be held at the Pittsburgh Carnegie music hall on Tuesday evening, March 20. The program will consist of the usual literary performances, selections by the glee club and Gernert's orchestra, and a special drill of the academy cadets and the girls' corps.

Ivory Rings Tempt Wright.

The ivory rings on a new set of harness attracted the attention of Walter Wright of Fisk street, Allegheny, yesterday, as the team of August Wessing, 115 West Park street, was standing in Irwin avenue. Wright is alleged to have cut the lines and bridle to remove the rings and ruined the harness. He was locked up.

Bad Youths Are Punished.

William Fitzpatrick and John Paeto, 17-year-old lads of Allegheny, were sent to the workhouse for 90 days yesterday. They were charged with assaulting and robbing Martin Haney, an aged man, on the night of February 13. They took $228 from the man's clothes and left the city, returning only Wednesday.

Mother and Daughter Die in Fire.

SOMERVILLE, MASS., March 9.—Mrs. Anna Howe, aged 80, and daughter, Miss Ella Howe, aged 40, were burned to death in the destruction by fire of their home here today. When the fire was extinguished the bodies of the two were found in the front hallway burned beyond recognition.

MRS. ARGAST ASKS FOR BIG DAMAGES

Charges Brother-in-Law and Alleged Husband With Conspiracy to Marry Her.

SEQUEL TO ALIENATION SUIT

Nellie Hinton Argast, alleged to be Mrs. Nicholas Roman, entered suit against Nicholas Roman and Emil Besnard, alias Pappas, asking $25,000 damages, charging them with conspiracy in procuring a wedding. The suit is another chapter in the story that was opened on Thursday and led to a street fight in Allegheny, when the woman pulled her husband and brother-in-law Besnard's nose, and she and her companion, Louis Ladas, were arrested on a warrant issued by Justice Campbell of Bellevue.

In the suit, which follows a suit brought by Roman against Ladas for alienation of the woman's affections, Mrs. Argast, as she calls herself, tells the story of her marriage to Joseph Argast and of his death, after which she was said to have married Roman in Chicago. But she alleges Roman and Besnard entered into a conspiracy to bring about her marriage to Roman, and that the latter had promised to pay Besnard, who married Mrs. Argast's sister, $2,000 out of her money. She says she was drugged and taken before a Chicago alderman to be married, but she asserts the marriage did not take place, the certificate shown her subsequently being, she says, fraudulent. Ill from the effects of the drug, she was made to believe in the marriage and the defendant, she declared, obtained some money from her and took more without her consent. When she recovered from her illness she realized that she had not been married and withdrew from Roman's apartments.

Besnard, she alleges, represented that Roman could compel her to live with him and to escape this she left Chicago with Besnard and his wife. The defendants, she declares, got over $2,000 from her through Besnard, and then she suspected a conspiracy and she left Besnard and his wife. Her arrest in Allegheny, she says, was to extort money from her.

Capiases were issued for Roman and Besnard, bail being fixed at $750.

DEMAND FUNERAL HONORS.

Chinese Assert French Should Pay Respects at Burial of Magistrate Who Caused Massacre.

PEKIN, March 9.—The settlement of the responsibility for the massacre of French Catholic and English Protestant missionaries at Nanchang, February 24, promises to be difficult. The Chinese profess to believe that a Catholic priest stabbed the local magistrate, while the foreigners are equally certain that the magistrate committed suicide as a protest against the Catholic demand.

The government is dispatching Taotic Liang, director of railways, to inquire into the case. If his report favors the Christians further trouble is probable.

The inhabitants of Nanchang are still hostile and demand that the French pay funeral honors to the deceased magistrate. The officials of Nanchang protest against the presence of foreign gunboats, fearing that they will provoke hostilities.

SUGGESTS MORE SITES.

Ninth Street and Duquesne Way Among Postoffice Locations Available for Government Property.

WASHINGTON, March 9.—(Special.)—Representative James F. Burke today received from D. P. Black information of three other sites that can be purchased by the government within the limit of $1,000,000 on which to locate the new postoffice building. One is the square just back of the federal building, bounded by Third and Fourth avenues, Grant and Cherry alley. This plot contains only 48,000 square feet, and a site of 60,000 square feet is desired.

Another location is at Ninth street and Duquesne way and still another is bounded by Penn avenue, Fourth street and Duquesne way. Mr. Burke intended to go to Pittsburgh tonight to consult citizens regarding a site, but he has deferred his visit.

USE BLACK HAND METHODS.

Wife of Capitalist is Ordered to Give Money Or Her House Will Be Blown Up.

NEW HAVEN, CONN., March 9.—(Special.)—Threats to frighten her into leaving a considerable sum of money where the writers could get it, have been received by Mrs. Milner, wife of Edward Milner, of Moosup, Conn. Mr. Milner is a capitalist and a prominent director of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad.

Demands came by mail, posted near Danielson, Conn., that a large sum of money be placed on the steps of a school house near the Milner mansion. Detectives have been placed on the case. It said hints were made in the letter that the Milner house would be blown up if money was not given.

Shot and Killed at Target Practice.

GREENSBURG, March 9.—(Special.)—While adjusting a target at a prize shoot for a dressed beef at the farm of Robert Shuey, three miles from Greensburg, this morning, Edward Hegan, 35 years old, was shot through the head by L. P. Wentzell, one of the contestants. He died two hours later. Both men were well known marksmen.

Tyrone Men to Make Fertilizer.

DOVER, DEL., March 9.—Special.)—A certificate of incorporation was filed today for the Stewart Fetrilizer Company of Tyrone, Pa., to manufacture fertilizers and to dispose of the same. Incorporators: Charles B. Stewart, R. A. Gray, Tyrone, Pa.; Charles G. Jones, Milton, Del. Capital stock $30,000.

Finds Monster Skeleton.

BUCYRUS, O., March 9.—(Special.)—While digging gravel from a bank today Martin Taynor unearthed several bones that had belonged to a monster human skeleton. It is thought the skeleton was that of an Indian over seven feet tall. The bones were found 14 feet below the surface.

Board of Trade's Summer Outing.

The Oakland board of trade last evening decided to hold the annual summer outing at Luna park on Wednesday, June 21. This date was chosen in order to give the school children an opportunity to attend before the close of school.

A careful Bible student in this lecture he shows exactly what the Bible teaches and what it does not teach on this subject. He declares, "If the Bible does teach that eternal torture is the fate of all except the saints, it should be preached, thundered—weekly, daily, hourly. If it does not so teach, the fact should be made known and the foul stain dishonoring to the Holy Name removed."

LOGAN PARTY IS FOR GREATER CITY

Good Government Organization of Allegheny Declares for Annexation.

HOT CAMPAIGN FOR CAUSE

The Good Government party of Allegheny, which cast about 10,000 votes for George B. Logan for mayor, has taken up the cause of Greater Pittsburgh. The organization committee of the party held a meeting last night at the Second ward school, Sherman avenue, and determined to keep up the fight for good government by working for the consolidation of Allegheny with Pittsburgh.

The meeting was presided over by Mr. Logan, who made a vigorous speech in behalf of the Greater Pittsburgh. Strong resolutions in favor of the union of the two cities were adopted.

Others to speak in behalf of the Greater Pittsburgh cause were John H. Logan, George L. Cruikshank, William H. Reed, J. W. Robinson, Dr. S. S. Woodburn and A. C. Latimer. T. D. McCloskey was made secretary.

Mr. Robinson said the Greater Pittsburgh was assured, notwithstanding the desperate efforts of Allegheny politicians to defeat it. It was decided to open new headquarters of the party, from which will be conducted an active campaign for Greater Pittsburgh.

The resolutions, which advance reasons for a Greater Pittsburgh, are interesting in view of the objections to annexation in the bill of exceptions filed by ex-Gov. Stone in court a few days ago. The resolutions contain a strong disapproval of the plan of the Allegheny politicians to appropriate $5,000 of the taxpayers' money to fight consolidation. The resolutions adopted are as follows:

Whereas, The cities of Pittsburgh and Allegheny are one community, many citizens live in one and do business in the other, one government would not only be more economical, but also efficient, because one set of officials deal with the questions which concern both cities, and,

Whereas, The Pittsburgh downtown property has increased in value so much that ordinary warehouse and light manufacturing plants cannot pay the rents, the mere prospect of consolidation has produced a buying boom in Allegheny of property suitable for these purposes. Consolidation will hasten and enlarge the movement, and the occupancy of the First and Fourth wards with this class of buildings and will go far toward driving out the present miserable residents; and,

Whereas, Consolidation will bring free bridges more quickly than it could be effected under present conditions, this means great saving to business houses and the abolition of a tax on every man who uses the bridges each day in the year; and,

Whereas, The mayor of Pittsburgh will become the mayor of the whole community and have the right to dictate appointments to the deputy mayor for the Allegheny district. The mayor-elect of Pittsburgh was elected by a non-partisan vote and is a man of the character we wanted. Our party can, therefore, secure by consolidation the same benefits we tried for and failed to obtain in our recent campaign. Now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the organization committee of the Good Government party accept the recommendation of the executive committee indorsing the Greater Pittsburgh movement and accept it as their policy.

Whereas, There is a report that a resolution is to be introduced in councils appropriating $5,000 to fight Greater Pittsburgh,

Resolved, That we, as a party, protest against any such action and call upon all councilmen to vote against it.

PASSING OF ARSENAL.

Last Soldier Is Ordered Away from the Historic Landmark in Lawrenceville.

The Allegheny arsenal, which was erected in 1814, is now a thing of the past, but as long as the old weather-worn building stands memories will cling to its ivy-hidden stones. The old building has been transferred to the quartermaster's department of the army, and the detail of soldiers from Company C, the old legation guard at Pekin, China, left at the arsenal as a special guard, will shortly join the company at Fort Porter, New York.

It was through both the upper and lower arsenal grounds that Gen. George Washington passed on his visit to Queen Aliquippa, after spending the night on Wainwright's Island, being held up by the floating ice in the Allegheny river. The site of the arsenal was sold to the United States government by the father of Stephen Foster, the song writer.

OFFICERS GUARD HOUSE.

Ex-Mayor Black's Home Object of Curiosity Since "Black Hand" Threat to Blow It Up.

The notoriety growing out of the "Black Hand" letters received by ex-Mayor Black of McKeesport is causing him and his family much unpleasantness. Yesterday his house in Ninth avenue was inspected by hundreds who had heard of the letters and the threats to blow up the building if Dr. Black failed to deposit $3,000 in the stump of a tree. At noon and after school hours yesterday pupils congregated about the house until dispersed by special police.

It will be a hard matter for anyone to blow up the house, as officers are on duty there night and day. The postoffice department is making an investigation of both letters received by Dr. Black.

HENDERSON IS HELD.

His Bail Is Fixed at $5,000 Pending Application for Requisition on Governors.

NEW YORK, March 9.—(Special.)—Charles A. Henderson, former vice president of the defunct International mercantile agency, who was arrested last night, was held in $5,000 to await further action on the part of the governors of New York and West Virginia.

Three indictments have been found by the grand jury in Wheeling, W. Va., against Henderson. The complainant is William P. Hubbard, a lawyer of West Virginia, who charges Henderson with swindling in the sale of a large block of the Mercantile agency's stock.

Workman Whirled to Death.

CONNELLSVILLE, PA., March 9.—(Special.)—William Mann, aged 18, met his death at Dunbar today while working in the plant of the Dunbar Furnace Company. His clothing caught on a flywheel and he was whirled through the air at lightning speed. When the machinery was stopped Mann was dead.

TRI-STATE NEWS NOTES.

UNIONTOWN—Mrs. Rose Brooks of McKeesport has applied for a divorce from her husband, Dr. Henry P. Brooks, former principal of the Uniontown schools, recently convicted of embezzlement and now in jail.

YOUNGSTOWN—Carrie Williams, arrested by the police, claims that she had $9,000, and that the police took it from her. She is said to be an opium smoker.

MARION, O.—Because President Roosevelt sent congratulations and his photograph to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Foster of Hazlett, Mich., who have 15 children, Mr. and Mrs. John Hurr, who live west of town, had their pictures taken for the first time today and will send one to the President. The Marion county family is composed of 14 boys. One child died in infancy. The mother is 45 and the father 50. The oldest child is 18.

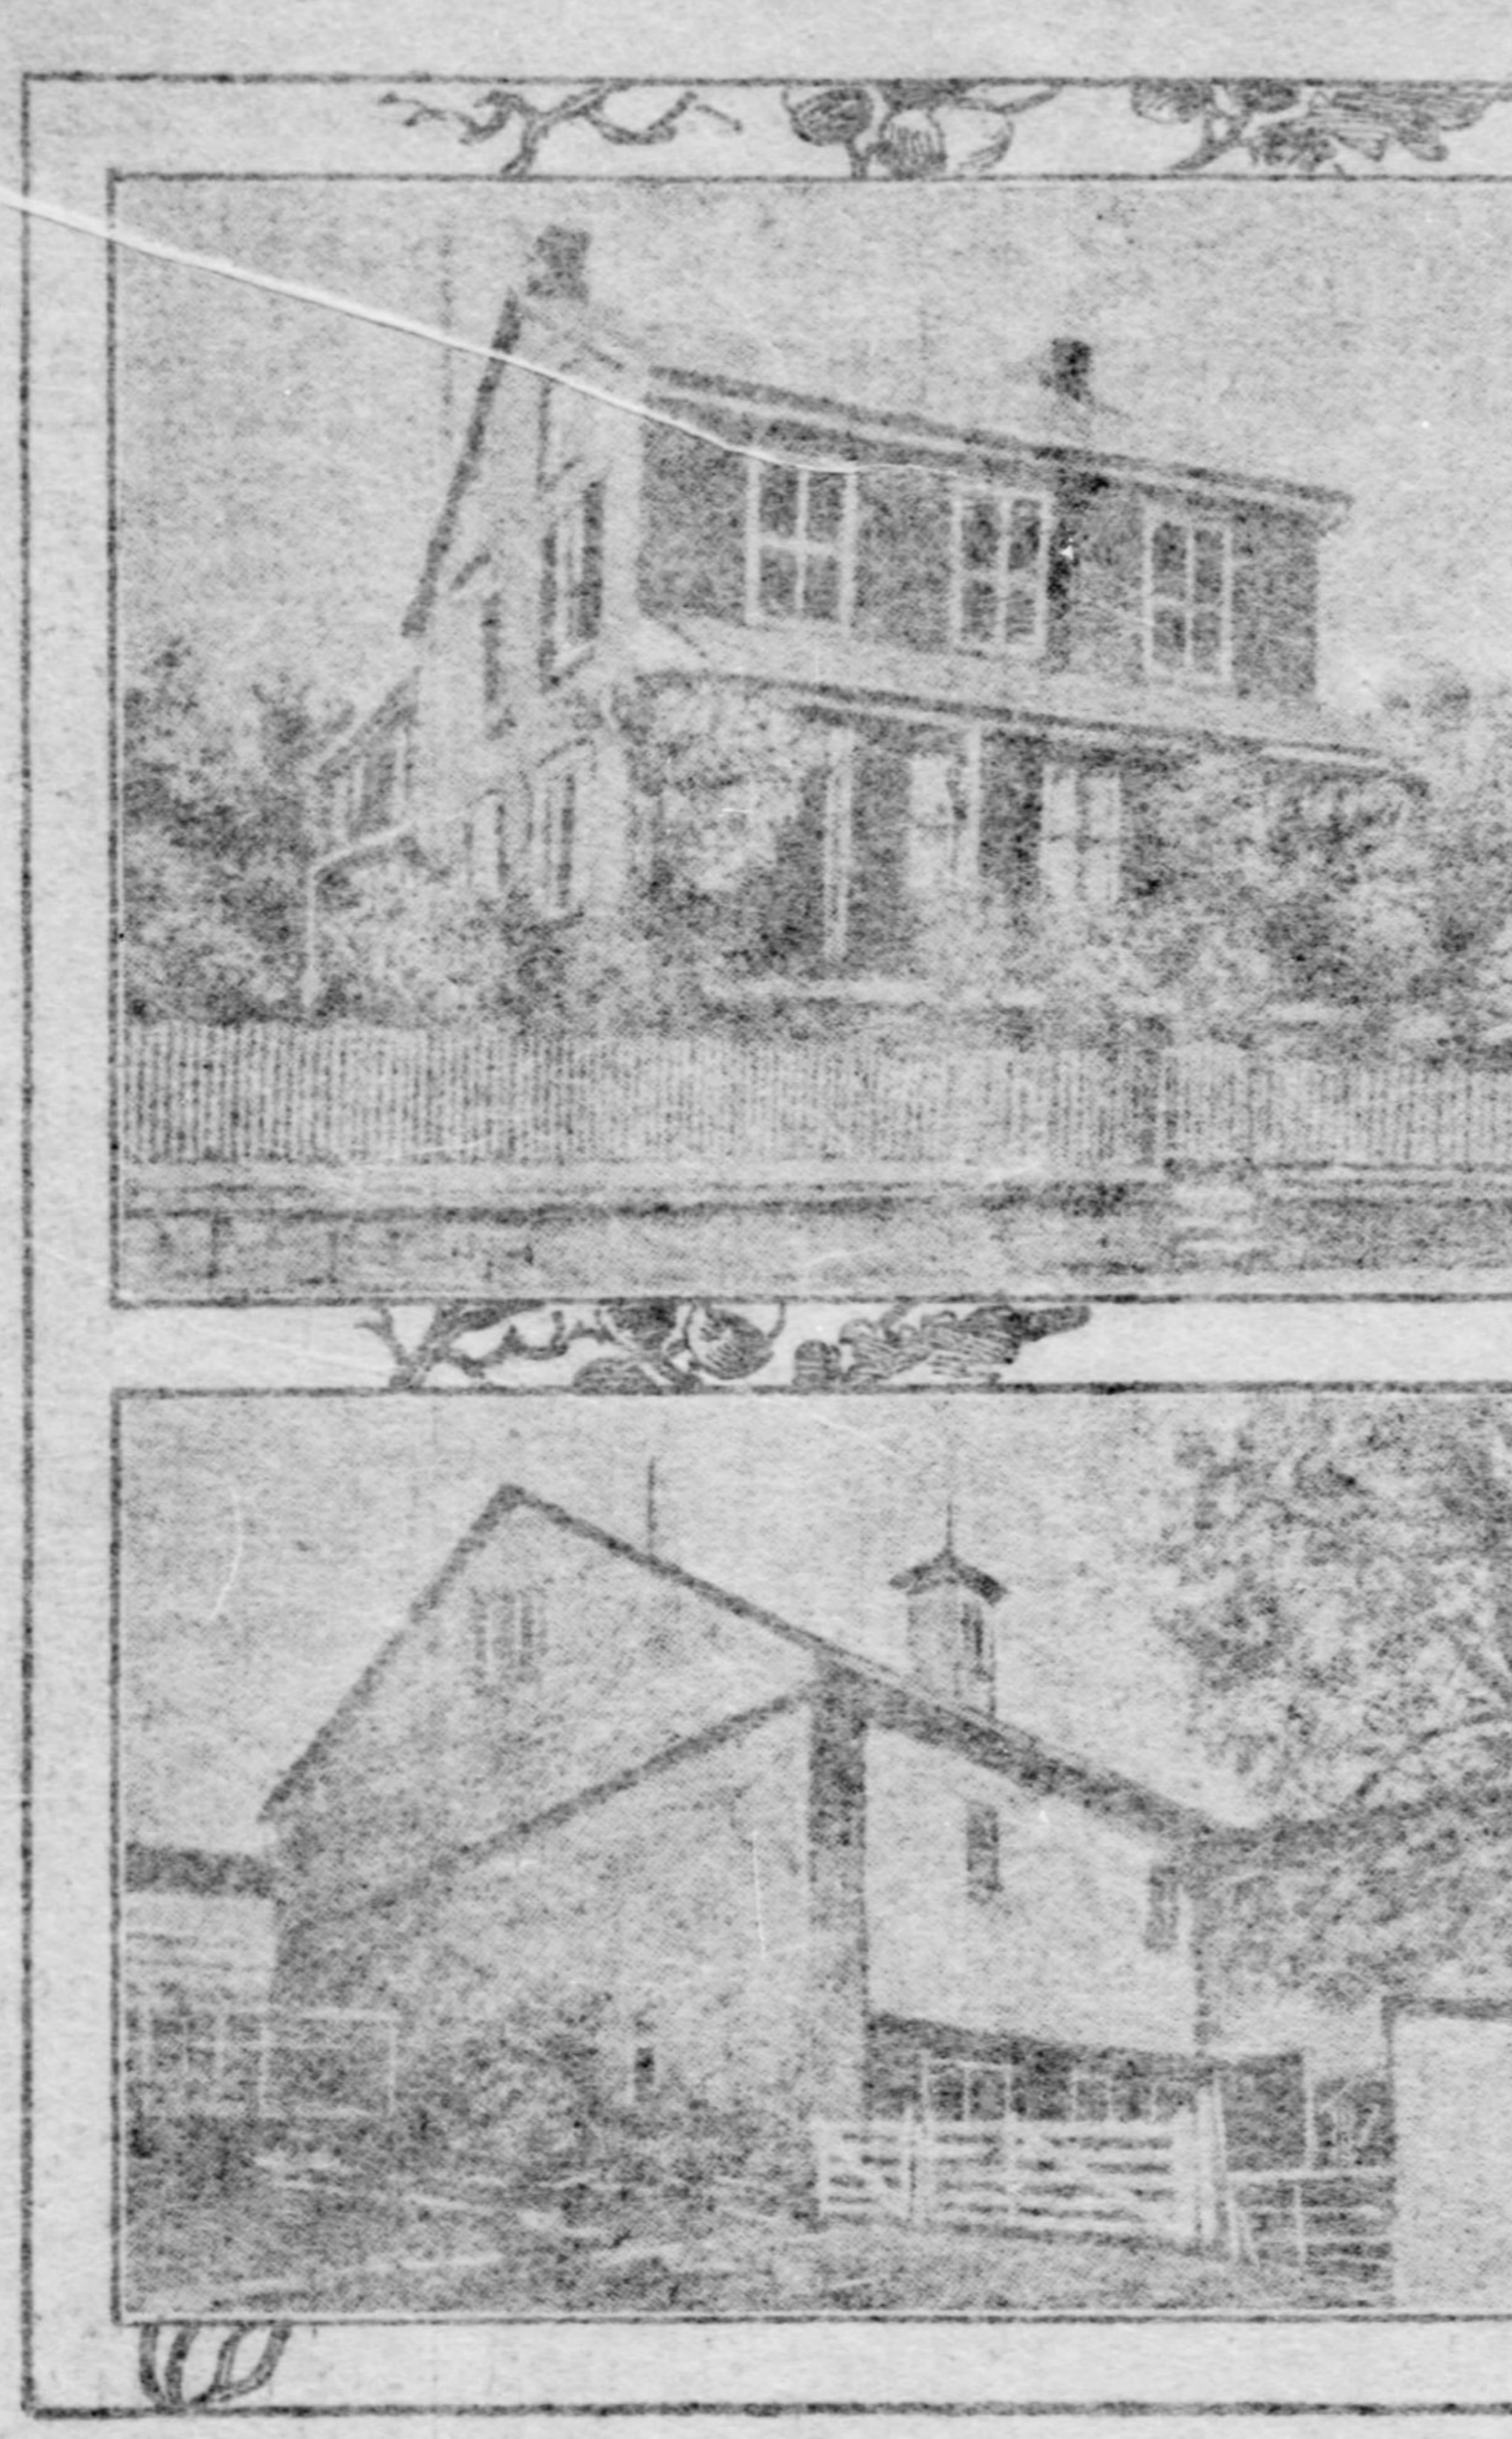
LATROBE—As the result of a free-for-all fight following an altercation between Peter Sigar and two of his employes, Siger is in a critical condition at his home. The front of his skull was battered in by a brick. According to Wilbur Campbell, who with Samuel McDonald, was arrested, they and Siger had been drinking in the latter's barn.

ALTOONA—The city and borough superintendents holding their annual state convention here elected by acclamation these officers: President, J. B. Ritchey of McKeesport; vice president, H. A. Spade of Minersville; secretary, C. F. Hoban of Dunmore; treasurer, Ira Shipman of Sunbury; executive committee, F. E. Downes of Harrisburg, Charles Lose of Williamsport, and R. T. Adams of Lebanon.

GREENSBURG—Twenty victims of the wreck at Radebaugh are still at the Westmoreland hospital. Three amputations have been performed. The bodies of the three dead will be buried at the expense of the American Pipe Manufacturing Company.

NEW MARTISVILLE—Mrs. Sadie Hovis was arrested and taken to Wheeling on the charge of receiving mail that did not belong to her. Lester Hance, employed at Washington, Pa., sent his mother a package containing $15. The address not being legible the postoffice clerk delivered the package to her.

VIEWS OF MACCABEES' FARM



The Old Farmhouse and the Barn.

MACCABEES BUY HOME FOR INFIRM MEMBERS

Fraternal Order Secures a Title to a Typical Berks County Farm as Refuge for Old.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

READING, PA., March 9.—S. S. Foutz, supervising deputy of the Knights of the Maccabees of Eastern Pennsylvania, with headquarters in Reading, has purchased the Adam Barn farm in Spring township for the Maccabee Home association.

The purchase of this farm is of interest to the people of all states where the Maccabees are established. It is the outgrowth of a plan formulated some years ago by the Pennsylvania great camp executive board for the establishment of a home for aged and unfortunate members of the order.

The farm just purchased is beautifully situated along the Wyomissing creek. It comprises 92 acres in Berks county's best soil, and is in a high state of cultivation. There is, in one corner of the farm, a stonequarry which has been in operation for 27 years at an average royalty to the farm of $500 per annum.

The total price paid for the farm was $12,258.90. A membership fee of $1 from each member of the Knights and Ladies of the Maccabees will mean more than $50,000 of revenue for the home at the beginning. In addition to this purchase, Mr. Foutz purchased a 17-acre truck farm adjoining for $2,750. Plans are now being prepared to erect an up-to-date home on the premises. Operations will begin soon.

There are several farmhouses, an old barn, and other buildings, besides a large and well-kept orchard on the premises. Reading Tent of the Maccabees is the largest in the state, having a membership of more than 1,300. It was organized but four years ago.

WILL NOT TIE HANDS.

Washington and Allegheny County Commissioners Confer About the Monongahela City Bridge.

There is a hitch in the proceedings in the freeing of the Williamsport bridge, connecting Monongahela City and Monongahela station. Yesterday Commissioners Wylie and Hoffman and Solicitor Brownson of Washington county, Solicitor McClay and a number of Monongahela City citizens, and Attorneys Jarvis & McClung, representing the bridge company, conferred with the Allegheny county commissioners.

The board of viewers awarded the bridge company $125,000 for its property. The price is considered excessive by both Allegheny and Washington counties, and exceptions have been filed. Pending a decision, the courts of Allegheny and Washington counties issued an order to the bridge company to turn its property over to the commissioners. The company wants the commissioners to make a demand for the bridge. The commissioners have been advised that such action would prevent any attempt to secure a revocation of the court's order, should such steps be necessary in the future. It was decided to arrange for the mandamusing of the commissioners of the two counties to accept the bridge. This will not act as a bar to subsequent proceedings. It is possible that the act under which this bridge was freed may be declared unconstitutional.

HUNTING DOGS LEAD THEIR MASTER TO BODY

Are Attracted by Scent of Blood and Trail Takes Them to Florence Gold's Body.

The scent of blood attracted two hunting dogs to the spot where the body of Florence Gold was lying in a field of the Sample farm, near Millvale, yesterday morning. The dogs drew their master, Michael Ulrich of Millvale, to the body by their barking. Justice of the Peace Gardner of Millvale examined the body and found two bullet wounds in the right temple, inflicted by a revolver lying at the side of the dead man. Gold was 54 years of age, a broom maker by trade, and for many years a constable of Shaler township. He is supposed to have committed suicide while suffering from dementia.

John Tumules of 88 South Twelfth street, a laborer at the Jones & Laughlin's mills, was struck by an iron hook suspended from a traveling crane, yesterday afternoon. He was removed to St. Joseph's hospital, where he died at 7:45 o'clock, from a fracture of the skull.

Petrie Mercampo of the West End, while working yesterday on the Bingham tunnel of the Wabash railroad, was struck by a boulder. He was removed to the Homeopathic hospital, where he died at 5 o'clock, from a fracture of the skull.

Adolph W. Drolling, aged 58, of 504 North avenue, died from a fractured skull at McKees Rocks hospital yesterday afternoon. During the morning he fell 12 feet from a ladder, while working as foreman of the boiler house of the American Steel and Wire Company on Neville Island.

J. M. Hamilton, aged 32, of Blairsville, a conductor on the West Penn railroad, died at the Allegheny General hospital yesterday from injuries received by falling from his train at Hite station, early yesterday morning.

Michael Scanlon of 116 Park way, Allegheny, was found dead at the rear of the residence of James Corbett, 205 Craig street, Allegheny, yesterday morning. Death was caused by heart disease.

Archbishop O'Brien Is Dead.

HALIFAX, N. S., March 9.—Archbishop O'Brien of the Roman Catholic archdiocese of Nova Scotia, Prince Edward Island and Bermuda, died suddenly here tonight.

WASHINGTON NEWS NOTES.

The house committee on the election of president, vice president and representatives in congress has agreed to make a favorable report on a bill by Representative Norris of Nebraska providing for the extending of the term of member of congress to four years and for the election of senators by popular vote.

A motion for the consideration of the amended Ransdell anti-pass bill by the house committee on judiciary resulted in a tie vote, and the measure probably will be considered later by the committee in connection with other anti-pass bills. The Ransdell bill forbids all federal officers to accept railway, steamship and Pullman passes or franks issued by telephone, telegraph or express companies.

Dr. Gabiras Guzman, recently appointed charge d'affaires of Venezuela to succeed Senor N. Velda Gotticoa, was presented formally to President Roosevelt yesterday afternoon. He also brought to the President the personal expression of friendship of President Castro, who says Venezuela is willing that its differences with France be given to a court of arbitration.

WANT PRIMARIES ON EARLY DATE

Congressmen Ask Chairman Ford to Have Nominating Election Held in June.

RULES FIX TIME IN SEPTEMBER

The Allegheny county congressmen have requested Chairman Ford of the Republican county committee to bring the nominating primaries forward from the second Saturday of September to the first Saturday in June. The proposition will probably be submitted to the committee at its meeting on either March 17 or 24.

The rules fix the second Saturday of September for the date. This year it will be necessary to change them in order to permit of the election of state delegates in time for the state convention, June 6. This election will probably be ordered for May 26. If the nominations are brought forward they will be made on the same date. By holding one primary the expense will not be nearly so great.

The new primary election act will be in force next year, and changes will have to be made in the rules. For this reason there is considerable disposition to allow the nominating primaries to stand for September. Frequent changes in the rules cause much confusion. As the next legislature will probably amend the primary act, it is too soon to make the rules conform to the law.

The congressmen would like to get the nominations out of the way as soon as possible. They say September primaries will compel them to devote the entire summer to politics. If the nominations are made in May the congressmen will be busy with their duties in Washington. One of the drawbacks to the September primaries is that county committeemen for the country districts are not elected until then, and the time for the making of district organizations is not sufficient. In the three cities the committeemen are elected in June. May primaries would give the candidates about 60 days to make a canvass.

The Death Roll.

Mrs. John Guffey.

Mrs. Barbetta Guffey, widow of John Guffey, former sheriff of Westmoreland county, died yesterday at her residence, 5200 Liberty avenue. She was a descendant of the Cook and Hough families, which were among the earliest settlers in Westmoreland and Fayette counties, and a lineal descendant of Col. Edward Cook. Mrs. Guffey has been a lifelong member of the Presbyterian denomination, and during her residence in Pittsburgh had been actively connected with the Fourth Presbyterian church. She leaves five children, as follows: Mrs. Carroll Miller and Miss Pauletta Guffey, both residing in Osaka, Japan; Miss Ida Guffey, Alexander S. Guffey, with the Peoples Coal Company, and Joseph F. Guffey, general manager of the Philadelphia Company, all residing in this city. Funeral services will be held at Mrs. Guffey's late residence this afternoon at 4 o'clock and interment will be made at West Newton, Pa., tomorrow.

Mrs. Wilimina Youngling.

Mrs. Wilimina Youngling, aged 74, died Thursday at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Samuel Kirkland, Mill and Neptune streets, West End. She was born in Germany, but settled in the West End 50 years ago. She was the widow of a former worker in Painter's mill. Mrs. Youngling was a member of the German Evangelical church, and was one of the original members of the Steuben Street church. One daughter, Mrs. Kirkland, and one son, W. H. Youngling, a Crafton grocer, survive.

William Decker.

William Decker, aged 61, died Thursday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Joseph G. Taylor, Beaver avenue, Emsworth. He was for many years engaged in the wholesale produce business in Allegheny. Besides Mrs. Taylor, he leaves two sons, William, who succeeded his father in the produce business, and James.

THOUSANDS WERE THERE

Opening of May's East End Drug Store Pleased the People Yesterday.

Over 25,000 persons visited the May drug stores yesterday. The larger number of these attended the opening of the firm's new store at 6005 Penn avenue, near Highland avenue.

It is safe to say that no other drug store anywhere ever before contained so many people at one time. In fact, there were so many customers at all hours, day and evening, that it was impossible to wait upon all promptly. The firm had a large force of clerks on hand, but the rush of business was so great that even ten times as many could not have accommodated the crowds.

The opening at the downtown store also was eminently successful. The list of bargains prepared for both establishments attracted people from far and near.

The location of the new store in the East End is so central as to be easily accessible to all who live in that part of the city. And it is well known that the East End has long needed such an establishment. Not only are drug stores of the ordinary sort incomplete, but their stocks are seldom fresh and prices, in many instances, are a hundred per cent higher than they should be.

It is pertinent to call attention to the efficient corps of buyers and salespeople in charge of the East End branch. They are experts in their respective lines. Prescriptions will be filled only by registered pharmacists.

An idea of May's cut prices may be gained from the fact that a toothbrush that costs 25c at an ordinary drug store costs 10c at May's. And the goods you want are always in stock. You can depend on that. You are not subjected to vexatious delays. Furthermore, May's facilities for quick delivery of all purchases are unsurpassed and the telephone system puts you in instant touch with any department with which you may wish to place an order.

Prices and goods are exactly the same as at the firm's downtown stores.

A Weak Heart

Seldom gets strong again without help. Awake or asleep, it never stops, and consequently has no period of rest or relaxation in which to regain lost vigor. You should avoid exertion, excitement and worry as much as possible, to relax the strain, and take Dr. Miles' Heart Cure, which is a heart tonic, to strengthen and restore vigor to the heart nerves and muscles. The symptoms of a weak heart are shortness of breath, palpitation, feeble or too rapid pulse, hungry spells, hot flashes, dizziness, smothering spells, pain in heart or side, etc.

"I had been treated for heart disease by different physicians without any improvement. Finally my doctor informed me that there was little hope of my ever being able to do a day's work again. About that time a gentleman called upon me, and said, 'I heard of your condition, and have come to tell you that Dr. Miles' Heart Cure saved my life, and I want you to try it.' I did so, and after a week or so I went to my physician and told him I had been taking Dr. Miles' Heart Cure. He examined me and said, 'God bless Miles' Heart Cure, it has made you better in a few days than I ever expected to see you again.' I am now well, having fully regained my health by the use of this remedy."

Books and Bookmen

By George Seibel

THE important book of the week has been Stephen Phillips' "Nero," published by the Macmillan Company. There are a dozen or more Nero dramas, the subject having tempted many poets; but Mr. Phillips is evidently undeterred by such considerations, as he showed when he wrote "Paolo and Francesca," which is about the fifty-seventh play on that theme, and as he has more recently shown by declaring his intention of writing a "Faust" drama. Perhaps he will produce another "Hamlet," too, some day.

Miss Bertha Runkle is "Miss" Runkle no more, except on the title-page of her new novel, "The Truth About Tolna," published by the Century Company. Will it make such a stir as "The Helmet of Navarre" did? Hardly!

Another Byron novel is out. "The Maid of Athens," by Miss Lafayette McLaws, published by Little, Brown & Co., makes the fifth or sixth story dealing with George Gordon.

Two other works of fiction deserve note: Frederic Remington's "Way of an Indian," published by the Macmillan Company, and Morley Roberts' "Idlers," published by L. C. Page & Co. A new Crockett book also has appeared—"Fishers of Men," published by D. Appleton & Co.; while two women authors of rising fame, Anna Chapin Ray and Anne Douglas Sedgwick, are represented by new novels—the first by "Hearts and Creeds," published by Little, Brown & Co., the second by "The Shadow of Life," issued by the Century Co.

Only two books of more solid substance are to be chronicled: "The Declaration of Independence, Its History," by John H. Hazelton, issued by Dodd, Mead & Co., and a "Life of John Wesley," by C. T. Winchester, issued by the Macmillan Company.

The centenary of the birth of Elizabeth Barrett Browning occurred this week, but passed by almost unnoticed.

PHILLPOTTS' NEW NOVEL.

The Portreeve. By Eden Phillpotts. New York: The Macmillan Company. Pittsburgh: J. R. Weldin & Co. and Kaufmann's. 452 pages. Price, $1.50.

SINCE THOMAS HARDY has given up writing novels, Eden Phillpotts is the most commanding figure among English novelists. Of course, there is George Meredith, but he belongs to the past; and there is George Moore, but he is a French novelist, rather than English; there is Maurice Hewlett, but he is a poet and painter, whereas the modern novelist is chary of high notes or flaming colors; there are Mrs. Humphry Ward and many others, including Kipling himself, but all these have suffered from what Kipling called "the damnation of the check-book." Eden Phillpotts' evolution has been the other way. At first he was styled a disciple of Blackmore. This was partly due to his friendship with the author of "Lorna Doone," and partly to the fact that his novels, up to "The American Prisoner," had been mainly written along conventional lines, with due regard to the young person and the happy ending.

Then he wrote "The Secret Woman," which was approached by no other novel of last year except Jack London's "Sea Wolf," and surpassed even this in its artistic consistency and sustained power. "The Secret Woman" was a masterpiece equal to any of Hardy's. And Mr. Phillpotts' new novel, "The Portreeve," falls but little short of that high pinnacle. These two books would entitle their author to rank with Crabbe, as "Nature's sternest painter, yet the best." We find in them every quality that distinguishes Hardy—a profound feeling for nature, almost religious; an inexorable view of life and destiny, almost fatalistic; a scientific spirit akin to George Eliot's and a spirituality akin to Hawthorne's; and in addition to these a humor which, like Hardy's, can be compared only with Shakespeare. Sincerity, too, is there—the sincerity that breathes life into art, and makes Millet's cloddish peasants more vital and interesting than Alma Tadema's graceful Greeks.

"The Portreeve"—hapless title which suggests nothing—is the story of a man successful in life, deeply religious, highly esteemed, happy and self-satisfied, who is driven by destiny into ruin and despair, to "curse God and die." It is here, at this tragic culmination, that the affinity with Hardy is revealed most startlingly. "That was my God's merry game," cried Dodd Wolverstan in his mad rage. "He's not blind nor deaf though I said he was . . . He's heard all . . . seen all . . . laughed at all." Does not that remind one of the Aeschylean ending of Hardy's best-known book: "Justice was done, and the President of the Immortals had ended his sport with Tess."

The degeneration of Dodd Wolverstan—here is the bitter irony of the book—is due to no tragic fault in himself; in fact it is rather due to the depth and inflexibility of his character. Goethe's "Song of the Parcae" has seldom been illustrated so potently. We see the Portreeve happy and self-satisfied, in love with a beautiful woman who loves him. But she is loved by another man with a fierce love, and the Portreeve is loved by another woman with a fierce love. Chance, or fate, leads these kindred souls together and they plot to achieve their desires. The plot succeeds. An old scandal revived brings about the separation of Dodd and Ilet; another daring move hinders their reconciliation and brings about Ilet's marriage to the other man. The woman who wanted Dodd goes patiently to work to catch him—just like a Bernard Shaw heroine—but at the very moment when she has him in her snare, a messenger arrives with news of an accident to Ilet's husband. Dodd hurries to the dying man's bedside, and never renews his show of love for the woman who had dared and done so much to win him. When, after a year's lapse, he marries the widow, the outcome is plain to the reader. "Hell hath no fury like a woman scorned," and Primrose Hern, with her reptilian patience, her dauntless daring and resources, sets about deliberately to ruin the man she once loved.

C. G. SCHILLINGS,
Author of "Flashlights in the Jungle."

Byron's curse in "Marino Faliero," Timon's anathema upon the Athenians, are not more marrow-freezing than the hate put into simple words by this woman:

> "Let his cup be full before I empty it; let his joy wax before I make it wane; let his hopes rise, as high as heaven, before I bury them in dust and ashes. My brain shall plan it; my hands shall do it. 'Tis worse to have and to lose—as I have—than never to have at all. Let him have all—full measure—and lose all. I'll poison his joy in life and his trust in man. I'll go deeper yet and tear the religion out of him! Even that I'll do—till he's stranded, naked, ruined—a byword for gypsies and road-menders."

Her revenge is glutted. Herodias with the head of John the Baptist, Fulvia thrusting pins through the silenced tongue of Cicero, seem less inhuman—but they had less provocation, from the woman's standpoint. To many, such merciless and unrelenting hatred as Primrose's will seem incredible in any sane woman, but history and psychology are on Mr. Phillpotts' side, quite apart from the fact that he nowhere affirms Primrose to be sane. She is just such a monster as Roman history, Lombroso and Schopenhauer have exhibited again and again. Woman, who is capable of the deepest devotion, is also capable of the most hellish hate.

A curious psychological law, however, operates to win the reader's sympathy for Primrose, rather than for her victim. We pity her, for her cause is just like Shylock's. We admire her, for her courage is dauntless like that of Milton's Lucifer. Compared with her Wolverstan is a canting fool. And a fool cannot expect sympathy or admiration, not even a pious fool. Had Wolverstan married Primrose and let Ilet go, he would have got better than he deserved. As it is, poetic justice is not violated, even by the downfall of the righteous, and in the triumph of evil.

Aside from Primrose, there is but one admirable character in the book. That is, but one admirable character, though there are many admirable character studies. This one also is an embodiment of traditional evil—Dicky Barkell the freethinker. In a world ruled by blind destiny and blundering chance, these two are the only ones that see clearly and live consistently, Dicky Barkell in the passive and Primrose in the active mood. Barkell's philosophy is a wonderful mosaic of Mr. Phillpotts' genius, unless indeed he was intimately familiar with the secularist propaganda of the late George Jacob Holyoake. Excepting by Zangwill in "The Big Bow Mystery," the English secularist has never been better portrayed.

Ilet Yelland rouses sympathy and admiration as little as Dodd Wolverstan. In fact, this novel seems to have been written to show that good works are not sufficient unto salvation. The President of the Immortals cannot abide a fool in court. Maurice Hewlett pictured one for us, but generously provided a woman to save him. Mr. Phillpotts pictures a fool for us, and gives him a fool for a wife, to make his destruction certain.

Though it runs counter to milk-and-mush ethics, this is in accord with natural law. And of that Mr. Phillpotts is the evangel. In spite of his predilection for the Messenger of the Greek drama, for chance meetings and fatal mistakes, Mr. Phillpotts is as materialistic in his view of causality as Hardy—or Huxley. So relentless is his logic that there is no escape. As soon as Dodd Wolverstan lays his hunting crop across Abel Pierce's cheek, his doom in inevitably marked out, even to the griding of the mill machinery when he is swept into the darkness. "So Primrose had seen a spider drop from a wall when tapped with a shoe."

EDEN PHILLPOTTS.
Author of "The Portreve."

There are many aspects of the novel one is tempted to discuss. For instance, its pictures of nature are not only magnificent in outline, color and movement, but they blend with the human drama in a way that, aside from Hardy, only Charlotte Bronte has achieved. The earth beneath and the clouds above seem to be actors in the play. There is also the gossip of the country-folk, with its frank coarseness and homely philosophy. The drift, the christening party and the agricultural show, are alike rich in their revelations of human nature, and in their Vereschagin-like pictures of moving masses. There are many things to praise and admire, but may they not all be summed up in one verdict.

Here is a novel with red blood, with a philosophy of life behind it, with no lure of royalties before it—a novel indigenous and virile, neither blinking nor wincing, elemental and compulsive—it does not tiptoe or whisper, it does not strive to please, it simply tells the truth. While not as great a book as "The Secret Woman," it is of the same enduring stuff, and it assures Mr. Phillpotts' place among the authors that are not merely of today.

WILD ANIMALS AT HOME.

Flashlights in the Jungle. By C. G. Schillings. New York: Doubleday, Page & Co. Pittsburgh: J. R. Weldin & Co. and Kaufmann Bros. 782 pages, illustrated. Price, $3.80.

The nature books published within the past few years have shown the growth of that scientific spirit which is utterly lacking in such old works as, for example, Goldsmith's "Animated Nature," but in no respect do these modern publications differ more markedly from their predecessors than in the matter of illustrations. Photography has only lately been taken into the service of zoology; even such valuable and standard works as Brehm's "Tierleben," with its admirable color printing, present the animals idealized as some artist has seen them, just like the fiercely glaring tigers and majestic lions in Wood's old Natural History. But photography has come to stay in this field, and since its introduction no more remarkable work has been done with the naturalist's camera than Herr Schillings did in the wilds of Equatorial Africa. Dr. Ludwig Heck, speaking of the German edition, calls these photographs "Naturaurkunden"—natural documents, as it were, of the scenes from wild life therein depicted. And the fact that they are absolutely free from "retouching" of any kind will be held to justify him in the use of that term.

The pictures may be classified as (1) ordinary photographs taken by daylight at varying ranges; (2) those taken with a tele-photo lens; (3) those taken at night time by flashlight. Here are pictures of flamingoes and vultures on the wing, lions and tigers rending their prey, hippopotamuses at home and rhinoceroses bathing, one of a lioness about to spring on a donkey, one of a spotted hyena making for a goat—over 300 of such illustrations, in fact, depicting the life of wild animals at intimately close range.

Aside from the marvelous pictures secured by his camera, Dr. Schillings has some remarkable hunting adventures to relate, and makes some interesting additions to animal psychology. For example, he declares that the rhinoceros, the most ungainly and uncouth of the denizens of the jungle, is more sensitive than any other animal. He illustrates it with the story of a young African rhinoceros which he succeeded in bringing alive to Europe—a feat which had not been accomplished in 20 years. He had killed the mother and replaced her by a she-goat. After a few days the young "rhino" made such friends with her without being suckled by her, that he followed her about everywhere, and even now, in captivity, is not to be parted from her and the kid which she has since produced. The massive young rhinoceros consorting with those two East African goats is now a curious sight in the Berlin zoological gardens on a Sunday. You may hear fathers remark: "Look at the rhinoceros and the poor little goats. Isn't it sad! He will eat them up." Dr. Schillings says that it doesn't enter the good people's heads that an unselfish feeling of friendship and a crying need of companionship can find a place in the heart of this uncouth creature of the wilderness.

THE WORLD OF THE MONGOLS.

The Reshaping of the Far East. By B. L. Putnam Weale. New York: The Macmillan Company. Pittsburgh: J. R. Weldin & Co. and Kaufmann's. Two volumes, illustrated, 548 and 535 pages. Price, $6.00.

"Manchu and Muscovite" gave Mr. Weale high rank as a political prophet of the Furthest East. So, at a time when trouble may be again fermenting among the Mongolian races, Mr. Weale's book on the changed conditions and outlook since the Russo-Japanese war deserves careful consideration. It will be enlightening to all; to many it will be quite startling. A comprehensive knowledge of the races and history he is dealing with and a clear-sighted view of possible complications give weight and authority to his utterances, and some of these, especially those on "China Arming," should prove disconcerting to people who say there is no yellow peril.

Mr. Weale gives some striking accounts of the readiness with which China could drive out or exterminate all foreigners, and of the determination that is behind the anti-foreign feeling well-nigh universal among Chinamen. He goes on: "When the empress dowager dies or is forced into retirement, as must shortly happen; when the old generals are bought off, and when the country's finances are in a more healthy condition—then the number of troops ready to take the field will increase with astonishing rapidity. In any case in 1906 there will be 100,000 well-drilled and well-organized men and another 200,000 partially reorganized standing behind them. By 1909 these figures will have doubled, whilst in the dim background will lurk half a million other men, perhaps untrained, but every one of them possessing modern rifles and plenty of good ammunition. The wholesale re-armament and reorganization of the Chinese army has been at last openly decided on and admitted by every high official as the only course which will free China of the dangers which surround her."

His view of the missionary problem is also interesting and unconventional. "That China will ever be Christian in the ordinary sense of the word," he says, "is a vain dream, but that Protestant missions, if they awaken to a proper sense of their responsibilities, can exert an enormous influence, and saturate the whole country with Anglo-Saxon ideals, is quite certain."

The European concert, he says, "has long ago ceased to be a serious quantity. The Chinese government, saturated in diplomacy since its earliest days, well understands this, and is now playing off one power against another with greater and greater success."

Of our exclusion act he says that "it will take all the adroitness of the new men on the spot to convince the Chinese government that you can love, and yet not wish to embrace, every son of a nation now numbering 432,000,000 souls."

MORE OF THE RACE PROBLEM.

The Storm Signal. By Gustave F. Mertins. Indianapolis: Bobbs-Merrill Company. Pittsburgh: J. R. Weldin & Co., and Kaufmann's. 325 pages, illustrated. Price, $1.50.

It would be a blessing if somebody solved the race problem; there would be no more novels written about it. Mr. Mertins' book ends with the usual armed uprising of "black fiends," which the story aims to depict as inevitable. The negro's love of mystery, which finds expression in the mummery and flummery of secret societies, is the chief ingredient of the plot. How the "Brotherhood of the Letter L" becomes the agency of a bloody race war is portrayed convincingly and dramatically. No fault can be found with Mr. Mertins' local color; the dialect and all the minor phases of racial psychology are admirably managed. He is less successful in handling his main plot; to go back "some 20 years before the events of the previous chapters" is fatal near the middle of a book, and smacks strongly of Mrs. Radcliffe's day. The tale has many excellencies and some crudities, but at best it is superfluous. Stories of negro atavism and race wars are getting monotonous and boresome. Some one should serve an injunction on the whole tribe of Southern novelists, from the Rev. Thomas Dixon down.

ANOTHER ECCLESIASTIC NOVEL.

The Sacred Cup. By Vincent Brown. New York: G. P. Putnam's Sons. Pittsburgh: J. R. Weldin & Co., and Kaufmann's. 331 pages. Price, $1.50.

This is another of those Church of England novels which interest American readers as little as the discussion over Tractarianism. To Mr. Brown himself the chapter where the rector refuses the sacrament to a sinner, doubtless seems tremendously dramatic. It is quite conceivable that churchmen, high or low, might be wrought up over the situation that confronts the Rev. Mr. Jerred, and might be split into parties over his attitude. To others it is only an episode of mild interest, a curious case of ecclesiastical conscience. This might not be so if Mr. Brown had the power of a Hawthorne, who handled an analogous problem in "The Scarlet Letter" and gave it universal significance like "Hamlet" or "Faust." But there is no power in Mr. Brown's book. It is placid and dull—drowsily he meanders along the ways where Miss Yonge and Mrs. Oliphant walked. There were possibilities of psychological analysis in the character of Camoys, but he remains an abstraction. Miss Lyson is also bloodless and shadowy. A mild interest is evoked by the clergyman, but even he fails to save the novel from insipidity.

PROBLEMS OF RELIGION.

Irenic Theology. By Charles Marsh Mead. New York: G. P. Putnam's Sons. Pittsburgh: J. R. Weldin & Co. 375 pages. Price, $1.50.

Polemic theology, as Mr. Mead says, has failed to promote a settlement of the great religious problems. That his pacific attitude of attempting to reconcile antithetic views will have any better result may be doubted; he realizes himself that his own position is necessarily polemic, just as he realizes that his view of God is anthropomorphic, and seeks to excuse it by hurling at the other side an "equally bad-sounding term, pseudotheomorphism." Of original sin, free will, the existence of evil, the personality and power of Christ, the work of redemption and many similar themes, he reasons lucidly and temperately, but he succeeds in bringing out the weak points of both positions rather than demonstrating the tenability of a middle course.

GOOD RAILROAD STORIES.

The Last Spike. By Cy Warman. New York: Charles Scribner's Sons. Pittsburgh: J. R. Weldin & Co. and Kaufmann's. 280 pages. Price, $1.25.

Mr. Warman, who rose to fame as the author of "Sweet Marie," one of the few popular songs that have shown traces of poetry or music, has also written several volumes of railroad stories, and "The Last Spike" is another of these, taking its title from the initial tale. This is a mixture of romance and railroad building, with a bit of Indian torture thrown in. There are ghost stories and love stories, stories touching finance and stories of wild nature, all breathing poetic fancy and a certain facility of style that sometimes spurts to grandiloquence and sometimes drops to commonplace. There is rarely a new motif in the stories, but just as rarely is a good point spoiled.

A NEW NAME FOR GOD.

The Sage Brush Parson. By A. B. Ward. Boston: Little, Brown & Co. Pittsburgh: J. R. Weldin & Co., and Kaufmann's. 300 pages. Price, $1.50.

Not exactly a new Ralph Connor, but after his order, Mr. Ward goes out into the sagebrush country for local color. His little mining village in Nevada is peopled with the same sort of bluff good-hearted folk, who break their necks to get salvation when an Englishman comes to dispense it. The Englishman, after he has established a reputation for piety and good works, is followed by the wife and child he had left in England. She breaks up his congregation and finally leaps from a rock to kill herself. The parson is arrested and tried for murder, and sentenced to be hanged. A ride on a handcar to get a reprieve, which arrives just in time, and a final adjustment of everybody's trials and troubles are only variations of well-worn methods. The humorous characters are stereotyped, though they try hard to be amusing; and some of the others are quite melodramatic, though they affect to be natural. The thing most to be regretted, however, is that the Parson can't keep Jack from referring to God as the "Old Gentleman."

A THOUSAND YEARS TO COME.

As It May Be. By Bessie Story Rogers. Boston: Richard G. Badger. 83 pages. Price, $1.00.

In 2906 a resident of this world who died in 1906 comes back to visit it. He is received by a Mrs. Linden, who says: "Welcome stranger, by your conversation I think you are what a thousand years ago was called a human being on the earth," and then offers to take her home because "I wish very much to have you meet my husband and children." After such an auspicious introduction the wonders of 2906 are gradually unveiled. There are no more saloons, no more strikes, not even a toy pistol on July 4. "While out flying I do not remember seeing any Churches," observes the human being of 1906. Churches had also been abolished, it appears, but folding beds had only been improved upon slightly. It is a book refreshing by its bland naivete and unsophistication.

LITERARY NEWS AND NOTES.

Apropos of Charles M. Schwab's reported illness, there are some of his views of life set down in a talk which is recorded in Arthur Henry's tale of a philosopher's life in New York, entitled "Lodgings in Town," recently published by A. S. Barnes & Co. The author quotes Mr. Schwab as saying that when he began he worked for nothing else than to be rich, but his views changed when he found himself possessed of more than he could spend for his own good. "The simpler I live," adds Mr. Schwab, "the better I feel." "What are you working for now?" asked Mr. Henry. "I am trying to find that out. The old incentive is gone, but I find myself as eager as before. Perhaps it is the interest of the game, but I don't think that is all."

Irving Bacheller has wisely gotten away from Rome and Palestine, and returns to his "own countree" in a novel soon to be published by the Harpers. It is a story of the Adirondacks, and the chief character is Silas Strong, an old-time backwoodsman, a "guide and contriver," as he styles himself. His "contrivances" are exceedingly humorous, and the scenes in which two small children figure are also rich in humor. Mr. Bacheller recently purchased an Adirondack estate where he passed last summer, and he has taken his characters and scenes direct from life. The novel will bear the title of "Silas Strong: Emperor of the Woods."

THE TRUTH ABOUT TOLNA

By the Author of "THE HELMET OF NAVARRE"
Bertha Runkle

A swiftly-moving story which proves that there is as much romance in new Manhattan as in old Paris. It is a five-sided battle-royal between three men for the hearts of two bewitching American girls. The author's insight and ingenuity contrive to keep the interest at concert pitch throughout the story. A highly amusing novel of today. Frontispiece in four colors by Henry Hutt. $1.50

TAFT OFFERED THE JUDGESHIP

President Waives Objections to War Secretary Resigning from the Cabinet.

NOT CONSIDERING GOVERNOR

SPECIAL TELEGRAM FROM
L. W. STRAYER, Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, March 9.—William S. Taft, secretary of war, will probably succeed Henry B. Brown as associate justice of the supreme court of the United States. President Roosevelt has considered all the effects that would ensue from the resignation of Mr. Taft as secretary of war, and it is believed that in the face of the confusion and embarrassment that would be entailed he will ask Secretary Taft to take the vacancy on the bench created by Justice Brown's retirement.

Secretary Taft will willingly take the place if the President consents to it. Some of his friends have urged him against it, calling attention to the fact that he is a presidential possibility and that he owes it to himself not to put himself outside the possibility of selection as the candidate of the party.

In reply to this argument Secretary Taft stated positively that he would rather be a justice of the supreme court than president of the United States. From this it will be seen that it only remains for the President to consent to his resignation as secretary of war to assure his acceptance of the appointment as justice of the supreme court.

It has been generally understood that because the Third judicial district—Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Delaware—is not represented since the retirement of Justice Shiras, that the appointee would come from one of these states. It is known that the President favors Secretary Taft and has not considered anyone from the Third judicial district since Senator Knox declined.

Circuit Judge Acheson of Pittsburgh and Gov. Pennypacker have been mentioned as possibilities, but the President has neither name under consideration. The same is true of Judge Gray of Delaware. He has been mentioned, but while the President has a high opinion of him, yet his politics would likely debar him.

While politics does not necessarily interfere with selections for the supreme bench, yet it is a fact that is taken into consideration. At present the supreme court stands six Republicans and three Democrats.

It has been generally understood that Secretary Taft, if appointed to the supreme court, would succeed Mr. Fuller as chief justice, but as Mr. Fuller has shown no inclination to resign, a vacancy due to his retirement may be deferred for some years. It is said to be a historical fact that no chief justice ever resigned from active service.

While there is no precedent for it, yet there is nothing to prevent Mr. Taft's promotion to chief justice when the vacancy occurs, if he now accepts the place as associate justice.

POP CONCERT IS POPULAR.

Seats Selling Rapidly for Performance in Allegheny Carnegie Music Hall.

Judging from the sale of seats there will be a large audience to greet the Pittsburgh orchestra at its third popular concert to be given in Carnegie hall, Allegheny, this evening. The program is one of the most attractive Mr. Paur has prepared this season, and the soloist, Dan Beddoe, tenor, of Pittsburgh, is a general favorite hereabouts. There are no seats remaining to be sold, but admission tickets at 25 cents will be on sale at the box office at the hall this evening at 7:30. The program in full is as follows, all from Wagner:

DAN I. BEDDOE,
The popular Pittsburgh tenor, who shortly goes to New York, who will be tonight's soloist.

EXPRESS COMPANY CLAIMS CASSIDAY HELD OUT

Walter N. Cassiday of Fisk street, Allegheny, was arrested last night in a pool room in East Lacock street on a bench warrant issued by Judge McClung. Cassiday was formerly employed in the Allegheny office of the Adams Express Company and last December F. E. Elder, the agent, had him arrested on a charge of embezzlement, alleging he held out about $90 on prepaid packages he collected on his route. The grand jury, however, ignored the bill. Cassiday was fired, but a new information was made against him, on which a true bill was found.

FIXES TIME FOR FEDERAL COURT IN WEST VIRGINIA

WASHINGTON, March 9.—(Special.)—Senator Elkins today introduced a bill specifying the time for holding the regular terms of the United States courts in the northern district of West Virginia. RATES ARE NOW MAIN QUESTION

Railroad Regulating Bill Is Now Special Order of the Senate.

SPECIAL TELEGRAM FROM
L. W. STRAYER, Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, March 9.—The railroad rate bill now has the center of the stage. With statehood out of the way, the rate question becomes the all-absorbing topic in congress. Immediately after the vote on the statehood bill today, Senator Tillman moved to take up the rate bill, and this was done. There was no debate, but this action makes it the unfinished business of the senate and it becomes the regular order every day at 2 o'clock.

Senator Tillman is working industriously on his report to be submitted to the senate Monday or Tuesday. It is understood this will be confined principally to an argument against the incorporation of a court review provision.

Senator Knox called at the White House today and had an hour's conference with the President. It is believed the rate bill was the subject of conversation and that the senator and the President cleared up some points not definitely understood.

A fact which is gradually dawning upon the opponents of the court review idea is that the amendment proposed by Senator Knox specifies the circumstances and conditions under which the railroads may go into court, thus providing for a limited review, while Senators Clapp, Dolliver and other advocates of the Hepburn bill admit that under the terms of that bill, the roads may go into court under any and all circumstances.

Elkins Has Amendments.

Every argument in the senate brings senators to the realization that Senator Knox's proposition for a limited court review is the conservative one. Senator Elkins of West Virginia has some amendments he will try to have incorporated. Said he:

"I think that unless all amendments are cut off in the senate I will be able to secure the passage of amendments which will help to make the Hepburn bill strong and efficient in correcting abuses and in helping forward the development of West Virginia, the richest coal state in the union.

"There are three great abuses of which the people complain. The first is that the railroads should not be dealers in coal and other commodities of which they ought only to be carriers. They should not enter the market in competition with shippers. The second evil of which West Virginia very justly complains, is the refusal of the trunk lines and interstate roads to provide switches for shippers to get their products to market. To meet this evil I have drafted an amendment which I shall offer, compelling railroads to put in switches on reasonable terms.

"The third evil is the refusal of the trunk lines to make fair and just arrangements with small branch and lateral lines.

"And I may say in passing that I have ten dollars in interest as a shipper where I have one as a railroad man, and all my railroad interests are in the state."

Amplify Investigation.

A resolution and a bill designed to cure the defects President Roosevelt pointed out in the Tillman resolution, investigation by the interstate commerce commission of railroad discriminations and monopolies, were introduced today in the house by Representative Gillespie of Texas. Mr. Townsend's resolution provides an appropriation of $50,000 to carry on the investigation and the Gillespie bill makes an appropriation of $100,000 for the same purpose.

The Townsend resolution provides that the interstate commerce commission shall have under the Tillman-Gillespie resolution all the powers to subpoena witnesses, to compel them to testify and to produce documentary evidence which it enjoys under the interstate commerce act. It also provides that witnesses shall enjoy the same rights and immunities in this investigation that they enjoy under the interstate commerce act.

Under the Gillespie bill the interstate commerce commission is permitted to avoid the duplication of investigations.

The case of William Randolph Hearst against the anthracite carrying railroads was today ordered by the interstate commerce commission to be reopened and was assigned for reargument in this city March 29.

NEGRO CHAUFFEUR WRECKS A $5,000 AUTOMOBILE

John M. Hastings' $5,000 automobile was wrecked at 10 o'clock last night at Fifth and Bellefield avenues. John Hall, the negro chauffeur, while running at a high speed, dashed into a telegraph pole. Only Hall was in the machine and he was not hurt, but the automobile was demolished. Mr. Hastings lives at Farragut and Stewart streets.

Mother and Child Are Burned.

Annie Fehr, a 5-year-old daughter of the Rev. W. H. Fehr, was burned at her home, 1827 Locust street, yesterday, and her mother, who tried to rescue her, was slightly burned. The mother and child were taken to Passavant hospital. The child is in a precarious condition. The Rev. Mr. Fehr is pastor of St. John's Lutheran church, Forbes and Jumonville streets.

THE THREE RIVERS

The stage of water at Davis Island dam at 3 o'clock last night was 6.8 feet and the river was stationary.

CINCINNATI, O., March 9.—(Special.)—River 19.8 feet and falling. Departures were: Greenwood for Huntington; Courier for Maysville, and City of Louisville for Louisville. The flagship of the Pittsburgh coal fleet arrived today. There were four boats in the fleet. The Harry Brown, the Exporter, the Coal City and the James Moren. The Boaz, Jim Wood, Samuel Clark and Samuel Brown are due Saturday and will turn back immediately with empties. The total amount of fuel in the shipment is about 3,000,000 bushels.

BOAT MOVEMENTS ARE FEW.

Pool Crafts Are Busy Above and Tows Are Tied Up.

With the exception of the two packet arrivals and one departure, there was little activity in the harbor yesterday. The pool boats were all working above and there was no movements among the towboats.

The Greenland and the Lorena arrived yesterday and the Greenland left during the afternoon. On her last trip here the Greenland left over 16 hours behind, but made up that time and arrived back on her schedule. Both the boats brought in fair trips and a good cargo was carried out by the Greenland.

The Lorena carried a runaway boy away from Pittsburgh on her last trip and landed him at Zanesville. Just before the boat left the Ohio city information was received that the boy was wanted by his parents. Clerk Beckwith of the Lorena next saw the boy at Malta, about 18 miles below Zanesville, and he was held by the police there until his father sent for him. The youngster was about 12 years of age, and said his name was Wilson. Boat officials claim he was well supplied with funds while on the steamer.

The Virginia arrived from Cincinnati early this morning and will return this afternoon at 4 o'clock. The Lorena will also leave at the same hour. The next departure on the Cincinnati line will be the Keystone State on Monday.

The regular trips of the Bessie Smith between Wheeling and Parkersburg will be resumed on Monday. She has been laid up on account of a broken shaft.

CHARGED WITH BIGAMY.

Hardy J. Reynolds, a Prominent Cleveland Business Man, in Trouble.

CLEVELAND, O., March 9.—A warrant was issued today at Norwalk, for the arrest of Harry J. Reynolds of this city, on the charge of bigamy. Reynolds is general superintendent for one of the most extensive iron ore concerns on the great lakes. It is alleged that Reynolds, who has a wife and grown children in this city married Miss Mae Smith, aged 21, at Norwalk, Tuesday evening. After the marriage ceremony in Norwalk it was charged the couple went to Buffalo, and after remaining at a hotel over night, Reynolds sent his bride back home on the plea that he had to go east on pressing business. Reynolds is 67 years of age, and is prominent among business men here.

Reynolds, his new wife asserts, gave his right name and position, but always maintained that he was a widower. According to police reports Reynolds was married in 1902 in Cleveland to Isabelle McKenzie, a clerk in a department store, while his first wife was still alive. It is alleged that he lived with both women until 1904 when the second wife died in a hospital.

SAY PHYSICIANS WANTED AN ASSURANCE OF PAY

John Jones, a brakeman, lay down yesterday morning near St. John street, McKees Rocks, along the tracks of the Pittsburgh, Chartiers & Youghiogheny railroad, with one foot on the rail. It was crushed by a passing train. Surgical help was not received until the man had been taken to the McKees Rocks hospital, it being alleged that physicians who were seen refused to attend to the case unless pay was guaranteed. Jones was employed by the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad, and his home is at Sheraden.

MUST ALWAYS BE READY.

Secretary Bonaparte Says Navy Must Be Built Up to Respond at Call to Arms.

CHICAGO, March 9.—"Preparation for modern naval warfare must be the work of peace," was the point made by Charles J. Bonaparte, secretary of the navy, who was the guest of honor at a banquet given tonight, by the Swedish-American Central Republican club. Secretary Bonaparte said: "We must keep our navy abreast of the times and we must have it ready at any moment to do its apointed work, and do this well."

"While human nature and human society remain what they are, war will be always possible and sometimes unavoidable, and to preserve peace we should be, and be known to be, ever ready, at a moment's notice to meet an appeal to arms."

NEVILLE ISLAND TO HAVE THE LARGEST BRICK WORKS

The Standard Construction Company broke ground yesterday on Neville island for its $600,000 brick works. Cement brick will be manufactured. The works will be the largest of the kind in the United States. The company will get its sand from the river.

Kills Sister in Jealous Rage.

ATLANTA, GA., March 9.—Mrs. Edward M. Standifer, aged 26, today shot and killed her sister, Chappelle Whisenant, aged 18, alleging she was actuated by her husband's attentions to her victim. Miss Whisenant was to have been married next Wednesday to a young business man of Seneca, S. C. Mrs. Standifer killed the girl in her sleeping room. Mrs. Standifer expressed no regret for her action when she was arrested late tonight.

HABIT-FORMING MEDICINES AND DRUGS.

Whatever may be the fact as to many of the so-called patent medicines containing injurious ingredients as broadly published in some journals of more or less influence, this publicity has certainly been of great benefit in arousing needed attention to this subject. It has, in a considerable measure, resulted in the most intelligent people avoiding such foods and medicines as may be fairly suspected of containing the injurious ingredients complained of. Recognizing this fact some time ago, Dr. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., "took time by the forelock," as it were, and published broadcast all the ingredients of which his popular medicines are composed. Thus he has completely forestalled all harping critics and all opposition that might otherwise be urged against his medicines, because they are now OF KNOWN COMPOSITION. Furthermore, from the formula printed on every bottle wrapper, it will be seen that these medicines contain no alcohol or other habit-forming drugs. Neither do they contain any narcotics or injurious agents, their ingredients being purely vegetable, extracted from the roots of medicinal plants found growing in the depths of our American forests and of well recognized curative virtues.

Instead of alcohol, which even in small portions long continued, as in obstinate cases of diseases, becomes highly objectionable from its tendency to produce a craving for stimulants, Dr. Pierce employs chemically pure, triple refined glycerine, which of itself is a valuable remedy in many cases of chronic disease, being a superior demulcent, anti-septic, anti-ferment and supporting nutritive. It enhances the curative action of the Golden Seal root, Stone root, Black Cherrybark and Bloodroot, contained in "Golden Medical Discovery," in all bronchial, throat and lung affections attended with severe coughs. As will be seen from the writings of the eminent Drs. Grover Coe, of New York; Bartholow, of Jefferson Medical College, Phila.; Scudder, of Cincinnati; Ellingwood, of Chicago; Hale, of Chicago, and others, who stand as leaders in their several schools of practice, the foregoing agents are the very best ingredients that Dr. Pierce could have chosen to make up his famous "Discovery" for the cure of not only bronchial, throat and lung affections, but also of chronic catarrh in all its various forms in whatever part of the system located.

By reading the writings of these eminent medical men contained in the little booklet recently compiled by Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., which will be sent free, on request by postal card or letter, addressed to him, as above, the reader will find that all the several native, medicinal roots entering into the "Golden Medical Discovery," as also into Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, for woman's weaknesses and peculiar ailments, are very highly recommended and praised as cures for diseases for which Dr. Pierce advises these famous medicines of his preparation.

Dr. Ellingwood says of Golden Seal root, which is an important ingredient in both "Favorite Prescription" and "Golden Medical Discovery," "it is an important remedy in disorders of the womb." He continues: "In all catarrhal conditions, especially in flabby, muscular relaxation and general enfeeblement it is useful." Prof. Scudder, late of Cincinnati, says of Golden Seal root, in relation to its general effect on the system, "there is no medicine in use about which there is such general unanimity of opinion. It is universally regarded as the tonic, useful in all debilitated states." Dr. Bartholow says that Golden Seal root is "valuable in uterine hemorrhage (bleeding), hemorrhagia (flooding) and congestive dysmenorrhœa (painful menstruation)."

Prof. John King, author of the AMERICAN DISPENSATORY, says of Black Cohosh root, another ingredient of "Favorite Prescription," "in dysmenorrhœa (painful periods), it is surpassed by no other drug, being of the greatest utility in irritative and congestive conditions of the uterus and appendages characterized by tensive, dragging pains resembling the pains of rheumatism." He continues: "It is a good remedy for the reflex (side aches) of unmarried women." He also recommends it for uterine leucorrhœa, also for sterility. He further says, "its action is slow, but its effects are permanent." He also recommends this agent for St. Vitus's dance, also for many rheumatic conditions, as does also Hobart A. Hare, M. D., professor in the Med Dept., University of Pa. Other agents entering into the "Favorite Prescription" are equally praised in the little book of extracts from prominent medical authors whose published works are consulted by physicians of all the several schools to guide them in prescribing.

"Golden Medical Discovery" as also Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription may be relied upon to cure all the diseases and more than all that their several ingredients are represented as curing, by the above eminent physicians, for they are so compounded that each ingredient acts in harmony with all the others, and also enhances their curative action. They may be taken conjointly in alternate doses with great advantage.

The most intelligent people are fast coming to the conclusion that it does not pay and is not safe to resort to medicines of doubtful composition when there are those in the market every ingredient of which is published on their wrappers and which are so strongly praised and endorsed by scores of those most eminent in the medical profession. Secret medicines can, of course, have no such professional endorsement.

In favor of Dr. Pierce's medicines is the frank, confiding, open, honest statement of their full composition, giving every ingredient in plain English, without fear of successful criticism and with confidence that the good sense of the afflicted will lead them to appreciate this honorable manner of confiding to them what they are taking into their stomachs when making use of these medicines.

Dr. Pierce feels that he can afford to take the afflicted into his full confidence and lay all the ingredients of his medicines freely before them because these ingredients are such as are endorsed and most strongly praised by scores of the most eminent medical writers of all the several schools of practice as cures for the diseases for which these medicines are recommended.

Your druggists sells the "FAVORITE PRESCRIPTION" and also that famous alterative, blood purifier and stomach tonic, the "GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY." Write to Dr. Pierce about your case. He is an experienced physician and will treat your case as confidential and without charge for correspondence. Address him at the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., of which he is chief consulting physician.

It is as easy to be well as ill—and much more comfortable. Constipation is the cause of many forms of illness. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation. They are tiny, sugar-coated granules. One little "Pellet" is a gentle laxative, two a mild cathartic. All dealers in medicines sell them.

A good medical book, written in plain English, and free from technical terms is a valuable work for frequent consultation. Such a work is Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser. It's a book of 1008 pages, profusely illustrated. It is given away now, although formerly sold in cloth binding for $1.50. Send 21 cents, in one-cent stamps, to pay for cost of mailing only for paper-covered copy, addressing Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.; or 31 cents for an elegantly cloth-bound copy.

BIFF, BANG AND COMSTOCK OUT

Calls Virginia Lawyer Liar During Hearing and Attorney Retaliates With Quick Blows.

COURT REFUSES TO INTERFERE

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Herald Building, Herald Square.
NEW YORK, March 9.

Angered when called a liar in a hearing before United States Commissioner Shields today, Hugh Gordon Miller, a lawyer, punched Anthony Comstock, head of the Society for the Suppression of Vice, in the eye and on the jaw. Comstock, white with anger, appealed for a warrant against Miller for attack, but the commissioner refused it and referred him to the United States district attorney.

Before leaving the court room Comstock started another dispute with a newspaper man, who openly called him a liar, referring to a previous row between them, and Comstock made another appeal to Commissioner Shields for the reporter's arrest, asserting that he had twice been insulted in the court, but the commissioner did not grant the warrant.

Comstock, in his capacity as postoffice inspector, was present to testify against Ernest Richards, accused of using the mails for improper purposes. Miller, Richards' counsel, declared that his client was a victim of a conspiracy by Comstock to make Richards a scapegoat and let two others concerned escape. Comstock standing by, interrupted Miller, crying out: "That's a lie!"

In two steps Miller reached Comstock's side and struck him two smart blows. "Liar is a fighting word where I came from," he said. Miller is from Virginia.

Detectives Raid Three Houses.

Detectives raided three alleged disorderly houses yesterday. At the house of J. Levine, 307 Fifth avenue, 18 men were captured. Levine conducts a restaurant and the police say he harbors men who have no means of support. At John Grish's house, 37 Clay alley, 14 men and two women were arrested. The police say this is a gambling house and speakeasy. The house of Mamie Bell, 1201 Clark street, was closed and four men arrested.

A prominent feature of The Sunday Gazette will be the illustrated half-tone section. An innovation in Pittsburgh.

STARTLING! WONDERFUL!

Pictures of intense local interest. A feature that cannot be duplicated. Be sure to get one. Order

The Sunday Gazette Today

From One Who Has Seen It

With its issue of Sunday, March 11, The Pittsburgh Gazette will begin the publication of a half-tone illustrated section of eight full size pages. This section will be printed on a high grade of book paper with fine inks, making the whole equal to high-class magazine work. The illustrations will consist of reproductions of interesting photographs of people and things, the character of the work making each cut look like a photograph. While the art of making cuts has reached a high degree of prefection, the printing of them in newspapers on fast presses and soft paper has not been satisfactory. For this reason The Pittsburgh Gazette has taken this forward step at a great expense but with the determination that no paper in the Smoky City will excel it in any feature. No doubt there will be a great demand for The Sunday Gazette, and those who wish it should place their order early.—Jamestown World.

ONLY ONE MORE STAR FOR FLAG

Senate, During Exciting Session, Splits Statehood Bill in Half, Admitting Oklahoma.

BAR "BULL" ANDREW'S STATE

SPECIAL TELEGRAM FROM
L. W. STRAYER, Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, March 9.—Half of the statehood bill got through the senate today after a four years' fight. It was that portion providing statehood for the territories of Oklahoma and Indian territory. Joint statehood for Arizona and New Mexico was lost by the wayside. It was torn ruthlessly from the original bill and cast out in the garbage heap.

As the bill came from the house it made one state out of Oklahoma and Indian territory and another out of New Mexico and Arizona. There was no dispute about the first. Everybody was agreed that these two territories were fitted in every way, but there was a wide divergence of opinion as to the other.

President Roosevelt, in his annual message, recommended joint statehood for all, and the house followed his recommendation. But the senate administered another blow to the administration by cutting out New Mexico and Arizona entirely.

The fight came on the adoption of the Foraker amendment, which provided that Arizona and New Mexico should vote separately on the proposition of accepting joint statehood, and that a state should be erected only if a majority of both territories approved it. That was adopted by a vote of 42 to 29, 18 Republicans and all the Democrats except Clark of Arkansas voting for it.

Statehood for One.

Then came the proposition of Senator Burrows to separate the bill and pass only that part relating to Oklahoma and Indian territory. When this was voted on in committee of the whole, Senator Scott of West Virginia wandered into the chamber wearing his overcoat, and evidently about to leave the capitol, and voted no. That defeated the proposition by 36 to 35.

Later, when the same amendment came up in the senate, Mr. Scott had removed his overcoat and had been informed of the real situation, he voted with the Burrows contingent, and the amendment carried by a vote of 37 to 35.

This was a stinging defeat for Senator Beveridge and the committee on territories. But Mr. Beveridge stated tonight that he would make no attempt to prevent an agreement on the bill in conference. He will let the matter drop and try to get joint statehood for Arizona and New Mexico at the next session.

It is believed that the house will agree to the senate amendments, although it was reported this afternoon that Speaker Cannon had declared war and would fight to the last ditch.

Bars Polygamy.

About a dozen speeches were made today, but the notable ones were made by Messrs. Dubois and Burrows in denunciation of polygamy in Arizona and New Mexico. Mr. Dubois secured the incorporation of an anti-polygamy amendment, but the elimination of Arizona from the measure detracted from the importance.

As amended, the bill provides for the creation of the state of Oklahoma out of Oklahoma and Indian territories upon the adoption of a constitution. The state is allowed the usual quota of executive, judicial and legislative officers, two United States senators and five members of the national house of representatives.

A constitutional convention with 110 members, 55 of which are to be chosen by each territory, is provided and all male citizens and male Indians, 21 years of age, are made eligible to membership.

There is an especial provision protecting Indians in their rights and continuing the prerogative of the national government to control their affairs. The sale of intoxicating liquors in what is now Indian territory is prohibited for 21 years and longer, unless the constitution is changed.

Vote of Pittsburgh Senators.

Sections 16 and 36 of each township of land in Oklahoma are set aside for the benefit of the common school system, as is also 5 per cent of the proceeds of the sale of public lands. There is an appropriation of $5,000,000 from the national treasury for the benefit of the schools. Provision is made for the support of higher education and charitable institutions.

Two districts for United States courts, one in Oklahoma and the other in Indian territory, are provided for. Guthrie is made the temporary seat of government but the house provision continuing it in that capacity until 1915 was eliminated.

Senators Knox and Penrose and Senator Dick of Ohio voted against the split in the statehood. Senator Foraker was the leader of the opposition to the administration. Senator Scott of West Virginia first voted against the separation and the second time his vote carried the project. Senator Elkins was paired with Mr. Bailey, Democratic senator from Texas.

WASHINGTON HEARS OF LESLIE FOR THE POSTMASTERSHIP

Congressman Barchfeld Says He Is for the City Chairman—Republican Organization Also Reported to Be Supporting Him.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, March 9.—Information reached here this evening that the Republican organization of Pittsburgh had indorsed Chairman Max G. Leslie for postmaster and the report was received with interest by the Pittsburgh congressmen. It has been the general understanding that the postmastership would be left in abeyance until the Greater Pittsburgh bill had been tested in the courts and its constitutionality had been established, allowing Postmaster Holliday to continue in office after the expiration of his term on May 2. When seen this evening Representative A. J. Barchfeld said:

"I am favorable to Max G. Leslie for postmaster at Pittsburgh and will do all in my power to help him secure the appointment. He has done excellent service for his party and that service deserves recognition. Mr. Holliday has made a good postmaster, one of the best in the country, but he has had two terms and it would be no reflection upon him to have him succeeded by another man. I believe the Republican organization of Pittsburgh is entitled to have a voice in the naming of the postmaster and I favor its choice. Mr. Leslie is a capable man and would make a good postmaster. I shall take pleasure in going to the President in his behalf."

Representative James Francis Burke was rather surprised to hear that this action had been taken by the organization. He said: "This is the first intimation I have had of Mr. Leslie's candidacy for the place. I have seen him recently and have even talked about the postmastership, but he has not indicated to me that he wanted the place. Mr. Barchfeld, Mr. Dalzell and I have not yet taken up the question of a successor to Mr. Holliday, but will do so in the near future and then the candidacy of Mr. Leslie and all others who are after the appointment will be fully considered. I know Max Leslie well, and I know that he is an earnest worker and a capable man. His long service as chairman of the city committee certainly deserves consideration and he will surely have it so far as I am concerned."

Mr. Dalzell was dining out this evening and could not be seen at his home. So far Senator Knox has given no consideration to the postmastership, having been busy with other matters.

NEW JERSEY WOMAN ESCAPES THE GALLOWS

Court of Pardons Establises Precedent in Case of Mrs. Antionette Tolla.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

TRENTON, N. J., March 9.—Clemency greater than the most hopeful friends of Mrs. Antoinette Tolla imagined would be possible was granted to her today, when the court of pardons reduced her sentence from the death penalty to seven years and six months in the state prison. This is the first time in the history of the court that a sentence of death for murder has been commuted to anything other than life imprisonment.

Acting as a trial jury, the court of pardons considered new evidence in favor of Mrs. Tolla. This evidence, presented by Samuel Kalisch, was that she had shot and killed Joseph Sonia in Kinsland on March 4, 1905, in defense of her own honor and in her own home. Because of alleged ignorance of an interpreter this had not been brought out in the trial.

Judge Green and Chancellor Magie voted against clemency for the woman. The six other members of the court voted for her.

Second Suit Against Western Company.

NEW YORK, March 9.—(Special.)—The Westinghouse Machine Company of Pittsburgh yesterday filed a second bill of complaint against the Allis-Chalmers Company of Milwaukee, Wis., in the United States circuit court for the district of New Jersey, in which the latter concern is charged with infringements upon certain patents relating to the manufacture of the Parsons steam turbine.

TRY TO TIGHTEN NATURALIZATION

Congressmen Mix Into Conditions in Philadelphia and New York During the Debate.

TAKE FLING AT BOTH CITIES

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, March 9.—The house today devoted three hours to the consideration of a bill providing a uniform system of naturalization, the chief features of which require an alien to write either his own or the English language and to speak and read the latter and to declare his intention to reside permanently in the United States, before he can become an American citizen.

Mr. McNary (Mass.) questioned the assertion of the large number of naturalization frauds and contended the bill sought to make a general provision to remedy conditions local to New York city.

"We have had a number of naturalization frauds in Philadelphia," interjected Mr. Adams (Pa.)

"How about the 60 or 100,000 fradulent registrations in Philadelphia, the work at American citizens discovered by the mayor?" retorted Mr. McNary.

"When the gentleman is overthrown on one thing, he turns to another," complained Mr. Adams. "As a Democrat, he picks out Philadelphia as a Republican city. I will take New York as a Democratic city and will tell you the difference between New York and Philadelphia. When we have a change we accept the votes of the people and abide by the result. But in New York, they don't dare to open the ballot boxes or count the vote."

MR. STEINER THE ORGANIST.

Gives Recitals at Carnegie Music Hall Tonight and Tomorrow Afternoon.

Owing to the alterations going on at Carnegie library building only two more sets of free organ recitals can be given this season. The seven hundred and fifty-third and the seven hundred and fifty-fourth in the series will be given tonight and tomorrow afternoon. By invitation of the trustees of Carnegie library the organist will be W. K. Steiner of Pittsburgh. The program for Saturday evening is as follows:

Concert Overture	D'Evry
Andante cantabile	Uso Seifert
Siciliana (Stile antico)	Bossi
"Zur Guitarre"	Hiller
Kouzertsatz	Thiele
Intermission of Five Minutes.

DOMINICAN REBELS KILL DURING PEACE CONFAB

WASHINGTON, March 9.—The state department received a cablegram from Monte Christi, San Domingo, saying that while the terms of surrender were being carried out between the government forces and the revolutionists the latter acted in bad faith and there was a fight in which two officers and six men were killed, including Gen. Cepin. The revolutionists escaped.

IN PERIL OF HIS LIFE

BY EMILE GABORIAU

Author of "THE MYSTERY OF ORCIVAL," "FILE NO. 113," Etc.

"Yes," added M. Folgat, "and M. Magloire and myself had the greatest difficulty in overcoming his resolution, the greatest trouble to make him understand that under no circumstances ought an innocent man to talk of committing suicide."

A big tear rolled down the old gentleman's furrowed cheek. "Ah! I have been cruelly unjust," he murmured. "Poor, unhappy boy!" Then he added aloud, "But I intend to see him. I have determined to accompany the marchioness to Sauveterre. When do you propose to leave?"

"Nothing keeps me here in Paris. I have done all that can be done, and I might return this evening. But I am really too tired. I think I shall take the 10:45 train tomorrow morning."

"If you do so we will travel in company. I will meet you tomorrow at 10 o'clock at the Orleans station. We shall reach Sauveterre by midnight."

CHAPTER XIX.

When the Marchioness de Boiscoran went to see her son in prison prior to her departure for Paris, Denise had asked if she might accompany her. The marchioness, however, preferred to go alone, and the young girl did not insist. "I see they are trying to conceal something from me," she said to herself, "but it does not matter."

During the whole day she remained meditating; and her thoughtfulness was so evident that her grandfather and aunts grew quite nervous, wondering what new idea had got possession of her mind. On the morrow they were still in the same perplexity, when Denise suddenly insisted on going to her dressmaker's, where, finding Mechinet, the clerk, she remained in conference with him for a full half hour. Then in the evening, as Dr. Seignebos was leaving the drawingroom, after a short visit, she hastened after him, and kept him engaged in conversation for a long time at the hall door. Finally, on the day after, she asked once more to be allowed to go and see Jacques. This sad satisfaction could be no longer refused her, and it was arranged that she should visit the prison in company with the elder of the Demoiselles de Lavarande, Mademoiselle Adelaide.

It was 2 o'clock in the afternoon when they knocked at the prison gate, and asked the jailer to be allowed to see Jacques. "I'll go for him at once, madam," replied Blangin. "In the meantime pray step into my room; the prison parlor is rather damp, and the less you stay in it the better it will be."

Denise followed the jailer's advice, or rather she did a great deal more: for, leaving her aunt down stairs, she drew Madame Blangin into the upper room, having something to say to her, as she pretended. When they came down stairs again, Blangin announced that M. de Boiscoran was waiting.

"Come!" said Denise to her aunt. But she had not taken 19 steps along the narrow passage leading to the parlor, before she stopped short. She even tottered, and had to lean against the wall, reeking as it was with moisture.

"Good heaven, you are ill?" cried Mademoiselle Adelaide.

Denise signaled her to be silent. "Oh, it is nothing!" she said. "Be quiet!" And gathering up all her strength, and resting her little hand upon the old lady's shoulder, she added, "My darling aunt, you must render us an immense service. It is all important that I should speak to Jacques alone. It would be very dangerous for us to be overheard. I know they often set spies to listen to a prisoner's talk. Please, dear aunt, do remain in the passage, and give us warning if anybody should come."

"Do not think of such a thing, dear child. Would it be proper?"

"Was it proper when I came and spent a night here?" added Denise in reply. "Alas! in our position, everything is proper that may be useful." Aunt Adelaide making no rejoinder, Mademoiselle de Chandore felt sure of her perfect submission, and walked on toward the parlor.

"Denise!" cried Jacques, as soon as she entered—"Denise!" He was standing in the center of this mournful room, looking whiter than the whitened walls, but apparently calm and almost smiling. It required a powerful effort of will to control the thoughts which battled in his breast; but he could not allow his betrothed to see his despair; on the contrary, he was bound to do everything he could to reassure her. So he advanced toward her, took her hands in his, and said, "Ah, it is so kind of you to come! I have looked for you ever since the morning. I have been watching and waiting, and listening at each noise I heard. But will you ever forgive me for causing you to come to a place like this, untidy and ugly, without even the fatal poetry of horror about it?"

Denise looked at him with such obstinate fixity that the words died on his lips. "Why hide the truth?" he asked, sadly.

"Hide the truth!"

"Yes. Why do you affect this gayety and tranquility, which are so far from your heart? Have you no longer confidence in me? Do you think I am a child, from whom the truth must be concealed, or so feeble and worthless that I cannot bear my share of your troubles? Do not smile, Jacques, for I know you have no hope."

"You are mistaken, Denise, I assure you."

"No, Jacques. They are concealing something from me, I know, and I do not ask you to tell me what it is. I know quite enough. You will have to appear in court."

"I beg your pardon. That question has not yet been decided."

"But it will be decided, and against you."

Jacques knew very well it would be so and dreaded it; but he still insisted on playing his part. "Well," he said, "even if I do appear in court, I shall be acquitted."

"Are you quite sure of that?"

"I have ninety-nine chances out of a hundred for me."

"There is one, then, against you," cried the young girl. And seizing Jacques' hands, and pressing them with a force of which he would never have suspected her, she added, "You have no right to run that one chance."

Jacques trembled in all his limbs. Was it possible? Did he understand her? Did Denise herself come and suggest to him that act of supreme despair, from which his counsel had so strongly dissuaded him? "What do you mean?" he asked, with trembling voice.

"You must fly."

"Fly?"

"Nothing is easier. I have considered the whole matter thoroughly. The jailers are in our pay. I have just come to an understanding with Blangin's wife. One evening, as soon as night falls, they will open the doors to you. A horse will be ready for you outside the town, and relays will be prepared. In four hours you can reach La Rochelle. There, one of those pilot-boats which can stand any storm will take you on board, and carry you to England."

Jacques shook his head. "That cannot be," he replied. "I am innocent. I cannot abandon all I hold dear—you, Denise."

A deep flush covered the girl's cheeks. "I have expressed myself badly," she stammered. "You shall not go alone."

He raised his hands to heaven. "My God!" he cried, "thou grantest me this consolation!"

Meanwhile Denise continued in a firmer voice—"Did you think I would be base enough to forsake my friend even if he should be abandoned by everybody else? No, No! Grandpapa and my aunts will accompany me, and we will meet you in England. You will change your name, and go to America; and far in the west, we will find some new country where we can establish ourselves. True, it will not be France. But the country for us, Jacques, is where we can be free, where we are beloved, where we are happy."

At these words, Jacques de Boiscoran was moved to his innermost heart. How could he retain any longer his mask of impressive indifference? Was there a man upon the earth who would receive a more glorious proof of love and devotion? And from whom? From a young girl, who united in herself all these qualities, a single one of which would make others proud—intelligence and grace, high rank and fortune, beauty and angelic purity. Ah! she did not hesitate, as another had done; she did not make a science of duplicity, nor practice hypocrisy as though it were a virtue. She yielded up herself, without the slightest reserve. And all this at the very moment when Jacques saw everything else around him crumble to pieces, when he was on the very brink of despair! His happiness was indeed so great, so unexpected, that it well-nigh paralyzed him.

For a moment he could not move, he could not think. Then all of a sudden drawing his betrothed to him, pressing her convulsively to his bosom and covering her hair with kisses, he cried—"I bless you, oh, my darling! I bless you, my beloved; I shall mourn no longer. Whatever may happen, I have had my share of heavenly bliss!"

She thought he consented. Palpitating like a bird in a child's hand, she drew back, and looking at Jacques with ineffable love and tenderness, exclaimed—

"Let us fix the day!"

"What day?"

"The day for your flight."

This word alone recalled Jacques to a sense of his fearful position. He was soaring in the supreme heights of bliss, and he was plunged down into the cold depths of reality. His face, radiant with joy, grew dark in an instant, and he said sadly:

"That dream is too beautiful to be realized."

"What do you say?" she stammered.

"I cannot, I must not escape!"

"You refuse me, Jacques?" continued Denise. "You refuse me, when I swear to you that I will join you and share your exile? Do you doubt my word? Do you fear that my grandfather or my aunts might keep me here in spite of myself?"

As this suppliant voice fell upon his ears, Jacques felt as if all his energy were abandoning him, and his will was shaken. "I beseech you, Denise," he said, "do not insist, do not deprive me of my courage."

She was evidently suffering intolerable agony. There was a gleam of fire in her eyes, and her parched lips quivered. "You will submit to being brought up in court," she asked.

Our $10 & $15 Suits The $10 ones are cut long with center or side vents, three buttons, peak lapels, broad shoulders, a shaping-in at the waist line, and every evidence of good tailoring. Blacks and blues are plentiful, while the fashionable gray shades find diversified expression in overplaids and tasteful stripes.

THE $15 SUITS show finer woolens, more generous hand-tailoring touches and better serge and mohair linings. One favorite type of coat is made without vent. Splendid diversity of grays at this price.

☛ Still Finer Men's Spring Suits at $18, $20, $25, $30 and up to $35

Most Fashionable Overcoats

The new French form-fitting coats are the decisive novelty. They're cut three-quarter length, with long center or extension vents, close-fitting at the waist, flaring skirts, wide peak lapels, collars of velvet or cloth, plain or raised cuffs and flap-pockets. The handsome shades of gray are most in evidence—herringbone effects, diagonal weaves and plain cloths.

Our Topcoats at $10 and $15 Certain new features in length, cut and finish distinguish them from last year's garments. Tans and the different shades of gray are the prevailing colors. Single and double herringbone weaves and handsome diagonal weaves, in cheviots, unfinished worsteds and coverts. Finer ones up to $35.

Our Raincoats at $10 and $15 Like the French-form-fitting coat, these, too, are shaped-in at the waist line and made with deep vents. All the fabrics and colors in good form last season will be in favor this year. Finer ones up to $35.

WORLD'S RECORD BROKEN BY BAPTIE

St. Paul Man Covers Fifty Yards on Skates in Remarkable Time of .05 2-5.

SINNERUD EQUALS IT

One world's record, the 50-yard dash, was broken in the international skating races last night at Duquesne garden. After Peter Sinnerud of Sweden had equaled the mark of :05 3-5 made by Morris Woods in the recent amateur meeting, Norval Baptie of St. Paul eclipsed all previous efforts by going the distance in :05 2-5. When the time was announced the crowd clapped hands vigorously.

In the first attempt at beating the time both men did it in :05 4-5. Sinnerud was not satisfied and went on the ice for another attempt, and beat his first effort by 1-5 second. Baptie emerged from his dressing room and with the determination to beat his rival, which he did.

The one mile race between Baptie and Sinnerud resulted in an easy victory for Baptie by 15 yards. Baptie won it in 2:49 2-5. The garden record for the professionals is 2:46 1-5, held by Johnie Nielson. Morris Woods holds the record for the amateurs, doing the distance in 1904 in the qualifying heat of a race in 2:41 1-5. He won the final in 2:48 2-5.

The other championship events will be decided tonight.

Sinnerud last night gave an exhibition of jumping barrels. He cleared eight lying in a row on their sides.

William Bratton, the chief skating instructor, gave an exhibition of fancy skating that pleased the crowd. The feats were as difficult and gracefully executed as most of the top notchers who travel as fancy skating artists.

Record Score Is Made.

Two local records were smashed last night at the Duquesne school hall, when Duquesne school team defeated the Eclipse team by the score of 108 to 0. This is the largest score rolled up in any game this season, and Tuescher broke all records by throwing 33 field goals. Lineup:

Duquesne—108.		Eclipse—0.
Lawrence	F	Samuels
Tuescher	F	Cusick
Chapman	C	F. McCloskey
Snyder	G	Gertler
Schmidt (Joyce)	G	J. McCloskey

Field goals—Tuescher 33, Chapman 12, Lawrence 6, Snyder, Joyce. Foul goals—Snyder 2. Referee—Snyder of D. L. and G. A.

Sewickley Has It Easy.

Sewickley Y. M. C. A. last night played the Sharpsburg United Presbyterian team off its feet in a rough game on the Sewickley floor 66 to 28. Line-up:

Sewickley—66.		Sharpsburg—28.
Carroll	F	Tracey
Miller	F	Evans
Walker	C	Engbarth
Neeley	G	Hasenfritz
Douglas	G	Frayer

Field goals—Carroll 12, Miller 7, Walker 6, Neeley 4, Douglas 4, Tracey, Evans 4, Engbarth 5, Hasenfritz. Referee—Zimmerman. Time of halves—20 minutes.

Notes of the Shooters.

At Philadelphia on Thursday John L. Brewer defeated Walter Buckwalter in a 50-bird match for $100 a side by the score of 46 to 45. Buckwalter missing his last bird. Both shot from the 30-yard line.

Fred Gilbert, champion wing shot of the world, is so badly crippled with rheumatism that it is doubtful if he goes to the traps again in many months. The attack has been long continued.

There will be a practice shoot at Carnegie by the Belmont Gun club.

The twenty-eighth round of the Allegheny County Pool league was played last night. The game between Union and Vorwerck was won by Union by the close score of 100 to 96. The feature of the game was the playing of Black of Union, with 62 balls. Montgomery and Vorwerck of the Vorwerck played nice pool, with 37 and 39 respectively. The game between the Demmels and Friendships was one-sided, Demmel winning by the score of 100 to 69. The star of this game was Clepper, who played a steady game and made many difficult shots, getting 58 balls. Moorhead of Friendship also played good pool, getting high score for his side with 43 balls.

The bout between Olympia and Glenwood was won by Olympia by the score of 100 to 74. Trayers of Olympia had high score with 42 balls. Merriman of Glenwood was there with 32 and made high score for his team.

The contest between the Arlingtons and Garfields was hotly contested, Arlington winning out by the close score of 100 to 85. The Arlington team, as a whole, played a steady and even game. The star player of the evening was Yahrling of Garfield, with 47 balls.

The game between Crescent and Primrose was forfeited to Crescent, Primrose failing to show up. This looks bad on Primrose's part as this is not the first time for them to forfeit.

The game between Swissvale and Federal was very close, Federal winning by the close score of 100 to 91. The feature was the playing of McCabe and Glass, with 43 and 42 respectively. The Federals are now chasing the leaders. Scores:

BASEBALL NOTES.

Telephone—Christy Mathewson joined the New York team in 1900, and has therefore been six seasons with the Giants.

Harry Steinfeldt has joined the Chicago team at West Baden. Along with him comes Jack Pfeister, Joe Tinker and Mordecia Brown.

The Phillies are meeting with bad weather at Savannah, Ga.

Between Lobert and Mowry the Reds do not fear a break at third base. Both lads are showing up well at Marlin, Texas.

McBride is sure to begin the season at short for the St. Louis Cardinals. He is doing great stunts during practice.

Hugh Nicol, the old St. Louis and Cincinnati outfielder, has arrived at Lafayette, Ind., to coach the Purdue university team.

The Eastern league umpire staff consists of Charles Campau, Thomas B. Kelly, August Moran, John Kerin and Edward J. Conahan.

TRINITY HALL IS DEFEATED

The Trinity Hall School five of Washington, which has been making a remarkable record in victories this season, was outplayed by the Pittsburgh High school team on the latter's floor yesterday afternoon, losing 34 to 13. Trinity Hall made the red and black travel at a rapid rate in the first half, but in the second period Pittsburgh showed better team work and speed and won easily.

Capt. Alex. McCracken was the star for Trinity Hall. Aside from two field goals by Brush, he did all the scoring for his team. The first half ended 14 to 8 in favor of High school. The whole High school team played well. Ament, at guard, played an exceptionally strong game. W. Wagner put up a good for Trinity Hall. Young, the Trinity Hall center, was injured in the second half and retired in favor of Sutter. Pittsburgh will play its next game with Rayen High school at home Friday, two weeks from yesterday. The lineup:

Pittsburgh H. S.—34.		Trinity Hall—13.

NEW HAVEN, CONN., March 9.—President Hadley of Yale today gave out a statement having a bearing upon the inquiry into athletic abuses in the university, as preliminary to the making public of a longer report prepared by the special committee of the university council upon this subject and of the action of the undergraduate faculties upon that report. The statement follows:

"The committee appointed by the university council last autumn to inquire into the conduct of athletics in Yale university reports that the principle of student management, in spite of the difficulties connected therewith, is in its judgment a good one. The committee has investigated many evils connected with the extravagant use of time and money in athletics, and has suggested to the committee of the Yale financial union, a number of desirable reforms. The financial union is now occupied wiht attempts to carry out the suggestions of the council committee as fully and promptly as possible. As fast as the students and the graduate advisers have worked out these plans the results will ge biven to the public.

"The two undergraduate faculties have given their general approval to the course suggested by the council committee. They have also appointed special committees which, acting in co-operation with one another and with the student body, can secure intelligent treatment of any further questions which may arise."

CUMBERLAND, MD., March 9.—(Special.)—The Cumberland Y. M. C. A. basketball team tonight defeated the Gettysburg team here, 29 to 15.

In a hot game, the outcome of which was in doubt up to the last minute of play, the Wilmerding Y. M. C. A. defeated the W. U. P. five at Wilmerding last night, 25 to 22. In a preliminary game the Wilmerding second team was defeated by the Young Americans of Homestead, 16 to 15. Lineup of the big game:

Wilmerding—25.		W. U. P.—22.

BIG ENTRY LIST FOR LOUISVILLE

Never Before Were There So Many Teams Entered for National Bowling Honors.

RESULTS OF LOCAL MATCHES

The entry lists for the coming National bowling tournaments at Louisville are imposing and the largest ever had at an A. B. C. tournament. There are 218 five-man teams entered, 450 two-man teams, and 880 individuals. At Milwaukee last year the high water mark was supposed to have been reached, but then there were 217 five-man teams, 436 two-man teams and 813 individuals. Strange to say, not a New York team can be found on the list. Brooklyn has one team, the Grand Centrals. Buffalo will be represented better than any other eastern city. It has six five-man teams. Philadelphia, bidder for the tournament, will send only four teams, as many as will come from Washington, D. C. Baltimore has one team, and so has Wilmington, Del., and Erie; the latter will be represented by the famous Blue Ribbons. Youngstown and Wheeling will be represented, Youngstown by the Eagles, and Wheeling by the Has Beens. The entries of the Federal and North Braddock teams is duly registered. The greatest number of teams are from Chicago and Louisville. Milwaukee will be there with three teams.

The Monongahela section had a stormy meeting last night at Braddock and finally decided to bring its grievance before the Allegheny County executive committe next Sunday. The committee will meet at the Federal alleys and so the interested should not fail to be there. The Wilmerding-East Pittsburgh and the North Braddock-Colonial games will be submitted to the committee for action.

On the Brunswick alleys last night in a postponed and last game of the season for the Pittsburgh section, the champion Brunswick team received a surprise by dropping one game to the Bloomfields. The best score of the contest was made by the Brunswicks when they chalked up 886 in the second game. Hartman was the star with high score of 212 and best average. The the Bloomfields Smitt and Beringer were the best performers. Scores:

In the South Pittsburgh league last night, on the Southern alleys, the Southerns distinguished themselves by running up the good score of 1,012 in the second game. The Southerns swamped the Senators for all three games, totaling up the good average of 916 for the contest. Young was the boss bowler with high score of 232 and best average, 194 2-3. Hirsch was a good second for honors with high score of 212 and an average of 191 1-3. Williams also helped his team along nobly with three good scores to his credit. Scores:

Another excellent contest was the result of the meet between the Meadows and Nonames of the Liberty Valley league on the Penn avenue alleys last night. The Meadows won all three games in easy fashion, chalking up three fine scores and the splendid average of 927 2-3, and in the second game came within one pin of the 1,000 mark. The star individual bowling was by H. Hungerman, who chalked up three 200 scores. The big figure of 262 in the second game and the splendid average of 230. This is the best average made in the county this season. Scharf and Epping also made scores that would cause all ambitious pin knights to be proud of. Scores:

THE TWIN CITY LEAGUE.

Meets in the Regularly Scheduled Games and Good Scores Are Made.

Seven teams played in their regular scheduled meet in the Twin City league on the Federal alleys last night. The Fosters won all three games from the Royals by forfeiture. The Premiers insured the Prudentials for a loss of all three games, and the Bulls and Bears made the Lehighs look like lambs for three games. The Xanthas initiated the Maccabees into the mysteries of bowling for the count of three and the Pioneers duplicated the feat against the Black Diamonds. McPherson was the star bowler with the good score of 215 aand fine average of 198 1-3. Lamb was the high roller with 221. Scores:

SOUTH SIDE THE WINNER.

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., March 9.—(Special.)—For the fifth time East Liverpool went down in defeat before South Side in this city tonight by the score of 23 to 16. Fully 2,000 people witnessed the game, 300 coming from Pittsburgh on a special train. The series of two games out of three was won by South Side by superior ability. East Liverpool had a chance for victory tonight, but was able to land only six foul goals out of 18 chances. The game was thrilling from start to finish. Cartwright was in a collision with Koch and rendered unconscious by a fall to the floor. Line-up:

Kelly and Sullivan Fight a Draw.

LOS ANGELES, CAL., March 9.—The fight between Twin Sullivan and Hugh Kelly was declared a draw at the end of the twentieth round.

NEW CASTLE OBJECTS TO THE LEAGUE CARD

NEW CASTLE, PA., March 9.—(Special.)—There is a possibility that the New Castle club may not accept the schedule provisionally adopted at the Akron meeting of the Ohio and Pennsylvania Baseball league, but may withdraw from the organization rather than be forced to stand what will be almost certain to result in heavy financial loss. New Castle gets but eight or nine Saturday games at home and has nine open Sunday dates, while Youngstown is practically favored. Secretary Aiken of the New Castle club tried futilely to have two additional Saturday games transferred here from Youngstown and Akron. The total mileage traveled by the New Castle club under the schedule, as now drawn, is longer than that of any other club but Sharon, which may also turn down the schedule. The club directors will hold a meeting Sunday evening to consider the matter.

Andrew Brookmiller, a well-known baseball pitcher of McKeesport, yesterday signed a contract for the coming season with Don Curtis, manager of the Dallas (Tex.) team, and will report for duty on March 23.

ALTOONA, PA., March 9.—(Special.)—Infielder Otto Williams, victim of the covering-up evil, will play with the Altoona club this season, Manager Irwin having received his contract several days ago. Williams was sold in 1905 to New Orleans and received $1,000 for his services. Prior to September 1, 1905, he was purchased by Connie Mack, but was later served with a reservation notice by New Orleans. This spring Mack tendered him a contract for $1,200, which he returned unsigned. Later New Orleans sent him a contract calling for $1,875. He protested, but was told there would be no change in the figures. Williams thereupon accepted Altoona's offer of $2,400 for the playing season. Tim Flood, cut by Portland of the Pacific Coast league, has also signed here.

JIM DENNY WINS AND LOSES AT GOLF

Beats His Man in the First Round, but Is Beaten in the Second.

PINEHURST, N. C., March 9.—The first and second match play rounds of the third annual club championship tournament today, resulted in the defeat of two players generally regarded as the ones who would meet in the final round—John M. Ward of Mont Clair, N. J., and Allan Lard of Columbia, Washington, D. C. These matches were the features of the day's play: Louis E. Wardwell of Camden, Me., defeating Ward by one down on the home green, and William C. Freeman of Mont Clair disposing of Lard, two up and one to play.

Interesting matches are looked for in the final and semi-final rounds tomorrow, Wardwell meeting J. D. Foot of Apawamis and C. L. Becker of Woodland, Mass., in the morning round, the winners of these two matches coming together in the finals in the afternoon. Today's summaries:

First round—Louis E. Wardwell, Camden, Me., beat John E. Ward, Mont Clair, 1 up; J. O'H. Denny, Oakmont, Pa., beat Charles B. Price, Salem, Mass., 5 and 4; C. B. Fownes, Jr., Oakmont, beat T. J. Boyce, Rutland county, Vermont, 5 and 3; J. D. Foot, Apawamis, beat R. H. Perkins, New York, 4 and 3; C. H. Rosenfeld, New York, beat A. P. Thompson, Honesdale, Pa., 5 and 4; C. L. Becker, Woodland, beat L. D. Pierce, Woodland, 5 and 4; Allen Lard, Columbia, beat W. C. Fownes, Oakmont, 6 and 4; William C. Freeman, Mont Clair, beat H. C. Fownes, Oakmont, 4 and 3.

Second round—Wardwell beat Denny, 2 up; Foot beat Fownes, Jr., 6 and 4; Becker beat Rosenfeld, 4 and 2; Freeman beat Lard, 2 and 1.

The Monongahela (Pa.) team beat the Charleroi team, 11 to 2.

The Fughzees play Leetsdale tonight. The following players report at the Ft. Wayne station, Allegheny, at 6 p. m.: Mason, Biggert, Whyte, Wise McCandless, Billinger, Thompson, Albright and Sherbon.

The Butler Nationals journeyed to De Haven and were trimmed, 17 to 14. Ewalt of the De Havens did nice work, securing 11 points for the home team.

PIRATES BEGIN TO REACH TOWN

Otis Clymer Comes in the Lead of the Procession Ready to Go South.

LATEST FROM THE GROUNDS

The first out-of-town player of the Pirate crew got in yesterday. He is Otis Clymer, the outfielder. He says he is in the best of shape and looks it. Clymer did good work for the Pittsburgh team, taking part in 90 games, and getting an average of 298. In the 90 games he made 108 hits and scored 74 runs. He was secured from the Buffalo team and made good. He is almost certain of a permanent position in the outfield, and will no doubt be stationed in left field, if he plays anywhere near his last year's standard. Fred Clarke, if the outlook is favorable, will guide the game from the bench or, if Beaumont is bothered with his sore leg, the manager will play center field. Ganley may be considered a fixture in right field.

The Pirates who will report here to go to Hot Springs, will be coming in today and tomorrow. Tommy Leach, with his wife and son, is expected to report this morning. Last night Hans Wagner, Deacon Phillippe, Otis Clymer and a few friends attended a reception in Allegheny, given by N. A. Blaney, the florist. Mr. Blaney is a great admirer of the players, and during the winter engaged in many bowling matches with Wagner and Phillipee. President Drreyfuss was also invited to attend the last blowout the Pirates will have until they have won the world's championship next fall, a contingency sincerely expected by the players.

Heinie Pietz will be the only Pirate missing at Hot Springs next week. He wrote President Dreyfuss yesterday that his doctor will not allow him to go south for at least two weeks.

The list of players now at Hot Springs include Addie Joss, the Cleveland pitcher, who writes a Cleveland paper as follows: "The grounds are now in fair condition, the heavy rains of late have softened them and with the assistance of O'Malley, Pittsburgh's groundkeeper, they are now in as near perfect condition as they can be. Since he has been here we have only been on the side lines and in the outfield, but we have so far had sufficient room for all the work we have done. The hours for work will necessarily have to be changed when the Pirates arrive, but I guess we can manage so all will get enough work without interference. Chick Stahl had the braves out for a warming up this morning, and big Bill Dineen in his pitching displayed such steam as would make the shades of Amos Rusie take to the uncut pines. Parent's stunts around the sacks were the best yet. The way Uncle Cyrus bored them in made little Harry Smith, the Pirates' backstop, wince, while Selbach scooped in everything in sight in the deep garden. Lou Criger was so much improved that he was down in the hotel rotunda this afternoon.

Another Game for Standfast.

The Standfast pool team defeated the Schaeffer pool team on their tables by 100 to 77, thereby winning the two games played and the series. The Standfast team played a grand game, having their opponents safe at all times. Mavis was the star, having 59 balls. He received rounds of applause for several shots. Wernert and Schroeffel were in the game with several good runs and helped to make the game safe for Standfast. The Milvale team can have Friday, March 16, with Standfast if they will drop a postal to A. Standfast, 808 East street, Allegheny. Score:

Standfast—		Schaeffer—
Wernert	26	Eigenrauch	15
Schroeffel	23	Mansfield	28
Mavis	59	Schaeffer	38

Sebring to Get Into Trouble.

CINCINNATI, March 9.—Sebring, ex-Red and present manager of the Williamsport (Pa.) outlaw team, it has been repeatedly charged, is tampering with National league players who have balked on the salary question. "It will go hard with Sebring if these charges are proved against him before the national commission," said President Harriman today. "So far, though, the charges have been made only through the newspapers. The commission will probably meet in a week or 10 days, and Sebring's fate will then be decided upon."

Lindens Defeat Bates Streets.

At H. V. Schmidt's pool room, Oakland, the Lindens defeated Bates Street in an interesting game. Score:

Rifle Shoot at Cumberland.

CUMBERLAND, MD., March 9.—(Special.)—The Cumberland shooting club has arranged to hold a rifle tournament in this city next Thursday under the management of E. E. Goss. All the shooting will be done at 200 yards on the standard American target. Beside the regular money events, special prizes will also be given.

P., O. AND W. VA. MEETS TODAY

The Pennsylvania, Ohio and West Virginia league magnates meet this morning at the Hotel Henry for another deliberation. The purpose of the meeting is to adopt a schedule. A similar meeting was held last Saturday, but the league failed to agree on the schedule presented. Whether it will adopt the instrument presented this morning remains to be seen. The magnates have had the new schedule for perusal since last Tuesday, and they will all come prepared to act intelligently. The meeting will be called to order at 10 o'clock, although there will probably be some delay due to the Clarksburg representative arriving late.

Steeplechase at City Park Results in a Couple of Accidents on the Jump.

LONG SHOTS DAY AT ASCOT

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW ORLEANS, March 9.—Scratches and mishaps reduced the field in today's steeplechase at City Park to three horses. Six started, but Schoolmaster and Moderator fell and Ben Hempstead was pulled up after he had scrambled over the first jump. Flying Raincloud and Debar were the only winning favorites. The weather was clear and the track heavy. Summaries:

First race, 3½ furlongs—Vendido, 108, C. Morris, 20 to 1, won; Sister Peggy, 105, W. McIntyre, 15 to 1, second; Merry Leap Year, 110, Munro, 5 to 1, third. Time, :44 4-5. Approbation, Mamie K., Lady Mala, Tom Morgan, Irene A., Dacra, Fanny Marks, Miss Jewell, George Duchscherer, Moneymaker and J. D. Dunn also ran.

Children Dance in Costume.

In the picturesque costumes of a century and a half ago the children of the John Hart chapter and their friends held carnival yesterday afternoon in the Thurston preparatory school, Shady avenue. The attendance was large at the colonial tea which the children of the American Revolution gave, 275 people being in attendance, of whom almost two-thirds were children. The entire lower floor of the school building was reserved for the tea and beautifully decorated with palms and asparagus, American flags and ribbons, the decorations being arranged principally in the gymnasium, where the dance was conducted, while in the reception rooms, where tea tables were placed, there were masses of red and white carnations tied with blue ribbons. Mrs. Samuel A. Ammon, regent of the Pittsburgh chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, and Mrs. William T. Wallace, chairman of the Western Pennsylvania committee of the Colonial Dames, poured tea and chocolate. The eight young girls who danced the minuet were daintily gowned in brocade and satin, reminiscent of the colonial days, and so quaint and pretty was the stately dance that they were compelled to give it a second time. The dancers were Miss Clara Wishart, Miss Clara Gillespie, Miss Buelah Martin, Miss Katherine Crawford, Miss Helen Sullivan, Miss Alice Pearson, Miss Frances Hawley and Miss Jeanette Corbitt. The rehearsals for the dance were conducted under the supervision of Miss Hunt, the physical culture teacher of the Thurston preparatory school. Especially effective also was the unfurling of the flag purchased by the chapter from the proceeds of a Mother Goose party given two years ago. Mrs. F. H. Wade gave the flag to the chapter in a bright little speech, Howe Nimick receiving it in the name of the chapter. The little color bearer, Vincent Imbrie, could not be present, and Howe Nimick, whose mother, Mrs. Frank H. Nimick, was a charter member of the chapter and very active in its work until her death, was chosen to accept it on behalf of the chapter members.

The salute to the flag was then given by all the children. After a grand march led by Miles Merwin, who impersonated Uncle Sam, George and Martha Washington, Don Liggett and Sarah Marsh, and the two little minute men, William G. Willson and William H. House, Jr., the children danced until 7 o'clock. The contributions, which were placed in the box, guarded during the greater part of the afternoon by the small minute men, amounted to $25, which will be the nucleus for a scholarship fund to be used by the chapter in securing enforcement of the child labor law in Pittsburgh by enabling some child who has been working in violation of that law to go to school, the fund being an equivalent for the wages he would take home to his parents. The singing of "American" by the children and their guests concluded the entertainment. Mrs. W. W. Wishart, the regent of the chapter, was assisted throughout the afternoon by the regents of the various other patriotic societies in Pittsburgh.

Will Install New Laundry.

One hundred and fifty dollars were cleared yesterday afternoon at the benefit euchre given in the home of Mrs. Frank P. Blackmore, Center avenue. The money will be used to install a new laundry in the Pittsburgh Home for Babies, in Center avenue. Mrs. Blackmore is a member of the board. Associated with her yesterday afternoon in carrying out the arrangements for the euchre were Mrs. Thomas MacFadden, Mrs. George Neighman, Mrs. George D. Kelly, Mrs. J. A. Perley, Mrs. George Shepard, Mrs. R. P. McChesney, Mrs. J. C. DeNoon and Mrs. Frank H. Knapp. There were 15 tables at which the guests played six-hand euchre. Twenty-one prizes were awarded. Among the winners being Mrs. Charles O'Brien, Mrs. W. J. Caskey, Mrs. Charles Schmunk, Miss Mary Steele, Mrs. F. Shallenberg, Mrs. C. E. Smith, Mrs. W. W. Robinson, Mrs. E. C. Hann, Mrs. T. P. Westday, Mrs. Bentel, Mrs. L. Gordan, Mrs. D. Matthews, Miss Stella Kelly and Mrs. W. W. Scully.

Secure Support of Senators.

At the meeting of the Brighton Woman's club last Thursday, at the home of Mrs. William Scholle, Westminster street, Allegheny, letters from Senators Knox and Penrose were read. The club recently wrote these representatives asking them to use their influence in passing a bill for the establishment of a national reservation at Niagara Falls, thus preventing the destruction of this historic spot, as has been advocated in certain quarters. In reply to the letters sent by the secretary, Miss Lida Linn, both senators stated that their sentiments were heartily in accord with the ideas of the club and they would use their best efforts in supporting the national reservation bill. The subject for discussion on Thursday was "American Revolution." Papers on "Causes and Events," "Revolutionary Leaders" and "Current Events" were read by Miss Eleanor Lang, Miss Gertrude McCargo and Mrs. Henry G. Lefferts, respectively.

Entertains Vassar Alumnae.

The Vassar Students' Aid Society met yesterday afternoon with Miss Lucy Kennedy in her home in Forbes avenue, Squirrel Hill. It was decided to have membership and nominating committees appointed. The president, Mrs. Albert Daschbach, will appoint them in a few days. Arrangements were also made for the annual meeting which will be held in May. Society annually supports two scholarships, which are awarded after a competitive examination. The present holders of the scholarships which are awarded for the four years' course have another year of study after this year before winning their degrees, consequently no examination will be held this spring. The society has money in its treasury to cover the amount of the scholarships for next year.

Southern Heirlooms and Stories.

The exhibition of precious old Southern heirlooms treasured in families transplanted to northern homes and the telling of their stories created unusual interest in the meeting of the Woman's Southern Society yesterday afternoon. Relics from the colonial to the civil war times played a part in the program, which was presented under the direction of Mrs. J. M. Hall. Mrs. M. C. Wolfe talked of "Old Letters and Diaries," and Mrs. Burcham Harding spoke of the "Charms of Colonial Furniture." The meeting was well attended. The president, Mrs. Hugh Pendleton Allen, is still too ill to take up her duties of office and Mrs. Ellison Costin, the vice president, presided yesterday in her absence.

Julia Ward Howe Very Ill.

The Pittsburgh colony of New England Women has been unable to secure Mrs. Julia Ward Howe to be its guest on the anniversary of its organization, March 21. Mrs. Howe is very ill at her home in Boston. Though disappointed in securing either of the guests of honor they had hoped for, William Dean Howells and Mrs. Howe, the members of the colony will make further arrangements to celebrate the anniversary day in an elaborate manner.

Will Play Benefit Matinee.

The Ladies' Aid society of the Pittsburgh hospital yesterday completed preliminary arrangements for a benefit matinee on Wednesday, April 18, in the Nixon theater. John Drew will appear in his play, "DeLancey." The patronesses and box-holders will be announced in a few weeks. The Pittsburgh hospital was formerly known as the East End and the Charity hospital.

Temperance Workers Meet.

The quarterly meeting of the Allegheny County Women's Christian Temperance union will be held in the Second Presbyterian church, Eighth street, next Tuesday. There will be three sessions, at 9:45, 2 and 7:30. The executive committee will meet at 1:15. The evening session will take the form of a mass meeting, at which several addresses will be made.

Speakers at Settlement House.

Miss Beulah Kennard gave an interesting talk on "Play for Children" at the regular fortnightly meeting of the neighborhood women, yesterday afternoon in the Soho Baths Settlement house. A talk on hygiene was given by Dr. Mill Chapman, the program for the afternoon also including several songs by Mrs. Roy Hamilton.

President McFarland Speaks.

In the Edgeworth school auditorium last evening J. Horace McFarland of Harrisburg, president of the American Civic league, delivered an address before a large audience interested in civic improvements. The Edgeworth Village Improvement society had charge of the meeting.

Notes of the Clubs.

The Rev. Dr. J. H. Gregg spoke yesterday afternoon before the Parents and Teachers Co-operative association in the Fifth ward, Allegheny. Dr. Gregg was a former pupil in the Fifth ward school.

"An Evening in Holland" describes the entertainment which the Monday club of Carnegie gave last evening in the home of Mrs. George Z. Hosack in Carnegie.

The Colonna club met last evening in the Academy of Our Lady of Mercy, Fifth avenue, Oakland. The program was composed of character sketches, including Miss Florence Nightingale, Thomas Gainsborough and Henry W. Longfellow.

Will Celebrate Golden Wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. Eli Shearer will celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of their marriage on Friday of next week. They will be at home informally through the entire day to all their neighbors, and from 2 until 5 o'clock in the afternoon to friends from a distance. Prior to her marriage in 1856 Mrs. Shearer was Miss Martha Kennedy. Mrs. Alec Sorbie of Oakmont is a daughter.

Announce Engagement at Luncheon.

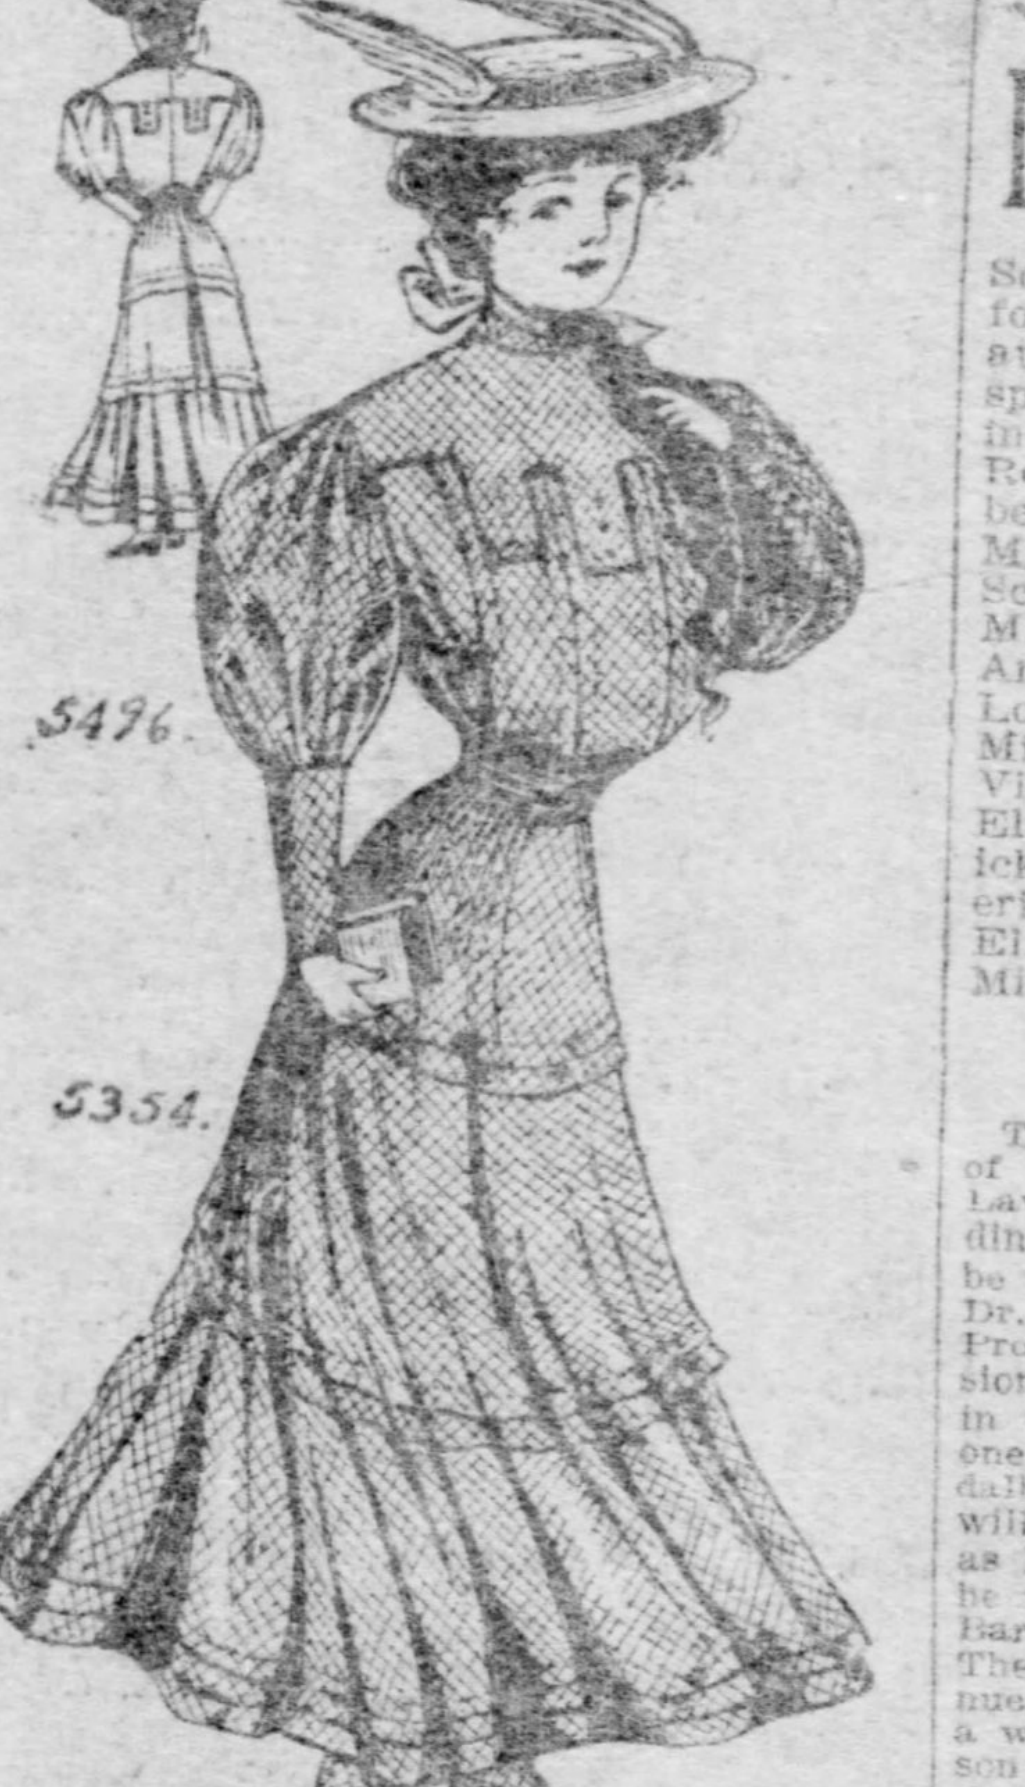
Mrs. E. C. Weaver of Wilkinsburg gave a luncheon at her home yesterday to make public the engagement of her daughter, Miss Jennie C. Weaver, and William A. Maxwell, Jr., of Sharon. The wedding will be an event of the spring. Covers were laid for 18 guests and pink and white roses formed the centerpiece.

A Lenten Breakfast.

A delicious breakfast or luncheon dish is smelts, Bearnaise. Twelve large or 18 medium sized smelts will be sufficient. Split them down the back, remove the backbones, rub with one tablespoonful of oil and season with one-half pinch of salt and a dash of pepper. Put the fish into a double broiler and broil for three minutes, turning from side to side. Pour a gill of Bearnaise sauce into a dish, arrange the smelts carefully on top, garnish slightly with demi-glaze sauce and serve.

Why did the fly fly? Because the spider spied her. Why did the whale wail? Because the smelt smelt. Why did the quail quail? Because the adder had her. Why did the owl howl? Because the woodpecker would peck her. But now, why did the crow crow?

THE GAZETTE PATTERN.



(Misses Waist No 5496, Misses Skirt No 5354.) Misses' Costume.

An exceptionally pretty mode for a young girl is here shown in a development of blue and green checked mohair. The waist closes in the back and the full front is laid in stitched pleats simulating box pleats. The back is plain, the slight fullness at the waistline being disposed of in gathers. The yoke is cut in battlement edge, and a high standing collar completes the neck. The circular tucked skirts are very becoming to young girls and also very popular. The one here shown is adaptable to most of the season's fabrics, and is particularly stylish in mohair. Henrietta, challis, veiling and serge are all suitable to the mode. The medium-size will require two yards of 36-inch material for the waist, and 3⅜ yards for the skirt.

Misses' Waist, No. 5496: Sizes for 15, 16 and 17 years.

Misses Tucked Circular Skirt, No. 5354: Sizes for 12, 13, 14, 15, 16 and 17 years.

The above illustration calls for two separate patterns. The price is 10 cents for the waist, and 10 cents for the skirt.

VELVET TAM O'SHANTER.

Placing Ostrich Plumes Under Hat Brims Is Fad of the Season

Putting ostrich plumes under, instead of over, hat brims is a fad of the season. The quills are sewed to the hat so that the fluffy tendrils fall on the hair, and the softness against the side of the coiffure makes many a plain woman look pretty and almost any shape hat becoming. The feathers are placed so that they will touch the hair in front and on the side, at the back and one side, or entirely at the side.

In wearing a feather this way the brim should slope upward, so that it will be plainly seen. This gives the hats a coquettish tilt that will be exceedingly appropriate for young women, or for older ones if they like a jaunty looking head wear.

SOCIETY

Contributions to this department must bear the name and address of the writer to insure attention.

MRS. HERMAN G. SCOTT will give a luncheon today in honor of her daughter, Miss Eleanor Louise Scott, and a score or more of the latter's young school friends. Mrs. Scott has arranged original decorations for the affair. An orchestra will be in attendance and the afternoon will be spent at various games. The guests will include Miss Scott, Miss Elizabeth Rodgers, Miss Agnes Rodgers, Miss Elizabeth Marshall, Miss Natalie Donnelly, Miss Marcella Callery, Miss Gretchen Schoonmaker, Miss Elizabeth Totten, Miss Katherine Anderson, Miss Marion Anderson, Miss Martha Anderson, Miss Louise Morrison, Miss Helen Morrison, Miss Louise Wolfe, Miss Nina Blair, Miss Virginia Lee, Miss Florence Croft, Miss Elizabeth Stevenson, Miss Elizabeth Nimick, Miss Dorothy Jennings, Miss Katherine Verner, Miss Elizabeth Shaw, Miss Elizabeth Kuhn, Miss Marion Sterrett, Miss Louise Davis and Miss Mary Kebler.

Barnsdall-Law Wedding.

The day has been selected for the wedding of Miss Frances Vivian Barnsdall and Robert Law, Jr., the latter of Denver, Col. The wedding is set for Wednesday, April 25, and will be a quietly conducted home event. The Rev. Dr. Robert Waddington Grange, rector of the Protestant Episcopal Church of the Ascension, will solemnize the marriage at 5 o'clock in the afternoon and the bride will have but one attendant, her sister, Miss Aline Barnsdall, who will act as maid of honor. Mr. Law will have his brother, Morell Law of Denver, as his best man, and after their wedding trip he will take his bride to Denver to live. Miss Barnsdall, who is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore N. Barnsdall of North Negley avenue, has visited in Denver and already has a wide circle of friends there. Her fiance is a son of Robert Law, Sr., general manager of the Colorado & Northwestern railway. Miss Barnsdall and her mother expect to leave on an extended eastern shopping tour next Monday evening, and will not return to Pittsburgh until shortly before the wedding.

Two Fancy Work Parties.

Mrs. W. E. Fohl of Oakmont gave a farewell fancy work party yesterday preparatory to leaving her new home in Sewickley next week. The guests were a number of Mrs. Fohl's Oakmont neighbors, the only East End member of the party being Miss Sara Patterson. Mrs. J. Wallace Elder of Harmarville, Mrs. Fohl's sister, acted as assistant. An informal dinner in the evening followed the afternoon's entertainment.

Mrs. Levi Bird Duff of Taylor avenue, Allegheny, entertained a few friends informally at fancy work yesterday afternoon. The guests were a number of women who have been meeting at their various homes during the winter and spring.

Guests from Switzerland.

At Mrs. Charles Marshel Clarke's tea yesterday afternoon the honors were shared by Mrs. Bowring, Miss Bowring and Miss Bessie Bowring of Lausanne, Switzerland. Mrs. Bowring and her family are making their residence temporarily in Edgewood, while a son is taking a course of study in this country. Mrs. Bowring is an aunt of Mrs. James Gayley of New York City, formerly of Pittsburgh. The tea yesterday was an informal 4 o'clock affair, at which the hostess was assisted by Miss Florence Murdock, Miss Katherine Murdock, Miss Emily Cowan and Mrs. Thomas McKennan Reed.

Mrs. Harwood Is Feted.

Mr. and Mrs. George Harwood, the latter Miss Ida Fisher before her marriage, returned from their southern wedding trip yesterday morning and will occupy apartments at the Schenley until April 1, when they will remove to the Bellefield Dwellings, to be at home after June 1. Yesterday afternoon Mrs. Harwood was honor guest at a bridge party at which the hostess was Mrs. H. G. Veeder of Denniston avenue. Ten tables were in play and at each a horn of plenty filled with daffodils was awarded as a prize at the close of the games.

Post-Nuptial Announcement Made.

Pittsburgh friends will be interested in the announcement of the marriage of Miss Eugenia Hull, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. K. Hull of Youngstown, O., and Horace Armstrong of this city, the marriage having taken place on July 4 of last year. Mr. Armstrong is employed on the official force of the United States engineering corps, with headquarters in Braddock. Mrs. Armstrong, who is well known here, is now visiting her parents in Youngstown.

Bride-Elect Returns Home.

Miss Nell Genevieve Brady, whose engagement to Jeremiah V. Dunlevy was recently announced, returned home yesterday morning from a visit of several weeks to Washington, D. C. and Old Point Comfort. Miss Brady was accompanied by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Brady, and her sister, Miss Mayme Brady. The Brady-Dunlevy wedding will take place shortly after Easter.

DESPERADOES GO UP FOR LONG TERM

Negro Highwaymen Are Shown No Mercy in Judge McClung's Court Room.

HOTEL EMPLOYE IN TROUBLE

Two negro highwaymen and burglars, convicted of several crimes were given quick justice by Judge McClung yesterday, George Wilson getting 12 years and Frank Jackson eight years to the penitentiary. They held up and robbed men at Versailles and Rankin and Duquesne, and were suspected of scores of robberies in the small towns surrounding Pittsburgh.

Other cases were: Harry Carpenter, highwayman, 30 days; Andrew Kwiatkowski, unlawful wounding, four months; Jennie Donovan and Katie Dupont, larceny, 90 days; J. W. White, larceny, four months; Ralph Miller, larceny, four months.

Matthew Barrett, formerly employed at the Lincoln hotel, was convicted of petty thefts from guests. During the trial it developed he had been arrested in connection with the theft of a $2,500 diamond necklace at the fashionable Algonquin hotel, in New York, with four other hotel employes.

The grand jury returned true bills against William Hewitt, James Horton and Frank Jackson, negroes, charged with a serious felony; felonious assault, "Nick" Cudo; embezzlement, L. E. Bahl; robbery, Thomas Williamson et al; burglary, D. J. Coles et al; forgery, A. T. Wiltze; entering a building, William Robinson et al; mayhem, W. S. Branch; perjury, T. W. Wyke; false pretense, Louis Funke, Peter Brisbane; larceny, George Harrara, M. E. Stear; felony, John Tarr (2); aggravated assault, Henry Pollard, Monroe Cobbs, Ida Morgan; assault and battery, William Weidner, J. W. Lauer; misdemeanor, Frank Parterella, Charles Thomas, F. Farrene, Cloyd Fleming.

Frank A. Kanzler, a First avenue blacksmith, sued Charles Carnahan for $10,000 damages. He avers the defendant sent letters to several creditors of the plaintiff saying the defendant owns the plaintiff's shop, and the plaintiff says he was damaged as a result.

Joseph G. Siebeneck, late of Allegheny, leaves an unestimated personal estate and realty valued at $17,500 to his three children, Mary H. and Harry K. Siebeneck and Christine Swayne.

An involuntary petition in bankruptcy was filed by the Jackson Printing Company and other creditors of the Pittsburgh Blue Print Company, with claims aggregating $600. It is alleged in the petition that the concern is insolvent.

ASKS MRS. THAW TO PAY.

Willet Stained Glass Company Files Its Statement in Suit Over Stained Glass Window.

The Willet Stained Glass Company, by Attorneys Balph & Balph, filed a statement in its suit against Mrs. Mary C. Thaw. The plaintiff demands $16,500, with interest from January 1, 1906. It is alleged she consulted the plaintiff in August, 1902, about a memorial window in the Third Presbyterian church and William Willet suggested "The Holy City" as a subject, submitting her a sketch, which she is said to have kept for several months. A short time later, it is alleged, she got another firm to build a window on the same subject, which resembled, it is said, the sketch of the plaintiff.

On December 16, 1904, she consulted the plaintiff about the window, saying she was dissatisfied with it, and employed the plaintiff to make it conform to her ideas, which, it is alleged, they did, making it conform to lines of the original sketch, and she was satisfied with it, it is said. This was worth $15,650, it is claimed. They placed a sheet or plate glass cover over it, it is alleged, worth $350, and also erected a gable art window, for which $550 is claimed.

HARD CLASSES TO TEACH.

Supt. Andrews Says Fifth and Sixth Year Grade Teaching Is Strenuous Work.

Sixth-year grade teachers of the Pittsburgh schools met yesterday afternoon in the North school. Miss Loella Donaldson of the Brushton schools presided. Supt. Samuel Andrews spoke on the convention held this week in Altoona. He made a number of suggestions based on developments at the convention and declared among other things that the fifth and sixth-year work was the most strenuous.

Methods of teaching mental arithmetic were discussed by Miss Florence McComb of the Liberty school, Miss Mary Praegner of the Bedford school and Miss Ida M. Connelly of the Forbes school. The rapid-result method in connection with some analysis was thought best.

Grammar was the subject of Mrs. Elizabeth M. Harbaugh of the Homewood school and Miss Marion V. Neeper of the Hiland school. In making the distinction between composition and technical grammar Miss Neeper said that when the reasons are given for the use of certain words and not others, one passes from composition to grammar.

The topic on the open text book method was opened by Miss Mary E. Norman of the Grant school, a general discussion following. The general thought was that this method was not proving a success. Spelling was discussed by Miss Mary Caulfield of the Sterrett school.

The need of a uniform course in literature by all the grades was spoken of at length by Miss Gertrude T. Brossart of the Liberty school. Miss Emma D. Hunter of the Forbes school and Miss E. Curtis Harsha of the Hiland school. A committee consisting of Miss Caroline Molick of the Franklin school, Miss Agnes V. Roche of the Peebles school and Miss Lily R. Davis of the Washington school, was appointed to submit a list of books to be used in the sixth year.

JONAS GIVES BAIL.

Kittanning Business Man Waives Hearing Before United States Commissioner.

August Jonas, former president of the Crystal Mirror Company, Kittanning, waived a hearing yesterday before United States Commissioner Lindsey on charges of embezzlement and making false statements with a view to defrauding creditors, and gave bail for court in the sum of $3,000. Jonas was arrested at Niles, O., last week while at the home of Mrs. Guretta Woodward, divorced wife of J. C. Woodward, a former employe of the glass concern.

Woodward won a suit for $20,000 against Jonas for alienation of his wife's affections. Before the trouble with the Woodwards Jonas was a respected business man of Kittanning. It is charged he defrauded his creditors of over $30,000.

SELLS LIQUOR TO KEEP CHILDREN FROM STARVING

To keep her children from starving, Mrs. Annie Murphy told Magistrate Kirby yesterday, she was compelled to run a speakeasy. She was arrested at her home, Depot alley and Penn avenue, Thursday night and with her five children was taken to Central station. The eldest child is 9 years. At the hearing she told the magistrate her husband died sometime ago and left her penniless and she sold liquor to support her little ones. The woman was discharged.

STRAUS CLAIMS POPIA IS MEMBER OF "BLACK HAND"

Samuel Popia, the Italian who stabbed Monti Angelo Thursday at the new Machesney building, Fourth avenue, was committed to jail yesterday for court by Magistrate Kirby, in default of $1,000 bail, on a charge of felonious assault and battery. Peter Straus, an Italian prominent among his people, says Popia is a member of the Black Hand society, and a short time ago threatened to kill him.

Hold Injured Girl's Assailant.

Alderman Mansfield of McKeesport yesterday held David Hancock, a Scott Haven miner, to await the result of injuries he inflicted on Mamie Newell, inmate of a McKeesport house Wednesday night. Hancock cut the girl's throat with a razor during a fit of jealousy, and she is lying in the McKeesport hospital.

We have been taught the subject of economy from childhood. We, in turn, have extolled the merits of frugality to others. A savings account, bearing 4 per cent compound interest, with the Commonwealth Trust Company, in Fourth avenue, assists and stimulates greatly in one's efforts to save systematically, by the addition of a snug profit every six months, which represents the accrued interest.

MARKET STREET CORNER IS SOLD

ALLEGHENY SALE OF $65,000

Another Market street corner has passed out of the market, for a time at least, through the office of Joseph A. Hoeveler, the total consideration in the two deals consummated being $115,000. For C. Dietrich, the market butcher, Mr. Hoeveler has sold 100 and 102 Market street, 40x60 feet, at the northeast corner of Market street and First avenue, for $80,000, or $2,000 a front foot. Two three-story brick buildings are on the lot. These are occupied by G. S. Daugherty & Co., wholesale grocers, who pay a rental of $3,000 a year for them and have a three-year lease. The same agent also sold for the Lawyers Realty Company 104 Market street, adjoining, 20x60 feet, for $35,000. The three-story brick building on this lot has also been occupied of late by the Daugherty company, and has a renting value of $1,600 to $1,800 a year. The Lawyers Realty Company, which is composed chiefly of a number of young local attorneys, bought the property last August for $30,000, so that it clears $5,000 by this sale. The buyer of both properties is John Dunlap, one of the largest property owners in that district. The two properties cost him $31.94 a square foot, which is considered reasonable in view of the fact that an alley runs in the rear of them. Mr. Dunlap owns 22x78 feet on the opposite side of this alley, facing in First avenue, and also 60x120 feet at the southeast corner of Market street and Second avenue.

Deal of $65,000 Is Closed.

The deal for the D. T. Simen estate property at 106-108 East Ohio street, corner of Ark alley, which was mentioned in The Gazette Wednesday, was closed yesterday, the consideration being $65,000, the sum named in the original option. R. A. Saxton made the deal through the Samuel W. Black Company, but the name of the buyer is withheld. The lot measures 30x86 feet and is improved with two good three-story brick buildings, one of which is occupied by the Beckfield Real Estate Company and the other by the wholesale liquor store of Harry Hollander. The price is at the rate of $2,167 a front foot.

For several days a report has been current and as often denied that the same agents had sold the Munden holdings on the west side of Federal street, above Erie street, for $60,000. Yesterday the report was circulated with more vigor than before, and apparently came from good authority. The lot has a frontage of 40 feet in Federal street and runs back 240 feet to West Diamond street, with a width in the rear of 60 feet. On the front are erected three very old two-story brick buildings, occupied as a barber shop, plumbing shop and cigar store. Some time ago the property was on the market at $55,000, but the deal fell through.

The Samuel W. Black Company sold for S. W. Black 1300-1310 Webster avenue and 19-23 Logan street, Eighth ward, for $40,000. The property is at the southeast corner of the two streets and has a number of houses on the lot. It is the only property within a radius of several squares that has a frontage on three streets.

Can't Find Ninth Heir.

A missing heir of the Reineman estate, the last one of nine whose signatures are necessary, has for several days prevented the closing of the deal whereby William H. McCarthy is to secure the cafe of William F. Hammel at 242 Diamond street. At a late hour yesterday the attorney for the Reinemans had not located the much-wanted heir, but it is expected the deal will go through as scheduled in a few days at most. The terms of the deal are as follows: Mr. Hammel some time ago secured a five-year lease on the property at $6,000 a year. At the end of two years of his lease he secured an extension of five years at $10,000 a year. He still has six years of this entire period. For this six years' privilege it is reported that he secures between $55,000 and $60,000. After getting this privilege from Mr. Hammel, McCarthy negotiated with the Reinemans for an extension of four years, making a 10-year lease dating from May 1. To get this he has agreed to pay a bonus of about $2,000 a year to the estate on the six-year Hammel lease and $12,000 a year for the remaining four years, which makes $12,000 a year for the whole 10 years. Mr. McCarthy expects to move from 506 Wood street, which now belongs to the First National bank, May 1, and will make some alterations to the Hammel cafe. Mine host "Billy" Hammel proposes to go out of the restaurant business after having served the business public of Pittsburgh in a highly satisfactory manner for many years.

Horne-Stewart Rumors Denied.

A report was generally circulated through the East End yesterday that the Horne-Stewart Company was going into business again in the new building which John D. Mabold is erecting on the former John Goettman property at Penn avenue and St. Clair street. Albert Horne, when told of the rumor last night, said: "It is all news to us, and you may say it is entirely without foundation. The Horne-Stewart Company is not considering the matter of going into business again. Most of the members of our firm are now connected with the Joseph Horne Company, and we expect to stay here."

The Westbury Land Company has been formed to take title to the Fife farm of 87 acres beyond Mt. Lebanon, recently bought by some of its members. The property is on the line of the proposed Pittsburgh-Washington-Cannonsburg street car line, and will be held for investment. The incorporators are W. W. Ramsey, John Price and Leo M. Dillon.

The J. M. Poorbaugh Company has been chartered, with a capital of $25,000, by John M. Poorbaugh, John G. Rhein and Carl E. Poorbaugh. It is the purpose of the company to build 20 frame houses this summer in Lincoln place, on the McKeesport line, at a cost of about $2,500 each.

John A. Taylor has sold to Sadie E. McKnight an improved property, 45x157 feet, on the west side of Negley avenue, near Homer street, Nineteenth ward, for $14,250.

Leased a River Dock.

Avey & Irish leased for Louis B. and Virginia C. Hays to the Peoples Coal Company 1,650 feet of river wharfage on the south side of the Monongahela river opposite Hazelwood for three years, at $1,800 a year. The privilege is now held by the River Coal Company.

Geissenhainer & Lamb have sold for the estate of Katherina Ochenhirt to Henry Ahlers the former Gerst brewery property, 71x111 feet, at the northeast corner of Madison avenue and Second street, Third ward, Allegheny, for $10,000. The lot is vacant and will be used by the Ahlers Lumber Company as a storage yard.

Hampton street: R. B. King sold for the King estate to Charles A. Edsall of Arbuckles & Co. 50x163 feet on the north side of Hampton street, west of North Negley avenue, and facing the T. N. Barnsdall property, for $5,000 as the site for a $6,000 residence.

Broad street: Thomas McCaffrey sold for W. C. Horner to Patrick Carroll 5421 Broad street, a frame house on 20x96 feet, for $4,500.

Center avenue: The Aronson Realty Company reports the sale to Josiah Goldman of 2103 Center avenue, near Erin street, Eleventh ward, an eight-room brick house on 22x75 feet, for $7,400. The same company sold for Josephine Sykes to M. Muehlbras a ten-room reception hall brick house on 35x95 feet in Coltart square, Oakland, for $6,800.

Heath street: Fred R. Huseman sold to Jessica W. Rhea an improved lot, 37x98 feet, on the east side of Heath street, near Homer street, Nineteenth ward, for $7,100.

Belmar place: N. A. Brown sold to Elijah H. Hulem an improved lot, 26x100 feet, on the south side of Idlewild street, Twenty-first ward, for $5,100.

Singer street: Ira C. Eakin sold to Paul P. Saunders an improved lot, 25x105 feet at the northwest corner of Singer and McKee streets, Thirty-seventh ward, for $2,150.

Good North Side Sales.

Avalon: Frank N. Young reports these sales: For Marx Bros. to A. Heckman, a new house in Hemlock street, Avalon, for $5,200; for C. A. Orr to W. Y. Hutchinson, a property in Hemlock street, for $4,700; for Mrs. S. Hastings to O. G. Kinsey, 512 California avenue, Avalon, for $4,000; for J. M. Brown to John J. Scott, 230 Ohio street, Avalon, for $2,525; for C. L. Smith to William J. McMaster, 102 Prospect street, Avalon, for $3,500; for Mrs. Annie Smith to [illegible] Mercu, a brick house in Decatur street, Allegheny, for $3,500; for J. E. Davinney to F. C. Leslie, 50x100 feet in Oregon avenue, Bellevue, for $1,900.

Sterrett street: James W. Drape & Co. sold to Robert B. Lea 712 Sterrett street, a brick house on 24x75 feet, for $3,750; to J. W. Rhea, a brick house on 37x100 feet, in Heath street, for $7,100. The same firm placed these mortgages: $25,000 on a downtown property at 4½ per cent; $5,000 and $4,500 on residence in Second ward, Allegheny; $4,500 on a Crafton house; $3,600 on a house in Idlewild street; $5,000 on a Chislett street property, all at 6 per cent.

Fifth avenue: Catherine E. Salsgiver sold to Caroline A. Jarrett an improved lot, 26x110 feet, at the southeast corner of Fifth avenue and Kelly street, Twenty-first ward, for $6,000.

Susquehanna street: William Speakman sold to Edward P. Hart 25x160 feet in Susquehanna street, Twenty-first ward, for $1,850.

Greenfield: Michael McNally sold to Morris Goldstein 33x100 feet at Greenfield avenue and Hoosac street, Twenty-third ward, for $1,700.

Morningside: Gottlieb Gross sold to Thomas Adams 37x100 feet in Morningside avenue, Nineteenth ward, for $1,675.

Hazelwood: W. H. Spensler sold to John B. Fancourt 46x160 feet on the north side of Hazelwood avenue, Twenty-third ward, for $1,300.

The Pittsburgh bureau of building inspection issued these permits: Mrs. Isabella Jamison, three one-story frame storerooms at Homewood avenue and Fleury alley, Twenty-first ward, to cost $2,400; J. B. Heim, two-story frame dwelling at Westmoreland street, near Somerset street, Twenty-first ward, to cost $2,400; Frank Carr, two-story frame dwelling in Spencer street, Twenty-first ward, to cost $3,000; F. M. Greenfield, frame two-story and attic dwelling in Griffin street, near Boggs avenue, Thirty-second ward, to cost $2,800; Patrick Haley, double two-story brick dwelling at 4223 Calvin street, Seventeenth ward, to cost $2,700; Peter Gloever, two-story frame dwelling, at Fifth avenue and De Soto street, Fourteenth ward, $2,000; M. Rodbord, two-story brick dwelling at 1819 Wylie avenue, Eleventh ward, to cost $900; Mathilda G. McConnelly, two-story frame addition to store in Liberty street, near Cedar street, Sixteenth ward, to cost $1,500.

C. C. HAMILTON.

Mr. Hamilton deserves the title "pioneer," for he was the father of the outer Penn avenue movement in real estate which has attained large proportions. He is a persistent builder also, and has his office at 239 Fourth avenue.

STRIKE IS SUBDUED BY THE CONSTABULARY

LEBANON, PA., March 9.—No further trouble is anticipated from the strikers at the Cornwall ore mines, the Italians having been subdued by the arrest of six of the ringleaders. About 75 of the strikers have been paid off and told to leave. Those of the rest who do not go to work by Monday must leave also. The Italians who were arrested by state constables today drew revolvers and were clubbed into submission by the officers. This afternoon 25 members of the state constabulary left for Reading.

Wabash Orders Big Electric Engines.

NEW YORK, March 9.—(Special.)—The Wabash railroad has awarded a contract to the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company for three compound engines of 500-horse power each, costing about $60,000. The road will build a large power plant in Pittsburgh, on which it will expend several hundred thousand dollars.

THIS BALLOT

CUT FROM

The Pittsburgh Gazette, Saturday, March 10, 1906,

COUNTS ONE VOTE FOR Name..

the most popular Real Estate man (broker, agent or salesman) in Allegheny County. Send all ballots to Classified Realty Department of The Pittsburgh Gazette, and mark on envelope "Realty Vote." All ballots in Series "E" must reach The Gazette office not later than midnight, March 12, 1906. Sunday ballot counts five votes. Last ballot will be printed April 30, 1906.

The business world is measured by months, but the domestic world is measured by weeks. The manufacturer begins anew every month. He pays his bills monthly; he renders bills monthly; he takes his trial balance monthly; he measures his business by the calendar month. The home life, the life of the consumer, is measured by weeks. There is wash-day, ironing day, baking day and shopping day, and the regular weekly rest on Sunday.

The manufacturer who sells goods should cater to the calendar of the consumer who buys them. The weekly announcement fits in logically with the weekly shopping day. This is just as true of the shopping of men as it is of women. A man buys cigars for over Sunday, books to read over Sunday; he is apt to have time about once a week, and always once a week, to write letters to advertisers. Therefore, a week is often enough to reach him, and is not too often.

A weekly publication like THE SATURDAY EVENING POST reaches its readers with arguments for your goods just as often as the reader conceives a natural impulse to buy. When it comes to circulation, that of THE SATURDAY EVENING POST is larger than that of any of the regular monthly magazines.

WHY ARE
The Bellefield Dwellings
The Best Apartments
In the City?

BECAUSE they afford more of the COMFORTS of LIVING than any other apartments. Newspaper space is too expensive to tell you one-half of the luxurious comforts of these ideal modern homes. Besides, you would not be convinced by mere READING. But you will be by SEEING. That's why we invite you to a personal inspection of the Perfect Bellefield Dwellings a few suites of which will be vacant April 1.

ANOTHER STRONG RALLY IN NEW YORK STOCKS

Coppers and the High-Grade Railroad Shares Led the Advance—Local Securities Less Active and Prices Were Irregular.

By JOHN O. BAGLIN, Financial Editor.

There was another strong rally in the New York stock market yesterday and a very material increase in the volume of business, the total sales reaching 1,204,000 shares. The recovery set in right after the opening and continued to the close, the final sales being at or near the highest prices of the day.

There were no special developments to account for the change in sentiment, and yet the change was very manifest. In fact, the market had many of the characteristics of those of two months ago, when there was no doubt about the interest of large traders in the speculation. Some of these traders, notably the western clique, were more or less prominent in the dealings yesterday, and were talking confidently of the future. There was undoubtedly some improvement in the money market. Call loans averaged about 4½ per cent during the day, declining to 3½ per cent late in the afternoon and closing at 4 per cent. The further decline in wheat to a new low price on the crop encouraged the feeling that an increase in exports would help ease the money market by the end of the present month by attracting gold hither. The exports of wheat for the past week amounted to 2,563,983 bushels, compared with 2,385,958 for the same week last year. Corn exports amounted to 2,394,445 bushels, against 1,756,703 a year ago.

Today's bank statement, according to the preliminary estimates, should not show a loss of more than $1,750,000 in cash, and if there is a further reduction in loans there may be no loss in surplus reserve. It was reported that $1,000,000 currency had been transferred to New York from Philadelphia during the day.

The copper stocks and the high-grade railroad issues were the leaders of the advance. Amalgamated Copper rose from 105½ to 108¾, and closed at a net gain of 3¼ for the day, and 8 per cent above the low price of the week. Anaconda Copper closed 11 per cent higher. American Smelting was also strong and closed 4¼ per cent higher, while National Lead closed at a gain of 5 per cent. Colorado Fuel and Iron and all the railroad equipment stocks were strong and closed 1 to 2½ per cent higher. United States Steel common closed 1 per cent and the preferred ½ per cent higher.

Great Northern preferred rose from 319½ to 327 and closed at 326, a net advance of 8⅝ per cent. Northern Pacific closed 5⅝ higher. St. Paul was quoted ex-dividend of 3½ per cent, and for a time failed to join in the upward movement. It was the only prominent railroad stock of its class which failed to establish an important gain.

The Pennsylvania group was firm and closed higher, with the exception of Baltimore & Ohio, which closed a shade lower. Union and Southern Pacific were active and firm, and had the benefit of favorable reports of January earnings.

Among the specialties the greatest advance was scored by Nickel Plate, which rose from 62 to 69. A number of inactive stocks displayed considerable strength, indicating a broadening of the market. Brooklyn Rapid Transit was the strongest of the tractions, and on comparatively large dealings closed 2⅝ per cent higher. Consolidated Gas was also active, but closed unchanged.

The local stock market was less active and prices were irregular. There was a very noticeable subsidence in the speculation in curb mining stocks and a falling off in this class of shares listed on the exchange. Tonopah Extension was firmer, selling within a range of 11¼ and 11½. Ohio Tonopah recovered to 50 cents, and United Copper rallied to 65¼ in sympathy with the movement in the eastern copper stocks. Crucible Steel preferred did not retain its previous gain, and after selling at 80½ reacted a point to 79½ and closed at 79⅝. The common stock was dull at 15¼ to 15⅝. Harbison-Walker common declined to 11⅛ and the preferred to 79. National Fire Proofing preferred was a fraction higher, but there were no transactions in the common. The coal stocks were almost entirely neglected, the only sales being five shares Pittsburgh preferred at 55¼ and 10 shares River preferred at 23, both unchanged from the last previous sales. Union Switch and Signal was firm, advancing to 87. The other Westinghouse stocks were neglected. Bond transactions included $27,500 American Sewer Pipe 6s at 101½ and accrued interest.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

The continued decline of foreign exchange kept up the talk of possible engagements of gold for import, but no announcements were made. The brighter prospect for a settlement of the Moroccan question and the successful completion of a London stock exchange settlement were believed to favor the prospect of New York's securing gold. The week's exports of corn fell 1,372,213 bushels below those of last week, indicating the sharp drop in the heavy exports since Germany's agreement to extend present tariff arrangements beyond March 1st. The placing of $8,000,000 of government deposits with the New York banks has reduced their week's loss to the sub-treasury to $620,000, but the express movement to the interior apparently has been against New York for the week, so that a cash decrease of considerably over $1,000,000 is indicated. The week's early liquidation in the stock market is expected to show a large loan contraction in today's bank statement.

Among the unrecorded transactions on the local exchange was the sale of 16 shares Pittsburgh Life and Trust at 99.

The regular quarterly dividend of 1¾ per cent on the stock of the Manhattan Railway Company will be paid April 2.

A special meeting of the preferred and common stockholders of the United Railways Investment Company of San Francisco will be held in Jersey City on April 5 next for the purpose of acting upon the plan for the purchase by the company of the common stock of the Philadelphia Company. This is a formality necessary to conclude the recent deal.

The Southern railway has declared the usual semi-annual dividend of 2½ per cent on the preferred stock.

The Southern Railway Company for the half year ended December 31 last reports a surplus after charges of $3,724,656, an increase of $236,667.

The net surplus of Atchison during the first seven months of the present fiscal year, after paying operating expenses, taxes and rentals, increased $2,945,030, or 22.39 per cent. Gross earnings for the seven months increased $5,114,949. Operating expenses show a comparatively small increase, consuming about 40 per cent of the increase in gross. Net earnings gained $3,046,032 during the seven months, or equal to about 3 per cent on common stock.

Gross earnings of Southern Pacific for January increased $932,275 and net increased $452,539.

Gross earnings of Union Pacific for January increased $643,170 and net increased $236,090.

Gross earnings of Wabash for January increased $194,002 and net increased $255,621.

Buying of Colorado Fuel was alleged to be for the purpose of control by the United States Steel Corporation.

The long active pool in Reading was said to have resumed operations on the long side of the market, thus removing the depressing influence of that stock's weakness from the general market.

Pennsylvania and the United States Steel stocks were inclined to be heavy, as those companies are reported to be contemplating additional bond issues.

The upward rush of five points in Atchison late Thursday was a large factor in the revival of speculative confidence, but the backwardness of that stock yesterday under realizing had no restraining effect on the advance elsewhere. Rumors of a decision to increase the dividend rate were without confirmation, but in effect that an issue of over $17,000,000 of convertible bonds is being offered in the market was commented upon as a ground for advantage from the activity in the stock.

The Wool Market.

BOSTON, March 9.—The Boston Commercial Bulletin will say tomorrow: There is not the activity of a week ago, principally on account of the limited stocks, and the fact that the large consumers are well stocked for the time being. Fine staple territory is worth around 73c and is very scarce. Halfblood is in a like position. For fine clothing the prices range from 68c to 70c and up to 72c in some instances. Halfbloods bring 65@66c, three-eighths 62@64c and quarters 60@63c. Scoured territories are being taken in a smaller way than previously at 69@71c for fine and 62@63c for medium. The fleece activity is principally in three-eighths, halfblood and fine unwashed. The first of Ohio stock sells at 34c, while the same grade of Michigan only brings 27½c. Texas and California wools are in limited supply and are moving slowly at prices of a week ago. The shipments of wool from Boston to date from December, 27, 1905, according to the same authority, are 48,199,385 pounds, against 48,949,074 pounds at the same period last year. The receipts to date are 46,857,660 pounds, against 54,337,278 pounds for the same period last year.

CLAIM PRESENT IS TRADERS' MARKET

Stocks Show a Recovery, but Dealins Is Said to Be Entirely Professional.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, March 10.—The Herald this (Saturday) morning says: Stocks underwent further recovery yesterday, closing strong and only a trifle under the best prices of the day. Such recessions as occurred in the general list were due apparently to nothing more than profit-taking following the rapid improvement in prices. The business of the day was largely professional, with activity confined to relatively few issues, but even with the concentration of business the market showed a broader tendency than for some time past, and the volume of trading was materially increased.

Speculative sentiment was still mixed, but upon the whole more cheerfully inclined, which is always the case when prices are recovering. The sharp advances in some special issues, due largely to short covering, influenced a revival of pool and clique operations in some of the minor stocks. Commission houses were practically unanimous that it was a "traders' market."

The really favorable development of the day appeared to be the practical agreement of the European bourse that the Moroccan difficulty had been satisfactorily adjusted. All foreign markets were strong and buoyant, and the optimism prevailing abroad not only communicated to the local market, but was more substantially manifested here through purchases of stock by Europe.

With the change of sentiment came a renewal of deal and rumor stories, notably a refurbishing of the "iron ore" deal, between the Hill roads and the steel corporation. A slight easing in money rates and a decline in sterling exchange was taken as indicative of monetary relaxation and possibly of gold imports.

In addition to this a further decline in wheat prices was regarded as indicating a favorable outlook of the winter wheat crop. The pools took advantage of all these factors to work for higher prices, and forced short covering. This was apparently the chief sustaining influence in the market.

ASPARAGUS TAKES LEAP INTO POPULAR FAVOR

California Grades Make Their Appearance on Local Market and Bring Good Prices.

California asparagus has made its appearance on the local market and is reported as being much in demand, with a fair supply. It is firm at the highest figure quoted, 75 cents a bunch. Lower grades are selling for 50 cents.

There were no changes in the local market yesterday, and trading was reported as being good. This is probably accounted for by the retailers stocking up for the business of today. There is still a good demand for apples and celery, both of which are easily maintaining the latest outside quotations. Rhubarb is also a good seller at present, and several dealers are reported as running shy on their supplies.

According to the latest issue of the Northwestern Miller, all of the millers in and about Minneapolis are complaining of the dull trade. The total output for the last week was small, but even at the small output a large amount of stores remain on hand. Buyers are busy watching the wheat market and refuse to stock up as long as that market looks weak and shaky. For the time being the trade is about as much depressed as it could be.

The highest grades of butter still remain short and the full late prices are easily obtained on the stock on the market. The shortness is not local, but is reported from the markets throughout the country.

Not enough buying outside of direct consumption is being done in the egg market at present to make this market interesting, and few reports are obtainable regarding it.

HAY AND GRAIN.

Receipts.

Receipts bulletined yesterday were: Pennsylvania, 2 cars hay, 1 car bran. Baltimore & Ohio, 1 car hay, 2 cars oats. Pittsburgh & Lake Erie, 2 cars hay, 1 car oats.

Receipts continue light. The surplus on the tracks will soon be cleaned up and the market will again become active. Higher prices are expected by the dealers by the first of the week at the latest.

WHEAT PRICES FALL TO NEW LOW RECORD

Weather in Southwest and the Bearish Foreign Advice Responsible for Weakness.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

CHICAGO, March 9.—The opening in the wheat market was weak and initial quotations showed sharp losses, the May option being down ⅜@⅝c to 1@1⅛c at 76⅛c to 76¾c. For a time there was general selling and about the only buying was in the nature of covering by shorts. News of the day was favorable to the bears. Weather in the American southwest was again highly favorable for the fall sown crop, Liverpool cables were lower, shipments from Argentina for the week were considerably in excess of the exports for the corresponding week a year ago, and official reports from India indicated an increase of 338,000 acres sown to wheat. These were the principal influences that weakened the market. There were several slight rallies during the day, but each upturn increased selling by local bears and prices quickly eased off again. The market, however became weaker in the last hour of trading. For May the lowest point of the day was reached at 76⅛c. The close was steady with May at 76¼@76½c. The July option ranged between 76¾c and 77¼c, and closed with a net loss of ⅞@1c at 77c. Clearances of wheat and flour were equal to 216,000 bushels. Exports for the week as shown by Bradstreets were equal to 2,564,000 bushels. Primary receipts were 457,000 bushels, against 408,000 bushels one year ago. Minneapolis, Duluth and Chicago reported receipts of 426 cars, against 302 cars last week and 295 cars one year ago.

Despite small local receipts and firm cables the corn market was weak. The slump in wheat and a decline of ½c to 1c in the price of cash corn affected the market in about equal degrees. The greatest weakness of the day was shown during the latter part of the session when prominent local bears sold freely. Offers were taken chiefly by shorts and cash houses. The market closed weak with prices at the lowest point of the day. May opened ⅛c to ⅜c lower at 43⅛c to 43⅜c, sold at 43⅜@43½c, and then gradually declined to 42⅞c. Final quotations were at 42⅞@43c. Local receipts were 140 cars with two of contract grade.

Trading in oats was quiet and the market weakened in sympathy with other grains. A feature of the trading was the changing of the May option for the July delivery. Lower prices for cash oats had a depressing effect. May opened ⅛c to ⅜@½c lower at 30@30⅛c, declined to 29¾c and closed at the lowest point. Local receipts were 105 cars.

Provisions were quiet and the market was steady during the first hour, but broke later on profit taking in pork. A closing decline of 5@10c in the price of live hogs, and decreased shipments of meat and lard weakened prices. At the close May pork was off 22½c at $15 57½. Lard was down 2½@5c at $7 75@7 77½. Ribs were off 5@7½c at $8 20.

Estimated receipts tomorrow: Wheat, 8 cars; corn, 149 cars; oats, 146 cars; hogs, 18,000 head.

The leading futures, as reported by Messrs. Armstrong & Co., Farmers Bank building, Pittsburgh, members of the Chicago board of trade, ranged as follows:

NEWS FROM THE MINES.

Shipments of ore over the Tonopah railroad last week were 3,164 tons, divided as follows: Tonopah Company, 2,094 tons; Tonopah Extension, 610 tons; Belmont, 280 tons; Montana Tonopah, 56 tons; Midway, 109 tons; North Star, 34 tons; from Goldfield, 662 tons; from Manhattan, 13 tons.

The party of stockholders of the Mitchell Mining Company which left New York city a few weeks ago for the purpose of inspecting the property has started for Mexico City on its return trip after spending a week at the mines. Before leaving there one member of the party telegraphed that the foot wall in the vein of 6 per cent self-fluxing copper ore in the No. 1 shaft had just been reached, showing a width of 95 feet of ore in that average. In the same dispatch it was stated that the copper in the shape of matte now ready to be converted into pig copper was about 2,000,000 pounds.

It is announced that plans are now under way to merge the Denver, Tramp and Eclipse mines in the Bullfrog mining district into one corporation, which is to have $3,000,000 capital. Philadelphia interests control one or more of these properties.

William A. Payne has been elected a director of the Arizona Commercial Copper Company, succeeding R. W. Emmons.

BUTTE, MONT.—The Raven 1,500-foot crosscut is getting into stringers of ore on the vein for which the company has been driving and the vein will be opened within a week. The ore body on the new vein on the 1,200-foot level is gradually growing larger.

The Metal Market.

NEW YORK, March 9.—The London tin market was irregular with spot 5s higher and futures 2s 6d lower at £164 17s 6d, and £164 5s respectively. The local market was quiet with spot quoted at $36 00@36 25. Copper closed at £79 15s for spot and £78 5s for futures in the London market. Locally no change was reached. Lake is quoted at $18 37½@18 75, electrolytic at $18 25, and casting at $18 00@18 25. Lead was unchanged at £15 10s in London and at $5 25@5 45 in the New York market. Spelter was absorbed in both markets, being quoted at £24 6s in London and at $6 20@6 30 in the local market. Iron was lower abroad with standard foundry quoted at 48s and Cleveland warrants also 48s. Locally the market was quiet. No. 1 foundry northern quoted at $18 25@18 85; No. 2 foundry northern, $17 75@18 35; No. 1 foundry southern, $15 85@16 75, and No. 2 foundry southern at $17 75@18 25.

Coffee and Sugar.

NEW YORK, March 9.—The market for coffee futures opened steady at a decline of 5@10 points under European selling, local liquidation and weak European cables. There were rumors that a prominent Brazilian firm had prepared an estimate of the coming crop pointing to about 13,000,000 bags. This report was not confirmed, but evidently influenced the weak closing cables from Havre and the market here lost ground during the day with the close steady at a net loss of 15@20 points. Sales were reported of 59,000 bags, including March at 6.80c, April, 6.89c; May, 6.90@7.05c; July, 7.10c; September, 7.25@7.35c; December, 7.55c, and February, 7.65@7.70c. Molasses steady. Coffee—Spot Rio quiet; No. 7 invoice, 8¼c. Mild steady. Sugar.—Raw strong; fair refining, 2 15-16@3c; centrifugal, 96 test, 3 15-32@3½c; molasses sugar, 2 11-16@2¾c. Refined steady.

Evaporated Fruits.

NEW YORK, March 9.—The market for evaporated apples is in a firm position owing to the confidence of holders who force buyers for actual necessities to meet their views. Common to fair are quoted at 7@8¼c, fair to good (1905), 8¾@8¾c; nearly to strict prime, 9@9¾c; choice, 10c; fancy, 11@11¼c. Prunes are in good jobbing demand and prices are firmly held at 4¾c to 8c, according to grade. Apricots are firm in tone with choice quoted at 10½c; extra choice, 11c; fancy, 11¼@12½c. Peaches are unchanged with choice quoted at 10c; extra choice, 10½c; fancy, 10¾@11c; extra fancy, 11½@13c. Raisins are quiet and prices are more or less nominal for the time being. Loose muscatel are quoted at 5@6¾c; seeded raisins, 6¼@7¾c, and London layers, $1 50@1 60.

The Drygoods Market.

NEW YORK, March 9.—Some concessions in wide print cloths forward delivery were reported in the drygoods market today as were also some quiet shadings on wide gray goods of print cloth yarns construction. No further breach has occurred in bleached goods, and the presence of more buyers in the market has developed increased inquiry on many lines. The market was not quotably weaker.

SPRING JOBBERS ARE VERY ACTIVE

Industrial Plants Are All Being Pushed to Fill Orders. Fall Trade Slow.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, March 9.—Bradstreets tomorrow will say: Spring jobbing trade is as active as ever, exceeding last year at nearly all markets; winter wheat crop reports are excellent; prices except of some country produce, wheat and flour among breadstuffs, and bleached cotton goods show notable strength and building activity, which is of large volume, goes on without a break, offering an opening for labor employment rarely, if ever, before witnessed. Industry is active and mills, furnaces and factories are all pushed to fill deliveries, but new business for far-off account, say next fall and spring of next year, is rather slow to present itself pending future trade and crop developments. Money is rather firm as a whole, demand being more active in regular trade lines. Collections are irregular, backward in the south because of cotton holding, and fair to good in the north and west. Clearings heavily exceed a year ago, itself a period of large trade. All signs point to a large retail business for spring and summer, developing earlier than usual.

Business failures in the United States for the week ending March 8 number 177, against 180 last week, 190 in the like week of 1905, 200 in 1904, 176 in 1903 and 224 in 1902. Failures in Canada for the week number 24, as against 30 last week and 40 in this week a year ago.

Wheat, including flour, exports from the United States and Canada for the week ended March 8 are 2,563,583 bushels, against 2,390,476 bushels last week, 1,285,956 bushels this week last year, 1,834,632 in 1904 and 3,366,796 in 1903. From July 11 to date the exports are 97,142,555 bushels against 44,703,369 bushels last year, 110,324,315 bushels in 1904 and 166,042,030 bushels in 1903. Corn exports for the week are 2,394,445 bushels against 3,767,063 bushels last week, 1,766,706 bushels a year ago, 2,026,810 bushels in 1904 and 3,257,000 bushels in 1903. From July 1 to date the exports of corn are 86,317,167 bushels against 48,229,937 bushels in 1905, 40,967,091 bushels in 1904 and 37,749,304 bushels in 1903.

R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade tomorrow will say: The few minor strikes do not seriously interfere with progress and thus far the only noticeable effect on the coal controversy is the unusually large demand for this season of the year in all fuel markets and the disposition of small merchants in the immediate vicinity of the anthracite mines to allow stocks to become depleted. Should an amicable result attend the meeting of March 15, these dealers will provide wholesalers and manufacturers with much urgent business. There is little idle machinery in any of the leading manufacturing industries and contracts for distant delivery come forward freely, except at the textile mills, where purchases are chiefly for immediate requirements.

Prices of commodities rose slightly during February, Dun's index number being $104,204 on March 1, against $104,011 a month ago and $101,929 a year ago. Railway earnings continue to make striking comparisons with last year's figures, the increase during February amounting to 24.3 per cent. Foreign commerce at this port for the last week showed an increase in exports of $926,216 over the same week last year, while imports decreased $71,635.

Seasonable conditions continue to prevail in the hide market, poor quality of offerings attracting little attention, yet prices rule fairly steady. Leather is quiet, but steady, support constantly appearing as consumers require shipments. New England shoe shops are concluding supplementary spring contracts and new business is rather quiet, but the situation is considered healthy. Failures this week number 221 against 244 last year, and in Canada 24, compared with 26 a year ago.

No More Pies for Cassie.

COLUMBUS, O., March 9.—(Special.)—Mrs. Cassie Chadwick cannot have pies and other viands sent her from Cleveland. Warden Gould so ruled today. A Cleveland firm had been shipping eatables of various kinds to Mrs. Chadwick, receiving payment through her attorneys.

Gas Explosion Scatters Meat.

An explosion of gas in the butcher shop of W. F. Ehni, 1831 Fifth avenue, McKeesport, wrecked the shop and sent meat flying in all directions. John Ehni, the only person in the building, escaped uninjured. The building, a two-story frame structure, was damaged.

Wildcat in Ashland County Gives Promise of Developing a New Pool

Six miles northeast of Ashland, in Ashland county, Ohio, the Northwestern Ohio Gas Company has drilled a wildcat into the Clinton lime and the hole has filled up 1,500 feet with fluid. The sand at this well was found to be 12 feet in thickness and the oil when tested showed 43 gravity. Ashland is located about 14 miles northeast of Mansfield and it is possible that the new strike may be the forerunner of a new pool. Three miles south of the well just drilled in, the Northwestern company is drilling another test that will be due to get the sand next week. This company has taken up a large block of territory and has the entire township, except one farm, in which two wells are located, under lease.

No additional information was obtained from the new white oil producer, near Butler, Richland county. From one source it was learned that the first estimate given out—85 barrels a day—was correct.

In the old Fonner district, in Greene county, Pa., the Sunn Station Oil and Gas Company has drilled its test on the Casey heirs' farm into the top of the sand and has developed a good gas pressure. It will not be drilled deeper till the gas pressure has subsided.

In the Woodsfield district, in Monroe county, Ohio, the Central Gas Company and the Fisher Oil Company have drilled their No. 13 on the Frank Schumaker farm through the Berea grit and have a show for a 15-barrel producer. In the same district, the Pure Oil Company has drilled in its No. 5 on the Henry Schumaker farm and has the same kind of a producer. In the same district, the Fisher Oil Company has drilled its test on the Walter Wilcox farm through the Big Injun and has a duster. In the Clear Fork district, D. H. Cox & Co. have completed their No. 3 on the D. W. Hutchinson farm and have an eight-barrel pumper in the Big Injun. In the Plum Run district, Harrison county, the Ohio Consolidated Oil Company has completed its No. 4 on the McCauley farm and has a very light pumper in the Berea grit.

In the Wick district, on Sugar creek, Tyler county, the new wells are coming in light as compared with those of several months ago. The Carter Oil Company has drilled its No. 9 on the W. G. Snodgrass farm 18 feet into the Big Injun and has a show for a producer. On Muddy creek, in Ellsworth district, Tyler county, the South Penn Oil Company has drilled its No. 4 on the I. Baker farm into the Big Injun and the hole filled up 1,400 feet with fluid the first three hours after being drilled into the pay. No. 3 on this farm, completed several weeks ago, is still holding up at 65 barrels a day. On Point Pleasant creek, same district, the Southern Oil Company's No. 1 on the R. A. Workman farm is holding up at 432 barrels a day, and is still the largest producer in the lower southwest fields. On Buffalo run, Grant district, Wetzel county, the Kanawha Oil Company has drilled its test on the Ezra Hays farm through the Gordon and found a light show of oil in that formation. The Big Injun was barren.

In the Salem district, Harrison county, the South Penn Oil Company has drilled its No. 8 on the A. C. Bailey farm through the stray and four feet into the Gordon. The well produced 40 barrels the first 24 hours after the Gordon pay was tapped. In the same district the same company has drilled its No. 8 on the A. J. Varner farm into the top of the stray and has developed a light show of oil. On Rock Camp run, Sardis district, Harrison county, J. T. Inghram & Co. have drilled their test on the E. R. McIntyre farm four feet into the Gordon and have developed no oil or gas. In the Folsom district, Wetzel county, the South Penn Oil Company's No. 60 on the Genuine Robison tract, and No. 6 on the M. P. Dye farm, are drilling in the top of the stray. Neither has a show of oil or gas. In the Wallace district, the same company has drilled its No. 3 on the E. O. Hall farm to a depth of 3,500 feet and has found no oil or gas.

GOULD TAKES CASSATT FORTRESS

Wabash Service to Wellsburg, Always a Panhandle Town. Little Kanawha Payment.

COMMISSION HEARS GLASS

Completion of an electric railway between Wheeling, Wellsburg and Steubenville has brought about new conditions for the Wabash railroad. Incidentally the Gould forces have entered one of the Cassatt fortresses and will secure much of the booty. The town of Wellsburg, W. Va., like Wellsville and East Liverpool, O., has been in the entire grasp of the Pennsylvania lines so far as transportation conditions were concerned. Traffic of freight and passengers was completely controlled by the Pennsylvania lines west, as it has been at other towns along the Ohio river in West Virginia and Ohio. Now the Wabash will secure a good portion of the passenger traffic and eventually may also get its share of the package freight traffic.

Announcement was made by the Wabash yesterday that the station of Wellsburg has been established at the West Virginia end of the Ohio river bridge at Mingo Junction, Fred L. Hall being appointed agent. A station building will be constructed and all through trains will stop at the station to accommodate the people of the town of Wellsburg, about three-quarters of a mile down the Ohio river from the new station. These travelers will be hauled to and from Wellsburg on the new electric railway line. The electric railway will also build a waiting room at the stop under the Wabash bridge. Steps will lead from the electric railway tracks to the railroad station. The tracks of the Wheeling branch of the Panhandle adjoin the tracks of the new electric railway. This service has been arranged by the Wabash and the electric railway officers upon urgent requests of the people of Wellsburg.

"Pass Cases—50 Per Cent Off."

Pass cases, the fine leather ones that shielded those valuable railroad cards in the past, are now a drug on the market. Nobody cares to have them excepting railroad men, and the average railroad man must have a pass case much larger than those which have been manufactured to meet the popular demand. An instance of the conditions in this respect was shown a couple of days ago, when a sign—pathetic, humorous or whatever you may call it—was displayed in a downtown store window in Pittsburgh. In large letters were words which would have enticed Pittsburgh politicians a year ago: "Pass Cases—50 Per Cent Off."

Another phase of the pass subject was circulated among the railroad men yesterday. The suggestion was made that the railroad presidents, general passenger agents and others who have heretofore been the happy distributors of the passes show their appreciation of the people who received these bits of transportation by giving a banquet to these people, calling it "Feast of the Pass Over—to Stay." One of the general passenger agents to whom this suggestion was made, replied:

"That's as bad a suggestion to make to a general passenger agent as was the news taken to a man that his wife was dying.

"'Say, Bill, don't make me laugh,' said the husband. 'I've got a cracked lip.'"

Commission Hears Glass Company.

The hearing of the case of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company against the Illinois Central Railroad Company was held yesterday by Judson C. Clements of the interstate commerce commission, in the circuit court room in the Federal building, Pittsburgh. The hearing was regarding alleged discrimination against domestic products, because of high domestic freight rates, and favoring imported products, because of a lower rate being in force. Various ratings were produced as evidence of such alleged discrimination. This is the second case in the hearing of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company's complaints, the first case having been heard some time ago by the entire commission in Washington, the defendants being the New York, New Haven & Hartford and other eastern and trunk line railroads. The testimony taken yesterday was reported by the official commission stenographer, Frank M. Young, and will be heard by the entire commission. Counsel W. S. Dalzell, President W. L. Clause and General Freight Agent J. M. Belleville represented the glass company. Mr. Clause's plea was that unless the alleged discriminations are corrected the company would be compelled to further its interests abroad, and that the alleged high rates were detrimental to American industries. General Attorney Sidney F. Andrews of Chicago, Special Attorney Perkins Baxter of Nashville, Tenn., and W. M. Rhett, general freight agent of export and import traffic of Chicago, represented the railroad company.

Commissioner Clements said that the case of the Donohoe Coal and Coke Company vs. the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, alleging discrimination in favor of the Keystone Coal and Coke Company in the matter of car supply, which was to have been heard yesterday, had been postponed because of the illness of principals for the plaintiff.

Payment on Little Kanawha.

Members of the former Little Kanawha syndicate, which owned large coal and railroad properties in West Virginia and sold these to the New York Central-Pennsylvania-Baltimore & Ohio community of interest syndicate, have been notified by the St. Louis Union Trust Company that this company is ready to pay on demand 25 per cent of the holdings of each member of the old syndicate. This payment is made possible by the payments made by the new owners to the syndicate, of which Joseph Ramsey was manager.

The sale of the Little Kanawha syndicate properties included the Little Kanawha and the Marietta, Columbus and Cleveland railroads. The former road extends from Parkersburg to Palestine, W. Va., 30 miles, and the Marietta line extends from Marietta, O., to Palos, O., on the Toledo & Ohio Central road, a distance of 45.5 miles. This railroad mileage of 74.5 miles is now being operated independently for the new owners, but it may eventually pass under the operation of the Baltimore & Ohio, which is the only one of the three owning roads touching the lines.

L. E. & P. Purchase Denied.

Denial was made officially yesterday that the Lake Erie & Pittsburgh road had been purchased by the New York Central lines and the Pennsylvania interests. What may have been transacted regarding the matter in the east, local officers did not know, but there have been no negotiations, so far as is known in Pittsburgh.

"There is absolutely nothing to the report," said Col. Schoonmaker, vice president of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie, "at least, so far as the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie is concerned. The Pittsburgh & Lake Erie is absolutely not associated with the Pennsylvania in the purchase of the road. If negotiations were on between Mr. Cassatt and Mr. Newman, or any of the other eastern officers of the two roads, I know nothing about it. There has been no mention of the thing made to me."

A similar denial was made by a Pennsylvania officer.

More P. R. R. Promotions.

Announcement has been made of several promotions in the operating department of the Pittsburgh division of the Pennsylvania because of the advancement of H. M. Meason from assistant master mechanic of the division to general foreman of the Philadelphia division. As was noted in The Gazette, C. J. Halliwell, engine house foreman at Youngwood, succeeds Mr. Meason at Twenty-eighth street, and J. W. Oschea, engine house foreman at Conemaugh, succeeds Mr. Halliwell. Robert Kaiser is appointed engine house foreman at Conemaugh. George E. Shultzabarger is appointed to a similar position at South Fork to succeed Mr. Kaiser. Lawrence F. Evans, who has been night work distributor at Twenty-eighth street, Pittsburgh, has been appointed night engine foreman at South Fork to succeed Mr. Shultzabarger. The changes are effective at once.

Railroad Notes.

The annual meeting of the Toledo, Walhonding Valley & Ohio Railroad Company's stockholders was held at Coshocton, O., the directors being re-elected. This is a subsidiary line of the Pennsylvania.

Plans are under way for establishing a railroad Y. M. C. A. by the Pennsylvania's Monongahela division employes at Ormsby, on the South Side.

Frank E. Guy, formerly chief rate clerk in the general freight offices of the Baltimore & Ohio in Pittsburgh, has been appointed chief clerk to Division Freight Agent Gray.

The bi-monthly meeting of the Central Freight association will be held in Chicago next Wednesday.

The Wabash will have two special Pullman cars next Monday evening carrying the Pittsburgh baseball club from here to Hot Springs.

General Superintendent Schoyer of the Ft. Wayne route addressed the Carnegie Technical school students yesterday morning on "Opportunities," touching especially on chances for promotion in railroad work.

The 2-cent passenger rate law became effective in Ohio last midnight.

Assistant General Passenger Agent Taggart of the Baltimore & Ohio, and Division Ticket Agent Anderson of the Buffalo & Allegheny Valley, returned yesterday morning from business trips to New York and Philadelphia.

President Blair of the Little Kanawha was here conferring with Col. Schoonmaker. The latter left last evening for a sojourn of a couple of weeks in Florida.

Assistant General Freight Agent Coolidge of the Wabash lines east of Toledo was here from Cleveland.

EXPLOSION DAMAGES STORE.

Plumber Who Was Hunting for Leak Is Badly Burned.

As the result of an explosion of gas at the store of the P. H. Butler Grocery Company, 549 Homewood avenue, yesterday afternoon, the store was badly wrecked and H. H. Hoober, a plumber, seriously burned about the face and hands. Gas had been escaping from a chandelier all day and Hoober, who is employed by a concern in the McCance block, was sent to repair the leak. He had only been at work a short time when the explosion took place.

The large front show window was blown out and the store badly damaged by the force of the explosion. Hoober had his injuries dressed by a physician and was then removed to Mercy hospital in a carriage.

Another Rumor of Gillette's Marriage.

Again it is reported that William Gillette has been married. Rumor this time says he was married to his leading woman, Miss Marie Doro, two weeks ago in Philadelphia. Mr. Gillette, who is in the city this week, makes it a rule never to give an interview to reporters, and this rule was not broken last evening when an attempt was made to get a confirmation or denial of the story. Miss Doro, it is said, is the youngest leading woman on the American stage.

CITY WORK IS STOPPED BY LARKIN'S HOLDUP

Employes of the Construction Bureau Assemble at City Hall to Wait for Salaries.

Eighty employes of the bureau of construction, whose salaries for the past month have been held up by Controller Larkin, haunted the city hall yesterday and the day before, waiting for the ban to be lifted, but they had their wait in vain. The report got out that the men were on a strike because the controller refused to pay them, but this Supt. Burk of the bureau of construction, denied.

"The men have been coming off their work for several days to see when they were to be paid," said Supt. Burk. "We can't draw their money and send it out to them, and they have been coming to the city hall every day expecting to get it.

"The third of the month is the regular day for our men to be paid, and they have been in the habit of coming to the city hall regularly on the third of every month for their warrants and have them cashed. There was a delay this month because of the appropriation bills for the year being late in getting through councils."

Supt. Burk had a talk with Controller Larkin yesterday afternoon and defended his payroll. He told the controller that employes of the controller's own office had been off duty, one man for three months, but had been paid. Supt. Burk was asked by the controller to submit a statement in writing concerning the work done by the employes of the bureau of construction last month. The filtration payroll is still held up, but it is believed both bureaus will be paid, probably today.

ANNUL PREVIOUS ACTION.

After Some Difficulty West Homestead Council Is Regularly Organized.

West Homestead council last night organized as follows: President, James Penman; clerk, James Lawry; solicitor, J. P. Silveus; treasurer, W. B. Johnston; street commissioner, Amos Horner; chief of police, Alex. Redpath; engineer, Andrew Trautman.

On Wednesday evening a meeting was called, the call reading "Wednesday evening, March 8," and one councilman objected, so the meeting was declared off. The majority of councilmen, however, held a meeting of their own and elected a new police force. Last night this action was annulled and the regular organization followed.

Joins Army for Simple Life.

COLUMBUS, O., March 9.—Gavis Harris, an actor at the Empire theater here, son of the late Congressman Harris and worth $50,000, joined the Third regiment of the coast artillery today at the Columbus barracks. He said he joined the army to get away from gay companions and to lead a quieter life.

IN JAIL SIX YEARS.

Caleb Powers, the Famous Kentucky Political Prisoner, Marks Epoch in Prison Life Today.

LOUISVILLE, KY., March 9.—(Special.)—When tomorrow evening comes Caleb Powers will have spent six years in Kentucky jails. He was arrested March 10, 1900, in Lexington on an indictment charging complicity in the murder of William Goebel, and on March 10, 1906, he is in jail at Newport waiting for the supreme court to decide whether his fourth trial shall be in federal or state courts.

Powers has been twice sentenced to life imprisonment and once to death in the Kentucky courts, but the court of appeals has reversed the trial court each time. Before he could be tried the fourth time his attorneys took the case into the federal court, claiming that in the Kentucky courts their client was being deprived of rights guaranteed by the constitution. Judge Cochran assumed jurisdiction and the commonwealth carried the matter to the supreme court. A point involved is the validity of the pardon which Taylor granted Powers. This the Kentucky courts have never recognized. Despite the years of confinement Powers is in good health.

New Crafton Postmaster Named.

WASHINGTON, March 9.—(Special.)—Hamilton Kennedy has been recommended by Representative A. J. Barchfeld for postmaster at Crafton to succeed Mary Murphy, resigned.
